De Gaulle Resigns After Losing Vote

Gen. Charles DeGaulle—Votes In Losing Cause

PARIS (AP) — Charles de Gaulle stepped out of the French presidency today and retired once more to his home in eastern France, ending more than 18 turbulent years of power that profoundly altered the nation's political outlook, economy and foreign policy.

De Gaulle's resignation became effective at noon. Senate President Alain Poher succeeded him as interim president, to serve until presidential elections are held. There was no ceremony of transfer, and De Gaulle was in seclusion at his home in Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises.

DeGalle Gambled

France's 78-year-old leader had turned a referendum Sunday on comparatively minor constitutional changes into a vote of confidence, gambling that his threat to resign would once more swing the electorate behind him. When the voters rejected his proposals, he announced his retirement in two brief sentences:

"I am ceasing the exercise of my functions as president of the republic. This decision takes effect at noon today."

Premier Maurice Couve de Murville called his Cabinet into session this morning, but the ranks were thinning. Justice Minister Rene Captitant resigned, saying he could not collaborate with Poher because the latter had fought De Gaulle's referendum proposals. Culture Minister Andre Malraux, one of those closest to De Gaulle, said he would also resign.

Poher must organize a presidential election within 20 to 35 days. He has been mentioned as a candidate, but former Premier George Pompidou is considered the favorite.

Nothing forced De Gaulle to quit the job he had held since Jan. 1, 1959, except one of the general's famous ultimatums. Although his term of office did not expire until 1972, he had said he would resign immediately if the French voters did not approve his government reform plan for administrative decentralization and removal of the Senate's few remaining powers.

The results of Sunday's referendum were 11,966,550 votes or 52.87 per cent opposed, 10,669,550 or 47.13 per cent in favor. The outcome was no great surprise. Several public opinion polls published last week showed the trend running against the general.

Fails To Turn Tide

De Gaulle's last television speech Friday night failed to turn the tide.

Premier Maurice Couve de Murville was the first to concede defeat. He declared: "Beginning tomorrow, a new page in our history will be turned." He warned of "a difficult period, perhaps a period of trouble."

Shortly after he spoke, anti-Gaullist demonstrators turned out in the streets of Paris, marching through the Latin Quarter and chanting, "Adieu, De Gaulle."

Police reinforcements were hustled to the area and in several short, sharp clashes, five policemen were hurt and 50 demonstrators were injured. About 70 persons were picked up by police for identity checks.

The uncertainty of what might happen next is certain to put new pressure on the already wobbly franc. France has never recovered from the economic blow of the six-week industrial shutdown last May and June and the 13 per cent wage hikes granted to get the workers back on the job.

De Gaulle defiantly refused to devalue the franc during a crisis last November. If labor unions call off their truce enforced during the referendum campaign and start agitating for new wage increases, the next president may be forced to reassess the franc's value.

While the financial community buzzed with speculation about the franc, the political reaction in Washington and London was officially noncommittal. But there was a general feeling that without De Gaulle, France will slowly improve relations with the United States and Britain.

Barrientos Dies In Copter Crash

Bolivia President Killed; Ex-Professor Takes Helm

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — A former professor took the helm in Bolivia Sunday night, after the death of President Rene Barrientos in a helicopter crash.

Vice President Luis Adolfo Siles-Salinas succeeded Barrientos after military leaders gave him the backing of the Bolivian armed forces.

However, the man with whom Barrientos shared the reins of government for a time after the military coup in 1964, Gen. Alfredo Ovando, was not consulted. Ovando, the chief of staff, was in Washington on a visit. What effect his return will have on Siles-Salinas' tenure was not certain.

Ovando is the only announced candidate so far for president in the 1970 elections. The constitution barred Barrientos from another term.

The 49-year-old president was visiting farming communities in this land-locked South American country when his helicopter got tangled in high tension wires and crashed Sunday. An aide and the helicopter pilot also were killed.

Crash Claims Leader.

Barrientos felt he had a special rapport with the peasants. Before he left on his tour, he told associates his political strength was in the hills, not in the cities. The rural population provided strong support when he won 62 per cent of the vote and was elected president in 1966.

A measure of that support was evident in 1967 when Ernesto "Che" Guevara came to Bolivia and tried to get support in the countryside for a Bolivian guerrilla movement. The peasants did not respond, and Guevara was trapped and killed.

Barrientos, who was chief of the air force until the 1964 coup, had survived several assassination attempts during his political career, including a bomb that went off under his bed when he was not home.

As his running mate in the 1966 elections, Barrientos chose Siles-Salinas, 45, one of the founders of the Social Democratic party but more of a university professor than a politician.

U.S. Guns Kill 34 5 Americans Victims Of Red Assault

Enemy Used Flame Throwers, Hurled Dynamite Bombs

SAIGON (AP) — Blazing away with flame throwers and hurling dynamite bombs, about 150 North Vietnamese troops attacked an American armored column in the northwest corner of South Vietnam early today.

The U.S. Command said at least 34 of the enemy were killed by American artillery firing point-blank, 90 mm tank guns and heavy machine guns mounted atop armored cars.

The American troops from the 1st Brigade, 5th Mechanized Infantry Division also captured 500 dynamite bombs, 200 antitank rockets and 15 rifles left on the battlefield.

U.S. headquarters said five Americans were killed and 34 wounded. A spokesman said there was "light damage to material," presumbably to the tanks and armored cars. He said security reasons prevented his being specific.

The North Vietnamese charged the night bivouac of the armored column behind an artillery barrage which pinned down the Ameican troops. Some of the attacking troops were reported to have crashed through the outer defenses of the camp before the attack was repulsed, a U. S. spokesman said. The remaining enemy troops pulled back about an hour before dawn.

The fighting raged five miles from the Laotian border and two miles south of the aban-

On 'Dipping Into Slush Funds'

Rhodes Hits Life's Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio denies charges by Life magazine that he "has been dipping into slush funds for years" to cover personal expenses with campaign contributions.

Life said Sunday it studied Rhodes' finances while investigating his recent decision to commute the life sentence of Thomas Licavoli, convicted of murder in 1934.

Rhodes made Licavoli eligible for parole, which has not been granted by the parole board.

Life's article by Denny Walsh said, "The fact that Rhodes has been dipping into slush funds for years without getting caught, suggests that he thought he could get away just as easily with granting clemency to Licavoli."

The Republican governor, in a statement Sunday night, said the article was "ridden with insinuations and irresponsible innuendoes and contains information which the author falsely represents as fact."

"I deny categorically," Rhodes said, "that I have, as governor of Ohio, received any money illegally or immorally, nor have I as a public official in Ohio before I was governor ever received money which could be construed as a bribe or which could be construed as a contribution to a 'slush fund.' I defy anyone to prove the contrary."

Life said an investigation by the Internal Revenue Service of Rhodes' campaign for state auditor "found that Rhodes dipped into the campaign fund for a total of $88,982 from 1954 through 1957. Of this amount, he reported $18,982 as 'gifts and gratuities' on his tax returns. He did not report the balance of $70,000."

134 Now In Sacred College

4 Americans Among 33 New Cardinals Approved

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI created 33 new cardinals today, giving younger men and seven more nations a place in the highest council of the Roman Catholic Church.

The Pope had named the 33 prelates on March 28. Today, 53 members of the Sacred College of Cardinals met in secret consistory with the Pope and gave their approval to his choices.

The meeting in the consistorial hall of the Apostolic Palace, first of three consistories this week, lasted only 15 minutes. It expanded the Sacred College to 134 members, the largest number in history, and increased the number of nations represented from 39 to 46.

Immediately after Pope Paul announced the 33 names and received the vote of approval, three cardinals set out as papal messengers to notify the new cardinals waiting in three buildings near the Vatican.

The new cardinals included four Americans, giving the United States 10 members of the Sacred College for the first time. The new American cardinals

Dies In Viet Action

Spec. Donald O. McGraw Killed In Helicopter Crash

A Wellsville serviceman was among the 16 American and South Vietnamese soldiers who were killed last week during the loss of six U. S. helicopters in Vietnam action.

He was Spec. 4 Donald O. McGraw, 18, son of Thomas J. McGraw of 1403 Boyce Ave., Wellsville, and Mrs. McGraw of Lisbon.

McGraw was a member of the 173rd Assault Helicopter Co. stationed about 40 miles north of Saigon. He was serving as a door-gunner.

His copter collided with another in mid-air, crashed and burned.

McGraw entered the service July 19, 1968, and had been in Vietnam four months. He attended Wellsville High and received his diploma since joining the service.

Police Hunt Newell Man, Three Others

A Newell man and three other prisoners who escaped the Randolph (W. Va.) County jail Sunday after threatening the jailer's wife with a knife were being sought today by West Virginia State Police.

Robert Knight, 21, of Newell and the other three were being held on federal charges related to interstate transportation of vehicles.

Police said the four threatened the wife of the jailer, who was then knocked unconscious, and the prisoners fled on foot.

The others were identified as Fred Bennett, 18, of Clarksburg, John Pierce, 33, of Burnside, Pa., and John P. Emerson, 24, of Edmonton, Alberta.

One Israeli Killed, 3 Hurt When Bus Hits An Explosive

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli laborer was killed and three persons were seriously wounded today when a bus hit an explosive charges east of the Sea of Galilee, the Israeli army announced.

The bus was travelling alongside the Yarmuk River, which forms part of the border between Isael and Jordan, in an aea just before the Yarmuk spills into the Jodan River.

On Sunday, Israeli troops traded fire with Egyptians across the Suez Canal and across the cease-fire line with Arabs in Jordan.

The artillery exchanges with the Egyptians ranged from near Port Said, at the northern end of the 103-mile-long canal, to the Geat Bitter Lake near the south end.

Israeli intelligence officers said the Egyptians have been conducting maneuvers and evacuating civilians from Port Said, possibly in preparation for a major assault against Israel.

The biggest exchange with Jodan took place three miles north of the Dead Sea and lasted 2½ hours. Jordanian spokesmen said they killed or wounded 20 Israelis and destroyed three Israeli tanks. They said there were no Jordanian losses.

The Israelis made no announcement of any casualties.

Pressure mounted on the Lebanese government to let the country be used as a base for guerrilla forays into Israel. Thousands of Syrians marched though Damascus, shaking their fists and demanding that Lebanon rescind its ban on Arab commando raids from its territory.

The Lebanese army relaxed its curfew on Beirut and five other cities by limiting it to the hours of darkness. Political leaders conferred about a new cabinet. A policy on the Arab guerillas satisfying all elements proving difficult to achieve. Premier Rashid Karami resigned last week and refuses to head a new coalition government unless he can get all factions to agree on the policy.

Bloodmobile Collects 105 Pints At Lisbon

LISBON — The Red Cross Bloodmobile collected 105 pints from 10 a. m. to 4 p.m. Friday at the First United Methodist Church.

Blood taken by the unit is credited to the Red Cross blood banks at Salem City Hospital and Salem Central Clinic.

The Lisbon Registered Nurses Association was in charge of the local program and blamed the Friday hours for failure to make the 125-pint-per-trip quota.

The unit's previous stops have been from noon to 6 p.m., enabling people to donate blood after work. Bloodmobile crewmen explained they always change the hours for Friday visits for an early return to Cleveland, where the cruiser is based.

Heavy Rain, Wind Bypass Flooded Area

By The Associated Press

People who live along the Mississippi River in Illinois and Iowa breathed a sigh of relief when predicted heavy rains and high winds bypassed the area.

The light rain that fell on a number of flood stricken communities Sunday produced little rise in the swollen Mississippi. but heavy downpours elsewhere did cause a sharp upward climb in the Missouri River.

The Missouri is expected to go above flood stage later this week.

Round-the-clock patrols continued on dikes in the Quad Cities industrial area in Illinois and Iowa.

Several dikes broke Sunday, endangering some areas, but they were quickly mended.

At Fulton, Ill., the water tunnelled under Illinois Highway 84 and broke out behind a two-mile dike protecting Fulton and nearby communities. Fifty volunteers were sent to the scene with a dozen truckloads of sandbags.

Dick Fleischman, spokesman for the Army engineers, said the quick action by volunteers kept the river from washing away the highway and flooding East Fulton and pat of Fulton.

The engineers said the Mississippi was cresting along an 80-mile stretch from Sabula, Iowa, and Savannah, Ill., southward to Muscatine, Iowa.

The river was flowing under the Centennial Bridge in Davenport, Iowa, at 231,700 cubic feet per second—nearly 10 times its normal rate—the Scott County civil defense department reported.

At St. Louis, the river, two feet below flood stage Sunday, was expected to fall during the next two days, then rise because of the cresting Missouri.

The barn was on the farm of Claude Barker. The property is owned by Michael Matays of St. Clair Shores, Mich.

Wellsville volunteer firemen were called at 11:40, but found the blaze out of control. There were no injuries, they said, including livestock.

Chief Robert Lewis said the cause of the fire has not been determined.

Mums The Word On Tax Relief

One of the most powerful figures in congressional financial circles has promised House approval of a comprehensive tax reform measure by early August.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, closed two months of hearings by promising passage of a bill that would exceed proposals by President Nixon.

REP. MILLS and his committee will begin writing the legislation this week. In following the unfolding program, citizens will be able to understand better what is going on if they do not get the word, "relief," mixed up with the word, "reform."

The two are not interchangeable.

Most of the talk so far has been about reform —closing loopholes, eliminating tax shelters, etc.

Relief talk has been skimpy—proposed reduction of the surtax to 5 per cent Jan. 1, 1970, special allowance for poverty-level families, etc.

Everyone is quiet about raising the general $600 exemption to a more realistic figure to give a deserved break to the taxpayers who carry a heavy share of the revenue burden.

And let's take a look at one of the most controversial tax-shelter issues — the 27.5 per cent oil depletion allowance. If it is cut or removed, doesn't it stand to reason that members of the petroleum industry, instead of reducing their profit margin, will pass along the added cost of operation to their customers — the taxpayers? Tax reform is involved in such a congressional move—but not relief.

WE SUPPORT reform as necessary in the search for an equitable taxation system, but we caution those determining policies not to lose sight of the need for relief.

Judicious fiscal judgments based on a sound priority system will enable the federal government to operate within a reasonable budget without continually saddling taxpayers with new revenue demands.

More will be heard about reform in the coming months—and it is welcome—but taxpayers are advised to keep politicians aware the real payoff is in relief.

Discord Within The Peace Corps

The generation gap and the student rebellion epidemic are affecting the Peace Corps program in Liberia.

As a result there is disagreement on many things between the members of the Peace Corps satff and the volunteers. So divergent are the views that the volenteers have formed their own association and prepared a manifesto severely criticizing the established administration of the Peace Corps in Liberia.

Liberia has the highest ratio of volenteer Peace Corps workers to citizens of any nation — one volunteer to every 3,000 Liberians.

INDICATING THE PROBLEMS associated with the generation gap, one of the young volunteer workers, in speaking of the staff headed by 39-year-old William Gaymon, Philadelphia psychologist asked: "They're all the age of our parents, so how can you expect them to treat us as anything but children?"

As for rebellion, the manifesto published by the young volunteers contained this declaration:

"When the institution (Peace Corps) becomes unresponsive, when it in fact becomes not what the volunteers desire it to be, when the volunteers find themselves to be at the end of the chain command, rather than the institutors of command, it is time to make our voices heard and to grasp the reinds of power."

The manifesto enumerated 11 "demands" which later were changed to "propositions."

In commenting on the charges made by the Volunteer Action Committee, Mr. Gaymon said: "Nowhere do you get any feeling that these people are worried about their work in Liberia . . . the kids are too soft; they've been promised too much."

He added that most of the 300 volunteers in Liberia were "too busy helping Liberia" to take part in protests.

One African nation has sent the Peace Corps workers home, declaring they were not wanted. If dissension flowers among Peace Corps workers in other nations, it can be assumed that more countries will decide they can get along without the American volunteers.

A BASICALLY GOOD IDEA, if mismanged or allowed to get out of control, can do the United States more harm than its volunteers can do good.

It is doubtful if many nations willingly would import the makings of the same kinds of trouble this country is experiencing with its youth on the nation's campuses.

Shopping Around For Welfare

The Supreme Court decision striking down state residency requirements for welfare recipients could cause a big headache for some states.

The Ohio Welfare Department has announced it isn't expecting an immediate jump in relief cases.

Nevertheless, a "shopping-around" trend could take place with welfare families migrating to northern industrial states from southern states that pay a lower welfare rates.

The mass migration from southern rural areas to metropolitan areas in the north is a recognized factor in the creation of slums.

Residency requirements have acted as a deterrent to migration that was not motivated by a desire to seek better opportunities.

With the requirements invalidated, it is anybody's guess to what extent individual states will be affected.

When states are finding their revenue won't stretch to cover general expenditures and welfare costs are rising each year, any additional welfare cost will certainly be felt.

We find ourselves in agreement with Chief Justice Warren, who cast a dissenting vote and said he believes Congress has the power to impose minimal nationwide residency requirements or to authorize the states to do so.

Chemical Breakthrough

The magazine, Chemical Week, has reported a chemical breakthrough which conceivably could have far-reaching effects.

The report indicates a hormone treatment developed by the Rubber Research Institute is capable of increasing the yield of rubber trees as much as 300 per cent and without damaging the trees.

If the technique proves effective over a period of time and if it can be adapted to other types of plant life, conceivably mankind could benefit from a greatly increased food supply.

Imagine fruit crops and vegetable crops such as potatoes and tomatoes being increased 300 per cent. And if the hormone treatment could be effectively used on rice plants, what an impact it would have on the nations where rice is the basic food for many millions.

Such a development would drastically affect the economies of nations and international politics as well. But it could result in the reduction of hunger and its accompanying misery in many parts of the earth.

While research goes on there is hope for the hungry of the world.

Smoking Best For Some

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Many people have given up smoking since all the bad publicity and, in the majority of cases, I admire them for it. But occasionally there is an exception.

I'm thinking now of my friend, De Vries, as an example. De Vries was a "two-pack-a-day" man and he was very upset about it. He finally decided to quit and, at lunch one day, he said he wanted me to be the first to know. "I can do without it," De Vries said. "All it takes is will power."

Art Buchwald

I wished him well.

A WEEK LATER I saw him and asked him how it was going. "I haven't had a cigarette in seven days," he said proudly.

"Bless you," I said. "Your wife must be very proud of you."

"I wouldn't know," De Vries said.

"Why not?"

"I moved out of the house three days ago. And I want to tell you something, I don't miss it at all. What a rat race. She was screaming all the time, the kids were driving me nuts, no one would listen to anything I had to say. Maybe I shouldn't have slugged her but . . . "

"You slugged her?" I said.

"WELL, IT WAS JUST A TAP. Believe you me, it's been building up for a long time. I mean—I'm amazed I didn't do it before."

I was very disturbed by the news but I went about my business. I didn't see De Vires again for 10 days. Then I ran into him on the street.

"Hey," he said. "You know, I haven't had a cigarette in 17 days. I don't even miss it."

"That's great," I replied. "How are things going at the office?"

"What office?" he asked.

"Where you work!"

"Heck, I quit four days ago. I was sick and tired of putting up with all the stuff they were handing out. They blamed me for losing the Waring account."

"But you had the Waring account."

"I did until Waring started giving me all the flack about not returning his calls. I told him I had other accounts besides his and I'd get to his calls when I was good and ready. Boy, did he scream to the old man about that. So I told the old man he had to choose between me or Waring."

"That's terrible."

"Who cares? Ever since I gave up smoking, my tennis game is great and I've been out on the court every day."

Then he turned up at the house one day. "Well," he said, "I haven't had a cigarette in 47 days. I'm adding years on to my life."

"Swell. What can I do for you?"

"THAT'S A PATRONIZING THING to say. You act as if I was going to hit you up for a loan. Well, I was, but forget it. You're like everyone else, mean and rotten and spiteful and a bore. I have a good mind to punch you in the nose."

"De Vries, I don't know how to say this to you, but as a friend, I think I should. Go back to smoking. There are some people who should give it up and some people who shouldn't. It's nothing to be ashamed of. Besides you've proved you can give it up and that's the main thing."

My little sermon worked. De Vries is now back with his family; he has a new job where he's doing quite well; we're friends again; and the last time I saw him he said to me, happly, "I don't know how to thank you. Did you know I'm back to two packs of cigarettes a day?"

Musings From Max

By MARTIN MILLER

There sure are some strange things going on over there around Korea, what with all our spying and their violent counteraction.

Ordinarily we laymen assume that espionage is like an iceberg—only a seventh of it ever appears on the surface. And here within a year or so we have lost a spy ship and a spy plane.

Now with our sending in ships and planes to protect our spying, our espionage activity may be expected to continue at the former rate and possibly increase. No telling how much fire is there but there is a lot of smoke.

Smooth continuity in the United States federal government is considered one of our great advantages which raises the curious circumstance that President Nixon, who was supported by most conservatives, is now drawing fire from many conservatives because he has not yet broken sharply from the Johnson policies. But he still has plenty of time, including the probable appointment of perhaps as many as four Supreme Court justices.

It is surprising how many high officials, senators and others, are speaking out in favor of recognizing Red China as a means of possibly easing relations with that country.

Somewhat in the same vein it has been suggested that the most hopeful way of ending the hijacking of planes to Havana is for the United States to establish diplomatic relations with Cuba so the hijackers could be extradited for trial in the U.S.

A proposal to reduce taxes on improved properties in ghettoes and other areas as an incentive to maintain better housing is being considered at the state level. On the face of it seems elementary and one wonders why it was so long in coming. At present owners who improve their property are penalized in a way by higher taxes because of the increased value of their holdings. It may be the way to eliminate slums.

We like President Nixon's remarks at a White House reception for several hundred Republican leaders. He told them, "We want to thank you for making it possible for us to invite you. Without your help we wouldn't be here. And with your help, we're going to stay here." Calls to mind Casey Stengel's memorable comment when his New York Yankees won one of their many pennants: "I never could have done it without the players."

With all the criticism of our courts these days it was noteworthy to see this comment by a law enforcement officer: "The 'bust 'em' days of policing are over. This isn't a police state. . . . The courts have made our job more difficult. But they're only reasserting constitutional rights that already are there. We just have to educate ourselves on the decisions and rely on the people to change the law if change is needed."

Thoughts

"Finally, brethren, farewell. Mend your ways, heed my appeal, agree with one another, live in peace, and the God of love and peace will be with you."—II Cor. 13:11.

"For its is God's will that by doing right you should put to silence the ignorance of foolish men."—I Peter 2:15.

"What the world has to eradicate is fear and ignorance."—Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovak statesman.

"So whatever you wish that men would do to you, do so to them; for this is the law and the prophets."—Matthew 7:12.

DAVID LAWRENCE

A Delicate Situation

WASHINGTON — Whether it be called a "cold war" or a "near hot war," the United States is currently engaged in the largest mobilization of its naval forces since 1950. This is taking place in three dangerous areas—the Mediterranean, the Far East and Southeast Asia.

America and its NATO allies today have more than 60 warships and 300 airplanes carrying on exercises off the coast of Sardinia in the Mediterranean, while the Soviet Union has about the same number of vessels—over half of them combat ships—in these waters.

In the Far East, the United States has sent a part of its fleet from Vietnam waters to the Sea of Japan so that 28 warships, including four aircraft carriers, now are near the coast of Korea.

APART FROM the obligation to mobilize naval vessels in connection with the shooting down of an American reconnaissance plane, the United States has a duty to protect the 56,000 troops it has in South Korea. For the last several months, North Korea has been threatening a military movement into South Korea.

With a delicate situtation such as faces the United States in Southeast Asia, the Middle East and in the vicinity of Korea, it is strange that inside this country many people, including members of Congress, are talking about "pulling out of Vietnam."

The Soviets outwardly are supposed to be helping to achieve some form of peace in Vietnam. But their real objective is to devise a formula to allow America to withdraw its troops and "save face." Back of this idea is the Communist hope of getting the kind of peace agreement which will enable North Vietnam to take over South Vietnam and thus give the Communists a victory.

The Moscow government is for the moment much concerned about Israel's skirmishes with the Arabs and wants to avoid a new outbreak of hostilities. "Negotiation," it is assumed, would be more productive of Communist gains or at least might keep the sitation from building up.

The Russians are glad that the United States is finding it necessary to withdraw some of its naval strength from Vietnam waters. This may have been one of the reasons the North Koreans, inspired by Moscow, stirred up trouble in seizing the "Pueblo" as well as in shooting down the reconnaissance plane last week.

The delicate problems in Europe have been complicated by the uprisings in Czechoslovakia, which prompted the Russians to send in their occupying armies. Moscow is anxious to tighten control over its satellites in Eastern Europe and doesn't look with favor on any reorganization or enlargement of the forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

So on four fronts—Eastern Europe and NATO, the Middle East and the Mediterranean, the war in Vietnam, and the confrontations in Korea on land and sea—the Soviets are deeply involved and doing their utmost to make it difficult for the United States to assure even a status quo, or stabilization of the existing situation.

Plenty of Communist effort has been exerted to stir up troubles inside this country and thereby to intensify the opposition to our government's military preparations. The anti-ballistic-missile debate heartens the Russians, as they believe it will force the administration to agree not to build up its defenses in the missile field and will enable the Soviet Union to acheive a superiority in nuclear weapons.

THE UNITED NATIONS naturally is looked upon as an instrumentality for peace not merely in the Middle East but in and around Korea. The American troops now stationed in South Korea are part of a U.N. army. The U.N. force was sent to Korea through a collective action under the U.N. charter. It was voluntarily joined by various countries, including America.

If, therefore, North Korea does anything drastic to bring about a resumption of the war against South Korea, the U.N. will have to take decisive steps, perhaps calling for more military aid from member countries.

Military and naval mobilizations do not necessarily mean that a war is inevitable but several times in this century it has been the tragic result.

If the meaning of American policy at this time could be explained clearly to the people, including the dissidents, a unified country would have even more impact on the Russians than a redistribution of our naval forces in far-off seas.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — James W. Hepplewhite, program chairman, introduced Frederick Rhead, art director of the Homer Laughlin China Co., as the speaker during the meeting of the Rotary Club at the Travelers Hotel.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — City Council approved the purchase of $17,000 in new Fire Department equipment.

The Wellsville High School Senior Class selected Miss Mary Helen French to reign as queen during the playground benefit ball in May.

TEN YEARS AGO — A preliminary engineering report on a sewage disposal system and treatment plant for Salineville was submitted to Council. The cost was estimated at $509,000.

De Gaulle

cooperation with the other members of the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and enhanced chances of Britain gaining entry into the European Economic Community.

But government ministers in London felt it would be a long time before basic French policy changes. Some even felt De Gaulle might pull one of his Jack-in-the-box surprises and reappear as a candidate in the presidential elections.

Other De Gaulle policies over which question marks now hover include the French embargo on arms to Israel, French-German relations and the attitude of Paris toward Moscow.

De Gaulle is the last of the great leaders of World War II to step out. A World War I veteran, he was a colonel when the second war broke out and rose to general before the German occupation of France. He refused to recognize the collaborationist Vichy regime, fled to London, and from there rallied the Free French Forces. His wartime battles with President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill were legendary, but he kept his vanquished country one of the major allies.

Drops Out 12 Years

De Gaulle headed the provisional government in liberated France from 1944 to 1946, then quit for the first time and dropped out for 12 years. He re-emerged as premier, called back in 1958 by an uprising of the military and right-wing settlers in Algeria.

The soldiers and settlers who called De Gaulle back did it because they thought he would keep Algeria French. But after he was elected president in December 1958, he crushed another settlers' revolt and a year later granted the colony independence. France's other African colonies got the same freedom as De Gaulle entrenched his power at home.

De Gaulle survived two assassination attempts by right-wing terrorists. He pushed through a new constitution setting up the Fifth Republic with a strong president and downgrading the National Assembly that held authority in the Fourth Republic.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I drive nails more easily into hard wood?

A. — By first dipping your nails into a thick grease, such as the kind used to lubricate a washing machine. By taking a minute or two to do this, you'll eliminate a lot of wasted bent nails and extra hammering.

Q. — How can I remove grease spots from hardwood floors?

A. — First scrub the spots with very hot water. Then drop ordinary peroxide of hydrogen on the spots, and after this has dried, in most cases the stain will have vanished.

4-H'ers Plan For Work On School Lawn

LISBON — Good weather prevailing, Columbiana County 4-H'ers will begin their landscaping work at the Robert Bycroft School for Retarded Children at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Boys and girls, club advisers and many parents are volunteering time and machinery to seed the lawn.

The building on Route 172, three miles west of Lisbon, has been in use since January. Open house and dedication are scheduled Sunday afternoon.

Gordon L. McDonald, county 4-H agent, said the landscaping was undertaken as a service project, since the county has no money available in the school fund to do the work.

The 4-H'ers received $500 from the Sears - Roebuck Foundation to tackle the community beautification project.

Plans are to seed the three acres of lawn this spring and plant ornamental shrubbery around the foundation next fall.

In case of bad weather or wet soil, the work day will be held the next suitable Saturday, McDonald said.

Charles Darwin's visit in 1835 to the Galapagos Islands, 600 miles west of Ecuador, and his studies of the unusual animal life there provided most of the facts for his famous theory of evolution.

South Africa Has Its First Woman Judge

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — For the first time in its history South Africa has a woman judge. Miss Leonora van den Heever was appointed acting judge in the Supreme Court and the question of how she should be addressed in court immediately arose.

Senior advocates (barristers) said that as South Africa follows English precedence and in England women judges are called "M'Lady," it will have to be "M'Lady" in South Africa too. Miss Van den Heever's father was Judge F. P. van den Heever, a Judge of Appeal and of the Supreme Court.

Dr. Barnard Upholds Heart Transplants

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prof. Christiaan Barnard, the surgeon who performed the world's first human heart transplant, criticized opponents of heart transplants during a lecture at Johannesburg's University of the Witwatersrand.

"I think it is more immoral to bury a heart for the worms to devour than to use it to save the life of a human being," he said.

The aircraft pilot was admitted to Salem City Hospital Saturday and released Sunday.

Two East Liverpool residents were admitted to City Hospital with injuries received in a one-car accident Saturday on Mick Rd. about a half-mile north of Route 45.

Charles Andric of the Ceramic Hotel, a passenger, suffered contusions of the chest. He was in "fair" condition this morning.

Another passenger, Delores Davis, daughter of Bobby Davis of 1701 Alpha St., suffered lacerations of the scalp and a fractured left ankle. She was "fair" today.

THE PATROL said John H. Kindsvatter, 16, of 932 North St. was driving a 1963 compact south on the township road when he lost control on a curve. The auto went left of center, off the east side and struck a tree. It then spun around and went over a small bank.

Kindsvatter was treated for a wound of the right leg and released. A passenger, Alberta Weyand, was treated for a contusion of the right foot and released.

Kindsvatter's auto was demolished.

Roy Newton, 42, of Fountain Inn, S. C., operating an air craft belonging to Bob Jones University of Greenville, S. C., was taking off from a field on the Melvin Miller property at New Waterford RD 1, near Route 7, when a wheel struck utility wires and the aircraft nosed to the ground and burned.

Newton, a flight instructor, was pulled from the plane by two other South Carolina men who had flown north with him, but who were visiting in the area and not in the plane at the time of the accident.

The accident occurred at 5:55 p.m. according to the patrol.

—:—

IN ANOTHER traffic mishap Investigated Saturday, on Route 30 about a half-mile north of Route 45, Stanley D. Virtue Jr., 21, of Steubenville attempted to make a left turn into a service station and his auto was struck in the rear by a 1967 sedan operated by Iasaac McRae,62, of Cleveland. McRae was cited for improper passing.

The accident was timed at 6:50 p.m.

Two bicycle riders and an auto figured in an accident on Route 267 about a half - mile north of the Y. & O. Rd. Sunday at 5:05 p.m.

Paul E. Rizer, 15, of Ross St. lost control of his northbound bicycle and upset on the road. Charles A. Trautman, 15, of Ross St. swerved his bicycle to miss Rizer and also upset his bicycle, then slid on the roadway, striking a 1968 convertible driven by Lawrence R. Messenger, 55, of Wellsville RD 1.

Both boys complained of injuries, but apparently were not treated.

A woman driver was treated and she and another driver cited as the result of an accident on Route 267 about two miles north of East Liverpool at 6:05 p.m.

Margie A. Griffin, 16, of 1537 Lisbon St. was southbound and her auto struck a parked station wagon belonging to Richard Moffett, 41, of Center St.

The Griffin girl was treated at City Hospital for a laceration of the forehead and released.

She was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance. Moffett was cited for parking on the roadway.

Janet L. Rinehart, 16, of 261 W. 7th Ave. was driving a 1964 coach south on Route 170, just south of Route 154, when her auto was struck by a 1967 sedan operated by David Muntean, 17, of 22 Morris St., Lisbon.

No one was injured. The accident was timed Sunday at 2:45 p.m.

Another accident occurred on the Sprucevale - St. Clair Rd. just north of East Liverpool when Timothy Bennett, 18, of South Hollywood Dr. stopped for another northbound vehicle making a left turn and his auto was struck in the rear by a 1962 coach driven by James D. Reese, 18, of RD 2. Reese was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

No one was injured.

Convention Every 2 Years Gets Mansfield's Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has endorsed the idea of a Democratic National Convention every two years as a way to put political issues into better focus.

"The idea of a national convention every two years has a great deal of value," Mansfield said in an interview.

"It could flesh out the party policies so that the voters in Senate and House races would know where the Democrats stand nationally on the issues.

"The convention would have to be responsive to all segments of opinion in the party and it should represent all sections of the country. I believe it could play a worthwhile role in focusing the issues of the day."

Such a midterm convention was suggested by Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the 1968 Democratic vice presidential nominee, at last week's initial hearing of the Commission on Party Structure and Delegate Selection.

With last year's turbulent Chicago convention in mind, Muskie argued that the platform runs second best to the selection of a presidential nominee.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who bid unsuccessfully for the top nomination at Chicago, suggested a yearly convention.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has ruled unconstitutional the restrictions on picketing and demonstrations outside the White House.

However, the ruling of District Judge William B. Bryant Saturday was stayed by the Court of Appeals which will now hear arguments and decide to uphold or throw out the decision.

At issue was the limit of 100 pickets at one time on the White House curb, the requirement of a permit to picket there, and the limit of 500 people for any demonstrations across the street in Lafayette Square.

The restrictions were drawn in August, 1967, by the Department of Interior, which has jurisdiction of the park and presidential grounds.

The suit was brought by the American Civil Liberties Union in behalf of five organizations that frequently picket the President's home.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's Agricultural Research Service asked for a million dollars today to find ways of coping with two billion tons of animal excretions every year.

Animal wastes have the potential to contaminate water, produce offensive odors and dust and serve as a spawning ground for vermin, Dr. G. W. Irving Jr., chief of the service, said in a statement to a House appropriations subcommittee.

The problem has grown in recent years he said, with the concentration of beef cattle into feed lots, centralized poultry and hog raising, and larger dairies.

A 10,000-head cattle feeder lot is estimated to produce 260 tons of animal waste every day.

The requested grant of $1,074,800 would go for research to determint the properties of the waste, better ways to reduce, use or dispose of it, and to see if the pollution potential of waste can be cut.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget, tax and fiscal policy can combat inflation better than wage and price controls or guidelines, says Labor Secretary George P. Schultz.

Wage and price guidelines "haven't worked" in the past, Schultz said Sunday. As for the Nixon administration approach, he said, "it will be the middle of the year before we begin to see the impact of these policies."

The secretary appeared on the NBC program "Meet the Press."

Schultz defended the administration decision to close 59 Job Corps centers by saying it was like a poker game, "there's no point in putting good money after bad."

Beaver Countian Found Innocent Of Manslaughter

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (AP) — A district court jury in Alamogordo took just 17 minutes Saturday to find two men innocent of involuntary manslaughter.

Leonard Pawlenko, 21, of Hempstead, N.Y., and Lawrence Schaliot, 21, of New Brighton, Pa., were charged in connection with a Feb. 2 fire in Alamogordo which destroyed the Wilward Hotel, did $125,000 worth of damage, and took three lives.

The three attorneys for the defense, Jack Whorton for Pawlenko, and John Otto and Jack Spence for Schaflot, emphasized in their closing arguments that the evidence in the case was circumstantial and that there was no conclusive proof the fire was deliberately set.

The jury was instructed that it had choice of six verdicts—five varying degrees of guilt, and an innocent verdict.

Charge Clarified

SALINEVILLE — A hearing will be held Wednesday for James P. Pierson of Summitville RD 1 who was arrested Friday by Police Chief Gordon Sweeney for rapid acceleration and "peeling" tires. A Review story Saturday incorrectly listed the charge as stealing tires.

Automation . . .

Machines can be built to perform any function done by man — but no machine can operate independently of him.

The great wonder of AUTOMATION is really the human brain . . . an instrument completely automatic.

Duplicating the human brain would mean 10 billion transistor valves to activate its cells . . . 1 million kilowatts to provide power for the transistors . . . and a wiring system connecting 30 billion-million cells to the nerve-fibers carrying impulses back and forth . . .

After all this, we'd have an electronic brain, automatically storing data, perhaps capable of reason, because of its memory . . . but still incapable of imagination and without a sense for moral values. We'd have a brain without mind . . . without a soul!

ANN LANDERS

Anti-Embalming Parents

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a boy 13, got A's and B's on my report card and have never caused anybody any trouble. My problem is my parents.

For the school science fair, I'm doing a project on embalming. I've gone to the local funeral home to get books and information on the subject.

The apprentice embalmer is a young fellow who explained many things. He has offered to take me to embalming school to meet his instructors and watch an embalming.

My parents say they don't want me to go there. I say it would help me in my project. I already know so much about embalming I could probably do a job myself. But unless I actually see one, my science fair project will not be authentic. Please help me. — J.R.

Dear J.R.: If your parents say no, respect their wishes. Wait until you're 16 and then, if you still are interested, write again and I'll intervene in your behalf.

Pessimistic Miss

Dear Ann: I'm a 15-year-old washout (female). People pretend to like me but I don't have any real friends. I was elected to a student government office in February because I had just broken my leg and everyone felt sorry for me.

I'm a clumsy ox and can't do anything gracefully, I'm a lousy tennis player, fell off a bicycle when I had the greatest bike date of all time, and I'm a rotten skier. (That's how I broke my leg.)

I say dumb things because silence embarasses me. I always laugh at the wrong time. This is a very honest description of myself, Ann. Can you help me? — Miss Undesirable of 1969.

Dear Miss: The "inadequacies" of which you seem painfully aware are, I'm sure, magnified in your mind's eye. Nobody pays THAT much attention to what you say and do.

People who think too well of themselves are a bore. Your problem is the reverse, and equally unattractive. It's a drag to hear a person run himself into the ground constantly. Knock it off.

Time To Stop

Dear Ann: I'm not even married and already I have mother-in-law problems.

My finance is the apple of his mother's eye. No girl would have been good enough. But Brad's mother has let the whole world know she's very disappointed in her son's choice.

I'm the wrong religion, I'm not pretty enough, I don't qualify intellectually, socially or financially. She has even said these things to my face, always being careful to add, "Nobody's perfect."

I dread having dinner at Brad's house. His mother has yet to call me by name. The atmosphere is so heavy you could cut it with a knife. Brad knows all this and says he's sorry.

I've done everything under the sun to win her favor and I've failed. What should I do? — Utpight.

Dear Up: Stop trying to butter up the old battleax. Don't strain to be friendly. Behave in a natural manner and you'll feel less like a hypocrite.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Boy Bitten By Spider In Critical Condition

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The condition of Todd Quester, who is being treated for a spider bite at Babies and Childrens Hospital, worsened over the weekend, and he was reported in "very critical" condition Sunday night.

Todd was believed to have been bitten by a rare brown recluse spider 10 days ago. Anti-venum serum was flown to Cleveland from Brazil Thursday in an effort to save the boy's life.

De Gaulle Knew Something Was Wrong Within 6 Hours

COLOMBEY-LES-DEUX-EGLISES (AP) — There was a little cheer, a weak "Vive De Gaulle," and the old man headed up the flight of stairs to the ballot box, lurching forward because he is 78 years old, blinking because his eyes are weak.

He waved at the top of the stairs for a second. There was no color in his face, only deep brown circles under his eyes.

Charles de Gaulle voted quickly Sunday, left the room and went home just before noon. Within a little more than six hours he knew things were going wrong. Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises was the first place to tell him so.

It was not a betrayal in the village, where people remember when the general drove an old car and played in the garden with his children. It was a change of mood that reflected the change occurring all over the country.

Paul Fontanil, De Gaulle's chauffeur, wrote down on a pad at 6:15 p.m. that the general's referendum had passed in Colombey with 158 "qui" votes, but that 21 of the neighbors said 'non." He rushed home with the news.

Those 21 nos startled some of the old people in the village hall, with its portraits of De Gaulle behind and in front of the ballot box. There had been only nine nos at the last referendum, and only two and one the times before that.

The word went out quickly—something was wrong. Who was responsible? An old woman who wore her slippers to the vote counting said it was the people at the cheese factory on the far side of the village.

"They're young and you can't tell about them," she said.

Across the country the tide flowed stronger against De Gaulle. A direct line from the Elysee Palace in Paris brought the bad news to the president.

In Janine's Cafe, the only one in town, there was quiet but not stupefaction. Andre Bidault, a farm laborer in rubber boots and coveralls, said:

"The damned French, they don't know how to vote. They've pushed him out the door because he was old. I know him, you know, I can tell you all about him."

By 11 p.m., the lights were out in tht village of 350 persons. In their house just off the church square, De Gaulle's bodyguards stopped eating and watched television. They waited for special instructions that did not come.

All was quiet at La Boisserie, the house behind the trees at the end of De Gaulle Street, where the old general lives.

Democrats Plan May 14 Meeting

COLUMBIANA — "Victory in 1969 and 1970" will be the theme when the Columbiana County Democratic Central and Executive Committees meet May 14 at Pavilion 4 of Firestone Park here.

Don R. Gosney, county chairman, said plans will be made to assist cities and villages with November election campaigns and preparations launched for next year's gubernatorial and other state and county elections.

Gosney said an effort will be made to get more committeemen and committeewomen active in the party.

"Too many people are becoming passive to their party and country," he declared.

Zoo Animals Named For People In Zoo

NEW YORK (AP) — Where do zoo animals get their individual names?

Mostly from zoo people, according to the Central Park Zoo.

Bill, a newborn aoudad, was named for a Parks Department executive, who prefers not to be identified.

John and Marilyn, parents of the baby goat, were named after head keeper John Kinzig and his wife.

Visitors sometimes are honored. Charlie, the tiger, is named for a man who visited the zoo every weekend for 15 years.

A new baby rhesus monkey is named Ashley because it was born on Ash Wednesday. Ashley's mother is so protective that zoo keepers have been unable to examine the baby to determine its sex.

Kinzig says, "If Ashley is a girl, we'll call the monkey Lady Ashley."

Pennybaker Advanced To Bank Aide Position

David C. Pennybaker of Winthrop, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pennybaker of 1512 Jennings Ave., and a 1961 graduate of East Liverpool High School, has been promoted to special assistant to the manager in the stock transfers department of the National Shawnmut Banks of Boston.

He has been with the firm for five years, and has lived in Winthrop for eight years.

Pennybaker, who is married to the former Joyce Martine of Charlestown, Mass., attended Ohio State University at Columbus and the Northeastern University at Boston.

In Duncan, Okla., according to "Time Capsule 1959," bank teller Laverne Parks developed a rash on her left hand, learned from her doctor that she was allergic to money.

Band Award Presented To Hargreaves

Stanley Hargreaves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hargreaves of Lisbon St. Ext., received the "Joe Thornberry Award" during the annual spring concert or the East Liverpool High School band Friday night.

Hargreaves plans to attend Youngstown University and major in music.

The award was begun in 1956 in honor of Thornberry, who had been an outstanding student and musician at the high school. Thornberry was killed in a plane crash near Chicago in 1955 while en route from Texas where he had taken flight training. He would have graduated from Ohio Weslyan University in 1956.

The award, sometimes a plaque and sometimes a trophy, will be continued until 1973.

About 350 attended the concert.

Students Help Save Records As Fire Hits Florida School

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Sweating students lugged tons of equipment and priceless records from Florida State University's Westcott Hall Sunday as fire ravaged the top floor of the aging administration building.

"We can't keep them out," said an exasperated fireman.

Men in shorts and football jerseys highballed down the steps with file cabinets, folders and books as flames crackled over head.

Coeds in bell-bottom pants and Bermudas formed a fire brigade and, huffing and puffing, passed the salvage to a distant spot on Westcott lawn.

"We got magnificent help from the students," said acting President J. Stanley Marshall, who has seen angry student protests in recent months in front of the same building.

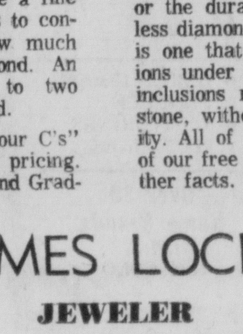

Clad in T-shirt, shorts and sneakers, Marshall directed the relay teams.

"A couple of people started going in," said Brewster Banks, 19, of Tampa, "and then everybody said we'd go in and help."

A fireman punched through a third-story window with an ax and dropped typewriters and other office equipment to a taut tarpaulin held by students below.

"This was the true student body, the kind of students you can always count on," said Gov. Claude Kirk, who watched the fire with his step-daughter Adriana.

FOR THE YOUNG MAN

One of the more important decisions facing the young man who has just become engaged is that of selecting the engagement diamond. This is one purchase that is really "forever", and if done wisely, will be a joy and not a disappointment. Perhaps I can help in this matter by giving a few tips about diamond values and qualities.

Whether you buy your first diamond from me or elsewhere (and we do have a fine selection), there are certain basics to consider. First of all, determine how much you have to spend on a diamond. An amount of approximately one to two months salary is usually suggested.

Second, learn something of the "four C's" which is the basis for diamond pricing. The American Gem Society Diamond Grading Standards lists them as Cutting, Color, Clarity and Carat Weight. Unless the diamond is scientifically cut and properly polished, the stone lacks brilliance and is greatly reduced in beauty. The finest color in a diamond is pure, crystal white. "Blue White" is a term that is not usually used by ethical jewelers since it is rather misleading.

Clarity is the absence of any internal inclusions which may mar the appearance or the durability of the diamond. A flawless diamond according to FTC regulations, is one that does not show obvious inclusions under ten-power magnification. Minor inclusions may reduce the value of the stone, without harming beauty or durability. All of this is fully explained in some of our free brochures. Stop by soon for further facts.

Two Toastmasters Advance To District 13 Speech Finals

Members of Toastmaster clubs from Clarksburg, W. Va., and Pittsburgh will represent the Southern Division in the District 13 speech contest May 24 at Butler, Pa.

Chosen during competition Saturday night at Uniontown, Pat, they are Dale Hagedorn of Clarksburg and Robert Pope of Club 242, Pittsburgh.

Their respective discussion topics were "The Big Thing, Expression," and "Deep in the Heart of Taxes."

—:—

THE EAST Liverpool club was among the 18 represented at the meeting. Others from Pittsburgh, Monongahela, Charleroi, Washington, Fairmont, Grafton, Buckhannon, Wheeling, Steubenville and Weirton.

The other finalists in Saturday's event were John Michaels of Pittsburgh and Nicholas Mourat of Weirton.

Francis J. House, governor of Area 12, served as chief judge and Joseph Kriss, assistant governor of Area 12, as chief timer. They are members of the local club. James Cunningham and Vincent Maola of the East Liverpool group also assisted in the judging.

Walter Rudin, governor of Area 2, gave the call to order; invocation was by John Castelli, assistant governor of Area 1, and the pledge of allegiance was led by Edmund L. Flint, assistant governor of Area 3.

Introductions were made by Gerald Warren, lieutenant governor of the Southern Division.

Dinner was followed by tabletopics presented by Harry Aurouze, assistant governor of Area 2, with the subject "Mother Goose Rhymes" as interpreted in today's world.

—:—

PARTICIPATING in this phase of the program were Charles G. Kramer, senior lieutenant governor; W. R. Castonguay, lieutenant governor of the Eastern Division; Kenneth Ramsey, treasurer; Floyd L. Rice, public relations director, and Ted Castrodale, club extension director.

Ramsey received a book, "Fairy Tales," for the best tabletopic.

Trophies were presented Hagedorn and Pope by Eugene E. Friedline, district governor, for their advancing to the Butler competition. Mourat and Michaels received certificates.

Gerald Warren, lieutenant governor of the Southern Division and his committee, arranged the program. James Veraldi gave the benediction.

Vietnam

doned Marine combat base at Khe Sanh.

The 5th Mechanized Infantry has been sweeping through the area for several days, trying to impede enemy supply and infiltration routes from Laos. Last Friday, North Vietnamese troops slashed their way into another night bivouac of American and South Vietnamese armored cars two miles east of the Laotian border, killed three Americans, eight South Vietnamese and an Australian, and wounded 12 Americans and 43 South Vietnamese. Thirty enemy soldiers were reported killed.

At the opposite end of the demilitarized zone, South Vietnamese infantrymen fought with North Vietnamese troops Sunday and reported 41 of the enemy killed. South Vietnamese losses were two killed and six wounded, a spokesman said.

Military spokesmen also reported that two persons were killed, 66 wounded and 20,000 left homeless by a huge fire and explosions at a U.S. Marine ammunition dump in Da Nang.

The spokesmen said one American Marine and one Vietnamese child were killed, and 50 Vietnamese civilians, 14 U.S. servicemen and two Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

South Vietnamese military headquarters said more than 2,000 tin and wooden-roofed shanties were destroyed or damaged almost beyond repair by fire or concussion from the exploding ammunition. Some of the huts were in camps for families of Vietnamese soldiers stationed in the Da Nang area.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the 20,000 persons evacuated from the area were being temporarily resettled in two villages on the outskits of Da Nang.

Earlier, the government said initial reports indicated 100 persons were believed killed or wounded. A spokesman said this had been based on estimates made during the height of the explosions and fire.

Associated Press correspondent Richard Pyle reported that hundeds of tons of bombs, artillery shells, TNT, rockets and small arms ammunition exploded, showering large chunks of burning shrapnel on homes, barracks and paddy fields in a one-mile radius from the dump.

Much of the ammunition had arrived recently for distribution to troops in the northernmost provinces. Millions of dollars worth of ammunition had been lost in two other fires in the past two months, both triggered by enemy rockets. But the conflagration Sunday was touched off by sparks from a smoldering garbage dump across the road from the ammunition depot about three miles southwest of Da Nang. Marine spokesmen said wind blew burning papers from the garbage area, touching off a gasoline fire that spread to the ammunition dump.

Despite the heavy loss, Marine spokesmen said there are enough munitions at other depots to meet all operational requirements.

Marine spokesmen said the big air base at Da Nang was under emergency limitations for 12 hours but reopened today to normal traffic shortly after the fire was declared under control.

U.S. headquarters reported a dozen rocket and mortar attacks ovenight against allied bases and towns as the Viet Cong's spring offensive entered its 10th week. Casualties and damage were reported light.

In one action 45 miles north-from the 1st Air Cavalry Division were killed and 29 wounded by North Vietnamese troops entrenched in bunkers. The fight lasted only 15 minutes, and only two enemy dead were found.

U.S. officers say that while the offensive is at a low point now, it could heat up again. American officers concede the Communist command still has the capability to fight hard despite nearly 40,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops reported killed since they launched their offensive Feb. 23.

Military analysts say the Communist command now is laying plans for a summer-autumn offensive to continue inflicting American casualties while working to undermine the influence of the Saigon regime in South Vietnam.

North Vietnamese troops attacked a U.S. infantry patrol base near the Cambodian border Sunday for the second time in 24 hours and were again thrown back by American dive-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery. Thirteen enemy were killed without any U. S. casualties.

The U.S. Command announced three American helicopters were shot down by enemy ground fire Saturday and two more on Sunday. This raised to 18 the number of American helicopters lost in six days and to 2,569 the total lost in the war. Six crewmen were killed.

Eight Collisions

Three Are Hurt In Mishap Here

Three were injured in a trafifc mishap on St. Clair Ave. near Armstrong Ln. Sunday, one of eight collisions investigated by East Liverpool police over the weekend.

The crash, timed at 11:41 a.m., involved a 1961 sedan driven by Robert J. Graham, 24, of 687 Lincoln Ave. and a 1967 four-door sedan operated by Laura A. Neal, 37, of 1801 Anderson Blvd.

POLICE SAID the crash hurt Sister Alice Hull, 55, of St. Catherine Convent in Pittsburgh, a passenger in the Neal auto, Graham and a passenger in his auto, Lester Chapman, 22, of 724 Green Ln.

The woman said she was traveling north on St. Clair Ave. and signaling for a left turn when her auto was hit from the rear, turning it around completely. Graham reported the other auto stopped "all at once" and he did not have sufficient clearance to pass it on the right.

There was extensive damage to the front of Graham's car and the rear of the Neal auto. Graham was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distane.

A similar collision on Jefferson St. at W. 4th St. Sunday at 11 a.m. involved a 1956 car driven by Robert Buckley, 21, of the Y. & O. Rd. and a 1965 auto operated by Robert Neilson, 46, of Kenton, officers said.

Neilson told officers he halted his auto at a trafifc light and it was hit from the rear by Buckley's auto. Buckely said the impact was slight. The collision bent the hood of his auto.

Ronnie Lee Bryarley, 19, of 1003 Linoln Ave. told police he ditched his auto on Ogden St. Saturday at 9:54 p.m. to avoid striking a child who ran into his path. Bryarley said he was driving east about 20 when the unidentified child ran into the street. The auto was undamaged.

Involved in a mishap Saturday at 3 p.m. on W. 5th St. at West Alley were a 1962 sedan driven by Paul E. Edgell of 3184 Andrews Ave. and a 1968 sedan operated by Goldie I. Seckman, 65, of 876 Grandview Ave.

Edgell was backing to pull away from a parking spot when he hit the Seckman car, which was turning from W. 5th St. into West Alley, officers said. Damage was confined to the left rear fender and fender skirt of the Seckman car.

—:—

A PARKED car was bumped in a mishap Saturday at 5:05 p.m. on 1st Ave. 50 feet north of Fox Alley.

The mishap involved a 1960 sedan driven by Robert L. Latimore, 70, of 511 1st Ave. and a parked 1962 sedan owned by Mary Zanders of 1064 Maple-tree St.

Latimore told officers he was traveling west in Fox Alley and turning north onto 1st Ave. when his vehicle bumped the Zanders car. There was damage to the right front fender and bumper of the Latimore car and the rear bumper and left rear fender of the Zanders car.

A backing auto struk a parked car Saturday at 8:50 p.m. on the parking lot at Winky's Drive-In Restaurant on Elizabeth St. near Harvey Ave.

The mishap involved a 1962 sedan driven by Mary L. Seevers, 55, of 1627 Ohio Ave. and a parked 1967 sedan owned by Marion L. Perkins of 942 Myler Park. There was damage to the right rear fender and bumper of the Perkins car.

Meanwhile, Patricia L. Baker, 23, of 938 Lisbon St. told police her 1964 sedan damaged a bicycle as she backed from the parking lot at Sevey's Pharmacy on St. Clair Ave. Sunday at 3 p.m. She said the bicyle, owned by James Hull of Wood Alley, was on the ground out of her line of vision as she began to back.

A mishap on E. 5th St. at Market St. Saturday at 4:06 p.m. involved a 1969 coupe driven by Paul A. Preston, 25, of Westfield Rd. and a 1967 coupe driven by Paul N. Stearns, 54, of 1042 Huston Ave.

Banned Films Pack Cinema In Botswana

LOBATSI, Botswana (AP) — Syd Milner is packing his cinema here by showing films banned in adjoining South Africa. He advertises in a government newssheet — Botswana doesn't have a newspaper — with the catchline "Another banned film from south of the border."

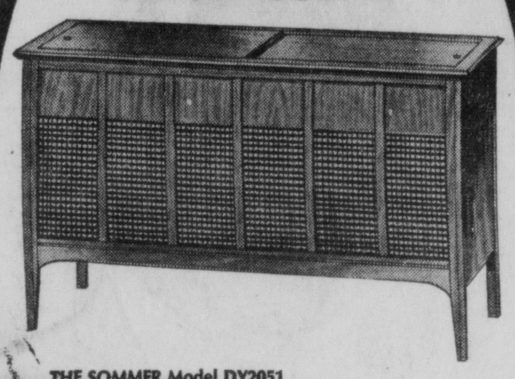

Many of the films weren't banned in South Africa because of sex scenes but because of their multi-racial backgrounds or what was considered to be excessive violence. They included "In the Heart of the Night," "Bonnie and Clyde" and "Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush."

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tip For Barefoot Crowd

DEAR HELOISE: I put small pieces of leftover soap in a small plastic container, cover with water and put a wad of nylon net on top.

Heloise

I keep one in each bathroom and also in my laundry room.

They are wonderful for scrubbing dirty feet (if you have that habit of going around the house without shoes), and also for getting that greasy line out of pappy's shirt collars.

MARJORIE DUNN.

DEAR HELOISE: I'm sure you have occasionally treated yourself to a hot, hot bath and been annoyed by steamy mirrors and by damp streaked walls. I know, I have, but now I love every drippy steak."

If you want to clean a very dirty pan — you soak it don't you? So why not your bathroom walls?

Fill the bath tub with hot water only. Close the window and door. Then go clean another room while that steam works in behind all those little specks, fingermarks, smears and splashes.

After about an hour, use a damp towel dipped in mild cleanser that requires no rinsing and literally wipe down your walls." And wipe away hard work too."

It was so simple that I stood on a high chair and did the ceiling.

First time I ever washed walls and didn't hate the chore! Try it, you'll see.

MRS. G. MARKOFER.

Your absolutely right, hon. Works great. But to make the job easier still . . . use your sponge mop with the handle for reaching that ceiling.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Last week a neighbor saw me putting in a zipper and insisted I send you the idea.

When cutting your garment, save a piece of the selvage side of the material. Cut it about one inch wide and one and a half inches longer than the zipper.

With the right sides together, sew this to the zipper seam. Sew one-fourth of the seam to the end of the selvage starting at time. Turn and press.

This gives a wide under-seam with a selvaged edge and no ravels to catch in the zipper.

I do this with all materials, even velvet and corduroy.

FRANCES CURRY.

DEAR HELOISE: Why doesn't someone package a cake mix and name it "SCRATCH"?

So that we would be telling the truth when we say, "I made THIS CAKE FROM 'sratch."

IDA STRONG.

DEAR HELOISE: When we first got our puppy we began training her on paper. But instead of putting it on the kitchen floor, we started her on paper laid in a plastic boot rack — the kind that wet or muddy shoes are set in to drain.

Now that she is trained, we still keep this in the utility room with several thicknesses or newspaper in it. Whenever our dog needs it and we're asleep or out at the time, she knows she has a place to use that won't result in punishment.

A change of paper is all that's needed and there's no lingering odor or rug damage whatsoever.

DOT'S BEST FRIEND.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently I wanted to make tuna salad but didn't have the time to wait for the eggs to boil. So I simply cooked the eggs in my no-stick skillet using no shortening. Then chopped them on my cutting board and dumped them in the tuna.

My salad tasted the same as always.

This could be done any time you want to save time boiling eggs for salad.

PATSY TANSKY.

4 Rhodesians Claim Share Of Fortune

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Four Rhodesians are claiming a share of the 60-million Rhodesian pound ($168 million) fortune of a South African adventurer who struck oil in Venezuela and died more than 40 years ago.

They are descendants of Bernard Webber, whose daughter was disinherited because she married against his wishes and whose only son was drowned at sea. To prevent his daughter and her children from benefitting from his money, he specified in his will that his wealth be divided equally among members of the third and fourth generations of his family.

A recent search found 24 descendants, but so far only four have lodged claims.

'Break' Hinted In Pittsburgh's Transit Dispute

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Leonard C. Staisey, chairman of the Allegheny County Commissioners, has hinted of a possible break in a threatened transit strike set for midnight tonight.

Staisey commented hopefully following a meeting Sunday between the Port Authority Transit and the Amalgamated Transit Union.

"The talks appeared to be moving along all right," he said.

There were other reports that the two parties had reached agreement in the dispute but that the formal language had to be worked out.

The union is protesting PAT's appeal of an arbitrator's decision that brought 120 supervisors under union jurisdiction.

The union represents 2,250 bus and trolley operators in Pittsburgh.

Club To Sponsor 2-Day Trail Ride

SALINEVILLE — A two-day trail ride will be sponsored Saturday and Sunday by the Rambling Ridge Riders Saddle Club of Salineville from Monroeville.

Monroeville is south of Salineville on State Route 164.

The rides are to start at 10 a.m., with 25 miles to be covered each day.

A donation will be taken to cover the two days of riding and for providing a ride badge and a noon meal on Sunday served on the trail.

Those planning on participating are asked to contact either Arthur Wilson of Salineville or Mrs. Clayton Baker of Hanoverton so final details may be arranged.

There will be parking for trailers, with the grounds open Friday night.

Club officials said those taking part are to bring their own horse feed and food for themselves, with the exception of the noon meal on Sunday.

$321.67 Netted In Fund Appeal

A total of $321.67 was collected during the Red Cross solicitation in Salineville and Highlandtown.

The report was made by Freeman Strabley, co - chairman with Mrs. William Holmes.

Salineville and Highlandtown are part of the East Liverpool Area chapter, of which Strabley is a member of the board of directors.

Shafer Slates Pension Plan Investigation

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, "shocked and surprised" at the state pension plan's payment to the estate of the late Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, has ordered an investigation of the system.

The governor directed that pension plans for several state officials be investigated—including his own.

Musmanno, who died at age 72 last October, had nearly 40 years service in various state jobs. The pension payment to his estate totalled $423,740—largest benefit ever granted by the program.

The state said that in his nearly 40 years state service, Musmanno contributed $59,062 to the plan, interest on that amounted to $46,132, and state contributions amounted to $318,546.

A spokesman for the governor said, "The governor has prepared a list of 20 to 25 names of employes whose retirement records will be reviewed to determine the scope and magnitude of the pension plan as it exists today." He added, "The governor specifically included his own name."

A spokesman familiar with the workings of state pension plans said Musmanno's benefit was large because of changes in the system during Musmanno's tenure, and because the justice contributed double amounts whenever he was eligible to do so.

Price Boosts Seen In Steel

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Other steel companies are expected to follow a price hike on semifinished products by Republic Steel Corp., Steel Magazine said today.

"These latest increases have set purchasing managers to wondering whether another round of advances is underway," the metalworking weekly added. "They're anticipating hikes to be announced on plates and cold rolled sheets."

Republic Steel, in Cleveland, has announced hikes on rods, hot rolled bars and cold finished carbon and alloy bars, effective today.

The magazine said there is a strong demand for steel and it "seems sufficient to support an upward movement of prices." Steel added:

"However, President Nixon's 11-point fiscal program, which includes a proposal for revoking the 7 per cent tax credit for capital investments, could obstruct capital expansion. This and other governmental restraints over inflation cloud business prospects, particularly capital goods expansions which have been a main prop to steel this year."

The magazine estimated steel output for the week ended April 26 at 2,800,000 net tons, unchanged from the preceding week. Output is running about five per cent behind that of last year, Steel added.

Several factors were cited for strength of steel demand and support for price increases. The magazine said domestic orders exceed producers' early year estimates and overseas requirements are heavier than expected.

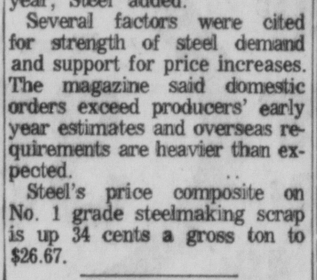

Steel's price composite on No. 1 grade steelmaking scrap is up 34 cents a gross ton to $26.67.

Penn-Ohio Section Set Up By Engineers

Formation of a new Penn-Ohio section of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers (AIME), with some 200 members in seven counties in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania, has been announced.

AIME is an international technical society with 110 local sections throughout the world, dedicated to those engaged in extraction and utilization of minerals and metals.

Dr. H. N. Lander, director of research at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., is the first chairman of the Penn-Ohio section. Membership is made up of men who previously belonged to the Cleveland or Pittsburgh sections, but found it difficult to attend meetings. They reside in Columbiana, Mahoning, Stark and Trumbull counties in Ohio and Lawrence and Mercer counties in Pennsylvania.

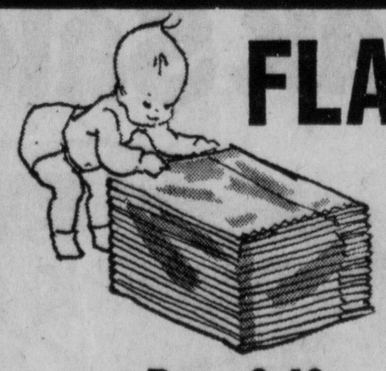

Three technical sessions have been scheduled for this year, on May 13, Oct. 15 and Dec. 2. The May 13 meeting will be at the Voyager Inn in Youngstown.

Dr. Sowle Named As New President Of Ohio U.

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Claude R. Sowle, dean of the University of Cincinnati law school, was named president of Ohio University today.

Joseph B. Hall, chairman of the Ohio University Board of Trustees selection committee, said the appointment was effective Aug. 1.

Hall expressed gratification that Sowle "has the unanimous approval of the selection committee, the Board of Trustees and the Advisory Committee."

Formal action by the trustees is expected at their May 12 meeting which Sowle is scheduled to attend.

Sowle will succeed Dr. Vernon R. Alden, who leaves OU to become president and chairman of the executive committee of The Boston Co., Inc., and the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Co.

Sowle, 40, will be Ohio University's 16th president.

"In these times of trouble one accepts the presidency of a major university with mixed emotions," Sowle said. "And yet, my basic feeling today is one of optimism. Solutions, I believe, can be found for the new and urgent problems we face in higher education if there is mutual understanding and trust among all of the vital components of a university community.

"The trustee, faculty, students, administration and staff of Ohio University will, I am convinced, work together in the years ahead . . . toward new heights of strength and effectiveness."

Sowle has been dean of the College of Law and professor of law at the University of Cincinnati since 1965.

He joined the Northwestern University School of Law faculty in 1958 as an assistant professor of law. He became assistant dean of the school in 1962 and an associate dean in 1963.

Sowle received his Juris Doctor degree from the Northwestern University School of Law in 1956 where he was second in his class of 125.

While in law school he served as editor in chief of the Northwestern University Law Review, and was elected to the Order of The Coif.

Dr. Sowle was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1956 and for the next two years was associated with the law firm of Sidley and Austin in Chicago.

Sowle was graduated from Northwestern in 1950 with a degree in political science.

His wife, Katherine, has a degree from Wellesley College She also was graduated from the Northwestern University School of Law.

They have two children, Leslie Ann, 10, and Stephen Dix, 8.

Nixon Looks To Long Term To Record Accomplishments

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says it is not what he has done in his first 100 days in office that really matters, but what he will accomplish over the long run.

"I don't count either the days or the hours, really," he told newsmen Sunday. I never thought in those terms. I plan for a long term.

"The major principle I've always followed since I've been in government is never to be too concerned about tomorrow morning's story of today's story —headlines of the moment."

The Pesident, who marks his first 100 days in office Tuesday, told reporters after White House church services that he decides policy with the idea that it will stand the long term test of time.

"I'm not interested in ancient hisory or in instant history but only what will make good history in the future."

Since President Franklin D. Roosevelt set up the legislation that was the basis of his New Deal program in his first 100 days in office, that time period has become a traditional measure of the progress of a new administration.

Nixon made brief but good use of the capital's excellent weather Sunday, spending a short time on the Truman balcony above the south portico of the White House. He noted the view that extends over the White House grounds, past the Washington Monument to the Jefferson Memorial across the tidal basin. The President said he approved of former Pesident Tuman's decision to build the balcony, which was opposed by several architects.

Nixon and his daughter Julie Eisenhower then took a 40-minute drive around Washington. They made a brief stop at the Navy Yard in the city's southeast section to inspect one of the presidential yachts, the Tricia, named after his other daughter.

Mrs. Nixon, however, was in bed with the flu and missed the day's activities, including the church service, fourth held in the White House since the President took office, and a reception in the state dining room.

In another development, the White House announced that Nixon is negotiating to buy a 10-room house overlooking the Pacific Ocean near San Clemente, Calif. The President would use it as a summer White House, press secretary Ronal L. Ziegler said, and would probably make it his voting residence.

Potential Little White House Site Quiet California Town

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — The potential site of the little White House is a quiet seacoast town of 17,500.

"I hope the feeling of friendliness—which is what we like about being here—will remain as it is," said a motel owner who has lived in San Clemente for 22 years.

"We hope that the neighborliness we old-timers have will rub off on those who may come to see the Nixons."

The 10-room Spanish style house that a Nixon spokesman says the President is negotiating for is halfway between Los Angeles and San Diego and 38 miles from Yorba Linda, Nixon's birthplace in Orange County.

When Nixon was a boy, most of the country was ranchland. Now it's one of the fastest developing areas in the nation.

The stately adobe house Nixon has his eye on is owned by Victoria C. Ogden, daughter of Henry Hamilton Cotton, one of the developers of San Clemente. Cotton bought the 20-acre estate and built the secluded, tile-roofed house in 1924.

The Ogden house, on a bluff overlooking the ocean and with the vast Camp Pendleton Marine base to the south, is surrounded by cypress, palm, eucalyptus, orange and lemon trees. It has thick wooden doors, floors laid with Mexican tile and a courtyard fountain.

"It will probably have some effect on business, especially in the area of real estate values" said Police Chief Clifford Murray. "But we certainly hope it will not alter the very character of our town, the quiet and relaxed atmosphere which we believe may be one of the reasons why the President likes it here."

Big One Got Away

—Somewhere in the sea off Cape Town is a large tuna towing several hundred feet of fishing line and an expensive rod.

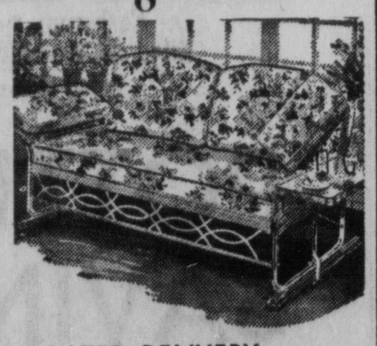

Retired railway artisan Louis Boshoff, 64, had hooked the big fish from the shore and was playing it when it jerked him off his ledge among some rocks. He landed on a reef exposed by the low tide and lost the rod. Boshoff injured his leg and as he could not climb 1,000 feet to the top of the cliff a boat took him off.

Home Builders Need Check List

AP Newsfeatures Writer

"I'm going to be straw boss while our house is being built and I'd like a good check list to guide me," says a woman.

It's a good idea. No matter how well armed you are with knowledge and plans, you must be on the qui vive. Architect, builder, electrician, masons and other workmen delegate responsibility to others, who may fall down on the job. Everybody means well, but it is your house.

HERE ARE some reminders: Be at the site when the trees are being removed and when the foundation is being dug to make sure the house will be put where you want it.

If you plan to have a basement, be there so that you don't end with crawl space. This may happen if the builder, considers it too expensive to blast rock that is near the surface of the ground. Find out if everything is all right while there is still time to move the house site to avoid the rocky spot.

If there are any footings to be installed such as for a fireplace in the future, make sure the mason has noted it.

Talk to the electrician. Maybe he has been playing it by ear and has never seen a blueprint. Does he know the little square with a dot in the center means a push button and that a circle with two lines means base recepacle? Make sure he digs it.

SOME builders may be unaccustomed to architectural blueprints, if you have them. Reiterate that you want casement windows, sliding doors, fireplace, until it sticks in his mind. Some builders stick to basic ideas.

Many builders are anti-circular staircase. They consider these a nuisance to install as they have been accustomed to installing ordinary stairs and dread the idea of getting involved with something new.

They will tell you they are dangerous or that they think the town building code is against winders or that the stairs will take up too much room. Whatever the holdout, stick to your plan. He may be right about the building code in the town, but check on it. If you have had an architect draw up the plans, he would have known. Circular stairs installed properly should be no more dangerous than others.

If your architect has specified certain materials in the house, these should be checked before the builder goes ahead. A builder may not be dishonest in choosing cheaper materials. He may be taking what is readily available to him. Hold up building the house, but don't accept inferior materials because you want to speed up a job.

Be sure the fireplace is adequate. Builders cut corners in various ways. If the fireplace isn't deep enoughto have a good draft, who needs it. You'll be fiddling with it all the time to get the fire started.

KITCHEN planning is perhaps the most important checkpoint of all. The builder may be absent or busy when the plumber is on the scene, and the plumber will proceed in a fashion he is familiar with, unless you are there to check that he is following the location of appliances and fixtures to the letter.

Another important time to be on the scene is when the tile men come to do the bathrooms, partiularly if you've specified colors. It is flabbergasting how often tile colors are switched, and it is usually because someone didn't refer to the blueprint in telling the tile men where colors go.

One home owner found the baby blue tile had been put in the bath off the master bedroom where they planned to use avocado, and the little boy's bathroom got the green which hardly matched his perfectly decorated blue and white nursery.

It's a good idea to put signs in bathrooms instruting tile men and in addition to mark walls with colors. It'll help if you can't get there when they begin their work.

How Can I?

Q. — How can I make cheese puffs for guests in my home?

A. — Blend an eight - ounce package of pimento cheese with one well - beaten egg. Season to taste. Cut bread into triangles (four to each piece), and toast. Spread with butter and the pimeno - cheese mixture, and broil until brown and puffed.

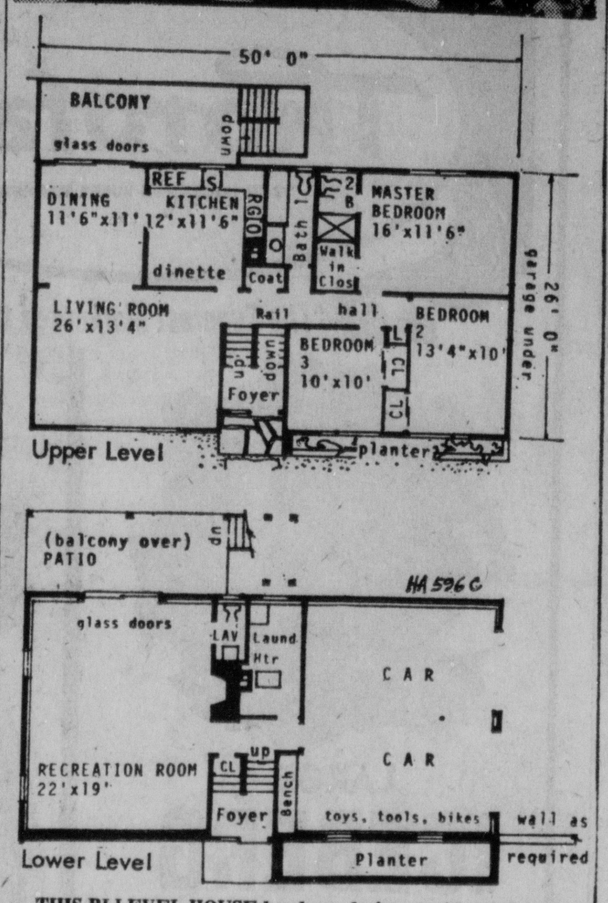

Q. — How can I remove grass stains from clothing?

A. In the case of washable fabrics, first rub the stained area with a cloth that has been dipped in kerosene, then wash in sudsy water. For unwashables, use alcohol or carbon tetrachloride.

Q. — How can I remove paper labels from bottles more easily?

A. — By wetting the face of the label thoroughly, then heating near a flame.

THIS BI-LEVEL HOUSE has been designed with a full basement and something extra—a mid-level foyer that effectively channels traffic in and out of the house. All sorts of decorating ideas suggest themselves for the living room, up a few steps from the foyer. Three bedrooms and a bath and a half provide space for a growing family and the sunny dining room opens out on a porch-balcony. The garage is "indoors," at no extra cost. Plan HA596C has 1,215 square feet on the upper level. It was designed by Lester Cohen, Room 704, 48 W. 48th St., New York, N. Y. 10036.

You Can Make Own Shutters Without Too Much Trouble

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

About 20 years ago, every owner of a house was busy removing shutters, because new homes of the era were omitting them as an old - fashioned idea.

Hardly an old house anywhere in the county was without an attic or basement filled with them. At the present time shutters are in vogue again, but unlike the old ones, most of the new adornments are faked. They are simply placed to flank the windows and nailed up.

Probably this is fair enough since not one householder out of 10,000 closes and fastens his shutters at night or at any other time. Actually in this day and age the shutter is for decorative or architectural effect only.

The price of one set of shutters for one window is high enough today to make the average owner think twice before deciding to equip his house with them, but he can make them himself if he is capable of measuring his window frames and doing a bit of the most elementary carpentry work.

All of the shutter designs can be made of half-inch plywood. The first paneled shutter is made by cutting the plywood sheet to the required size and then laying a border of three-inch strip around the edges and a bar across the center.

Another design can be made by scoring the face of the shutter deeply with a dull rounded-edge tool, so that vertical lines show, and then setting two bars across the face. Another design is a very modern and extremely popular one. It is made by scoring the face at a 45 degree angle, or in the better grade by laying light strips across the plywood with a very slight spacing between them.

These shutters can be made for about one-third of the cost of bought items, and if neatly cut and assembled, sanded off nicely and painted, they will be found entirely satisfactory. Standard shutter hardware is available so that they may be made operative if the home owner wishes.

Indian Kites Now Big Dollar Earners

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian kites have become dollar earners. Several Indian firms have begun exporting kites, as well as the thread and rollers.

However, the kites for export are made of polythene and not the traditional paper. A small kite for export costs rupees 22.50 ($3) and a large one rupees 3 ($5),

In India, an average - size paper kite costs about 35 paise (about five cents).

Import orders have come mainly from the United States and West Germany.

Scorpions spend the bright hot desert days in hiding. They come out at night to prey on anything small that crawls.

What's new on the market?

Product — Clear plastic cover designed to keep trash, leaves, snow and rain from window wells around basement windows.

The manufacturer's claim — That the cover is made from clear Tenite butyrate which allows full light to enter a basement window yet is tough enough to warrant a four - year minimum guarantee if not abused . . . that the cover creates a graceful circle from the wall of the house to the ground, where it is attached by brackets . . that it can be adjusted higher or lower depending on whether or not you want to allow air to enter . . . that it is available in several standard window sizes, the largest of which is 40" in length and 19" in perpendicular distance from the house.

PRODUCT — An indoor photoelectric control that automatically turns house lights on at dusk and off at dawn.

The manufacturer's claim— That the unit is small enough— 2½" square and 1½" high — to make it inconspicuous when placed on a window sill . . . that it has a light-sensing "eye" with a built-in time delay that precents accidentally switching due to car headlights or other extraneous sources . . . that the photocell is set in a hermetically sealed package for long life . . . that a wire attached to the control is plugged into any electric outlet and that any lamp can then be plugged into the back of the switch plug.

PRODUCT — A specially designed screwdriver handle that enables the user to work longer without hand-cramping fatigue and exert more muscle on the last, tight turns of the screw.

The manufacturer's claim — That the handle, made of translucent plastic, has three fluted sides shaped to fit the triangular pocket formed by the hand when it grips a handle, making it more comfortable and less tiring to work with than the standard round handle . . . that the handles are attached to four basic types of screwdriver: standard, square - bar, cabinet and Phillips.

PRODUCT — A prefinished clapboard siding that offers a concealed nailing application without the aid of adhesives, splines or slots.

The manufacturer's claim — That this siding enables the applicator to nail 1½" from the top without danger of splitting, doing away with adhesives or other fasteners, since the nails are hidden by the overlapping siding . . . That the siding is a combination of cement, specially processed cellulose and minieral fibers, making it resistant to mildew and impervious to rot and corrosion. . .That the material is not a vapor barrier and, in effect, breathes to prevent damaging condensation buildups.

PRODUCT — A double-hung window that combines the advantages of both wood and rigid vinyl.

The manufacturer's claim — That the wood sash is prefinished by a new process and does not require painting for at least 10 years . . . that the wood frame and sill are clad with rigid vinyl which requires no painting at all . . . that welded insulating glass and removable vinyl grilles further reduce maintenance. . .and that the unfinished interior surfaces can be stained or painted to match room decor.

Plywood Proves Satisfactory For Child's Sandbox

AP Newsfeatures

Q.—I'd like to make a sandbox for my youngster. Can I use plywood?

A.—Yes, but be sure to use the exterior grade. Here's an idea you might want to utilize. Place a large hinged cover on the box to keep the sand dry when no in use. And put some kind of legs on the top side of the cover. Then, when the cover is opened, the legs will rest on the ground and make a kind of table top for the child to put toys on while he is playing in the sand.

Q.—There is only a single floor in our attic, which I plan on tiling soon. Must something be put over the floor before putting down the tile?

A.—Yes, the floor should first be covered with underlayment plywood or hardboard. In some cases, felt is placed over the underlayment. If you decide not to use it, be sure that tile joints don't fall along the seams, a procedure that can be followed by planning the layout carefully.

Q.—A neighbor of mine uses automobile skid chains for cleaning his chimney. He ties them to a rope and drops them into the flue from the top of the chimney. I'd like to try it. Will it damage the chimney?

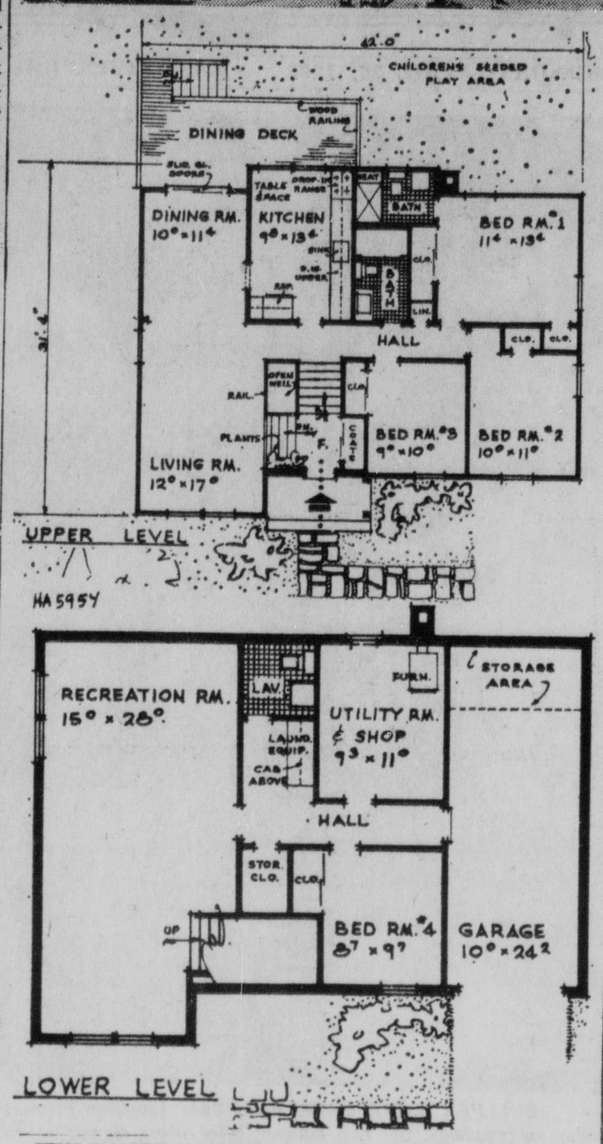

A.—This is an old - fashioned chimney-cleaning method that old-timers swear by. Know of no cases where it has damaged a chimney. The important thing is that you are able to get to the top of the chimney without risking a fall.

Q.—I'm doing a new room soon in plywood panels — the regulation size, 4 feet by 8 feet. Should I finish them before or after I put them up?

A.—If you are staining the panels, you will find this task a lot easier if you do it before the panels are installed and preferably a couple or more days ahead of time. Varnishing, waxing or any other finishing procedures can be done after the panels are up, although some persons prefer to finish them Ccompletely before installation

THIS RAISED RANCH has a dramatic foyer with a split L-shape stair. The open well gives apparent spaciousness. The lower level illustrates the soundness of the raised ranch type of house. What would have been a dark, dingy basement becomes a natural-lighted and well-ventilated habitable area. The shorter foundation walls required are an added bonus economically. In this "bonus" area, there is a recreation room, spare bedroom, lavatory and separate laundry area. The three-bedroom Plan HA595Y was designed by Architect Herman York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica, N. Y. 11432, with 1,161 square feet on the upper level and 771 habitable square feet on the lower level.

Tips Offered On Plumbing

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Many questions have been received concerning the installation of a proper plumbing system for a small house.

No doubt this is caused by the fact that thousands of young people are building their own house or adding to it.

A plumbing system is made up of three major installations of pipe. The drainage system carries off all used water from the fixtures. The vent system provides for a constant flow of fresh air through the drainage system and also prevents the formation of facuums which might retard flow - offs. The water supply system is entirely separate from either the drainage or the vent system and is never in any way directly connected to them.

The basic rules for any plumbing system are very plain, but anyone intending to install his own plumbing should note that there is quite a difference in the rules and regulations of cities, counties and states.

There is no short cut to a sanitary plumbing system, be it one water closet and one wash basin or four tiled bathrooms. There must be a tight drainage, venting and water supply system.

It should be noted that all fixtures are equipped with traps to prevent odor and gases from coming up into the fixtures. Without the vent system the seal of water in the trap may siphon out and cause a very unhealthy condition.

Breakthrough Made To Mystery Leader

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Officials struggling to promote a government community development program have made a breakthrough to a mystery chieftainess who rules 20,000 tribesmen from a remote hilltop kraal (small village).

Chieftainess Charewa, an elderly woman who is Rhodesia's only chieftainess and never leaves her kraal in the Mtoko-Mrewa district, has agreed to the formation of a community board among the Charewa people. A dispensary and a school are the first projects planned, with dams, halls and clinics likely to follow.

Strict tabooos are observed when the chieftainess has one of her rare meetings with government officials. Nothing metal or colored red is allowed in her presence and she may not be photographed.

You Get Mower Power With A Spring Tuneup

Tall, uncut grass and warm weather will combine to make you think you can just roll your old power mower out of the garage and go to work.

You can if you serviced it thoroughly last fall. But if you are like most of us, you probably parked it in a corner, maybe threw a cover of sorts over it and let it go at that.

Before you do anything, check your owner's manual completely. This will give you the proper maintenance procedure for your particular mower.

—:—

NEXT, no matter what you are about to do, disconnect the spark plug wire on the engine. Just slip it off the end of the plug and there can be no danger of accidental starting.

Clean your mower before you do anything else. A wire brush will free most dried up clippings and dirt. Apply kerosene with an old paint brush to get the mower really clean. Work in a well-ventilated area.

You should have drained the gas and oil from your mower last year. If you didn't, do it now. Don't try to start cutting until you do.

Don't fill your tank immediately. After you have drained the tank of last year's fuel, wash out the rust and sediment with a small amount of fresh gasoline. If you've had gas stored in a can all winter this, too, may have some rust in it. It's best to buy fresh fuel.

INSTEAD of just draining out the old oil, flush the crankcase by first adding enough oil to get it up to the normal level. Then run the engine until it warms up. While the oil is hot, drain and most of the sludge will come out with it. Then fill with fresh oil.

Air filters need cleaning several times a season. Start clean. Check the manual for the recommended method. Most are rinsed in kerosene. Sometimes you can wash them in water and detergent. After the filter is dry add a light touch of oil before replacing.

Check the blades for wear, dullness, nicks and rough spots. Make double certain the spark plug is disconnected before touching that blade. Small nicks can be filed off. You can sharpen the blade the same way. Damaged blades should be replaced.

While a spark plug can be be cleaned and reset, it's hardly worth the effort since there is only one. Get a fresh plug to start the season.

Make certain wheel bearings, all moving parts are properly lubricated. Use a light machine oil unless something ese is recommended. Set the height you want. Tighten al nuts and bolts before starting.

Now you're ready to cut the grass.

Beach Boys Sue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Beach Boys, rock group, has filed a $2 million law suit in Superior Court here against Capitol Records. The group says there is a deficiency in royalty payments and producer's fees for Brian Wilson, group leader. The Beach Boys have formed their own record label, Brother Records, after seven years with Capitol.

Book Exports Up

LONDON (AP) — British publishers exported books worth more than $108 million in 1968, an increase of 16 per cent over the previous year. The rise was attributed partly to visits by publishers to the Philippines, Japan, Canada and Australia.

Five states — California, Colorado, South Dakota, Alaska and Nevada — have yielded more than 75 per cent of the gold produced in the United States.

McCovey's Hitting Gives Giants Sweep, Tie For Lead

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Those who weren't lured outside by yesterday's splendid weather could have enjoyed a sports smorgasboard on television.

The two most successful dynasties in present-day sports, the Montreal Canadiens and the Boston Celtics, came through with wins in hockey and basketball, the Indians came through with another loss in baseball and Bruce Devlin took a victory in golf.

Montreal, which wins Stanley Cups with almost monotonous regularity, started off the final NHL playoffs on the right foot with a 3-1 win over the St. Louis Blues.

Boston, down 2-0 in the NBA finals to the Los Angeles Lakers, came back with a narrow win to close the gap to 2-1. The Celtics squandered a 17-point halftime advantage, but broke the deadlock that prevailed after three periods and were up by 14 late in the game. The Lakers made another comeback, and drew within four points with 20 seconds left, Keith Erickson stole the ball but missed a layup that would have halved the gap and the Celts hung on.

Laker coach Bill Van Breda Kolff's strategy of benching Elgin Baylor for the last six minutes of play has to be questioned. Baylor even at a relatively advanced age, makes moves no one else can make. Despite the presence of Baylor, Jerry West, Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell, superstars all, a sound argument can be made that Ohio State's John Havlicek is the best player in the world. "Hondo" was everywhere on offense and defense and scored at least 34 points for the third straight game against the Lakers. Another OSU product, Larry Siegfried, contributed quite a bit to the Boston win.

THE INDIANS, while holding the Senators hitless in eight of nine innings, gave up five hits and six runs in the fourth, and Washington hung on for a 6-5 victory.

Saturday was another enjoyable day at Forbes Field as the Pirates once again came from behind, this time on a towering homer by Reberto Clemente, to down the Montreal Expos 4-3. Willie Stragell also unloaded a titanic blast, well up into the upper deck in right field. Clemente's shot was high over the left field foul pole, barely fair. Chuck Hartenstein, who saved the game for Bob Veale, had another impressive relief stint.

Familiar faces in the unfamiliar powder blue uniforms of the Expos were Donn Clendenon, Maury Wills and Manny Mota. Mota was cheered by the fans when he was introduced, the other two booed. Clendenon made an excellent fielding play at first base to start a doubleplay, something he rarely did when he wore the Pirate uniform.

The most striking thing about the Montreal attire is the headware. The caps are tri-colors, like the French flag. Charles DeGaulle would be proud of the Expos.

Pirates Beaten, Trail Cubs By 1

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Clyde King and Jim Davenport speak lavishly about the hitting exploits of Wille McCovey, but the towering slugger is content to speak softly while carrying his big bat.

"I don't want to talk about it too much because I'll probably go into a slump," he said after clobbering Houston over the head with two game-winning three-run homers Sunday as San Francisco swept the Astros 4-2 and 8-5.

But King, manager of the Giants, and infielder Davenport have done plenty of talking, praising the 6-foot-5 first baseman as the top slugger in the National League.

"I had an awesome fear of McCovey as a rival," King added, "and now I have tremendous respect for him as a slugger and hitter."

McCovey certainly has been living up to that calling this season, leading the league with eight homers and 21 runs batted in.

McCovey's big bat carried the Giants into a tie for first place with Los Angeles in the NL West Division after the Dodgers dropped Atlanta out of a share of the lead by routing the Braves 10-0 behind Don Sutton's four-hitter.

Cleon Jones raised his league leading average to .443 with five hits for six RBI, including a three-run homer in the ninth inning that salvaged a 3-0 victory for the New York Mets over Chicago after the Cubs had won the opener 8-6.

In other games, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 1-0 on Jerry Johnson's four-hitter, Montreal dropped Pittsburgh 4-2 and San Diego swept Cincinnati 5-2 and 10-9 in 13 innings.

McCovey, 31-year-old slugger in his 10th big league season who has driven in 384 runs and hit 142 homers in the last four years after leading the league with 102 and 44 in 1963, capped a four-run seventh inning in the opener with his first shot, breaking a 5-5 deadlok.

Houston had taken a 4-0 lead in that one on Hecor Torres' grand slam, but the Giants tied 4-4 on Jack Hiatt's three-run homer before Joe Morgan's solo blast out the Astros in front again.

In the nightcap, McCovey erased a 2-1 deficit in the sixth inning, giving the Giants their sixth consecutive victory and sending Houston to its fifth loss in a row and 12th in 13 games.

"My success depends on the guy behind me," McCovey said modestly, trying to avoid a slump, "so Hiatt's hitting (10 RBI and three homers in the Houston series) has really helped. If the guy behind me isn't hitting I start swinging at bad balls because I figure that's all I'll be getting."

Sutton, 2-2, had it easy as Andy Kosco extended his hitting streak to 11 games with a single and double for three runs and Bill Grabarikewitz added three more with a double and triple and stole home for another marker.

Jones' double and two singles in the opener helped the Mets build a 6-3 lead, but two errors in the ninth inning set up four unearned Chicago runs, the last two on Randy Hundley's homer.

But after Billy Williams' error and an intentional walk, Jones unloaded in the nightcap for only the fourth hit off starter Rich Nye. Jim McAndrews, who left with a blister and runners on second and third with none out in the sixth, and Tug McGraw blanked the Cubs.

Deron Johnson gave Jerry Johnson, 1-2, his victory with a run-scoring, two out single in the eighth inning off St. Louis starter Ray Washburn.

Montreal's Rusty Staub and Coco Laboy, who hiked his average to .420 with 3-for-3, rapped tie-breaking homers in the sixth inning—Staub's with a man on—to beat Dock Ellis and Pittsburgh. Larry Jaster, who singled in the Expos' first run scattered six hits in going the distance for the first time this season for his first victory.

Ollie Brown got San Diego started with two doubles and and infield out that drove in three runs and set up another in the opener as rookies Clay Kirby, Gary Ross and Frank Reberger held off the Reds.

Ross won the nightap with five innings of shutout relief before Ed Spiszio singled in an unearned run in the 13th with two out off Wayne Granger.

The Padres tied the game in the eighth on rookie Jerry DaVanon's two-run double after Pete Rose's three-run homer and Alex Johnson's two-run shot put Cincinnati ahead 9-7 in the top of the inning.

Canadiens Defeat Blues

MONTREAL (AP) — The St. Louis Blues are struck in a rut and Coach Scotty Bowman has to find a way out of it in a hurry.

The Blues, easy champions in the National Hockey League's West Division and winners of eight straight early-round Stanley Cup playoff games, dropped a 3-1 decision to Montreal Sunday in the nationally televised opener of the best-of-7 Cup finals.

It wasn't exactly a new feeling.

St. Louis lost four straight to the Canadiens in the Cup finals a year ago and in the two seasons since they were born out of expansion the Blues have a cumulative record of 0-13-2 against the Canadiens.

The numbers don't exactly inspire confidence in St. Louis' chances for taking the Cup away from the Canadiens.

Montreal jumped to a 2-0 lead on goals 38 seconds apart by Dick Duff and Bobby Rousseau. Then, the Canadiens sat on the bulge.

Duff scored on a power play, beating goalie Jacques Plante, an ex-Canadien, on a close-up shot at 3:39. Then, Rousseau, out killing a penalty, drilled a high, hard one past Plante at 4:17.

"It's tough to give them a jump like that," said Bowman. "We had to play catch-up hockey."

The Blues caught up a little when Frank St. Marseille beat Rogatien Vachon, Montreal's goalie, with a screen shot in the final two minutes of the opening period.

Oak Glen Places 5th In Relays

Oak Glen placed fifth of 12 teams in the Clarksburg Invitational Relays Saturday.

The 880 relay team of Greg Hobbs, Rich Sims, Tom McGeehan and Jim Carnes won in 1:37. The same quarter was second in the 440 relay. Carnes was the second high scorer of the day, getting 10½ points. Kevin Merchant of Clarksburg Washington Irving had 19½ points.

Carnes was second in the 180-low hurdles in :22.3, and second in the high jump at 5-6. Bob Coleman took third in the high jump at 5-4. McGeehan was second in the 440 in :54.3. Hobbs was second to Merchant in the 100, doing :10.5 to :10.4 for the winner.

Joe Nemith, with 10-3, and John Williams, with 10-0, were fourth and fifth in the pole vault. The two-mile relay team of Dan Greathouse, Dave Shilling, Paul Webster and Don Zelinsky was fourth.

Washington Irving nipped Elkins for the team title with 50½ to 50 1-5. Doddridge had 47½. St. Mary's 35, Oak Glen 34½, Clarksburg Victory 19 1-5 and Weirton Madonna 13.

Potters Score Four At Dover

East Liverpool got four points at the Dover Relays Saturday.

Ralph Carter placed fourth in the 440, doing a :52.8. The mile relay team of Bob Bosco, Chris Resing, Mike Giambroni and Carter was fourth in 3:38.

Orioles Keep Rolling; A's Smother Seattle

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

After a couple of false starts, Sal Bando has rediscovered Seattle and Frank Robinson has repossessed New York.

Oakland's Bando, 0-for-10 at Seattle in two previous games, drove in seven runs Sunday with two homers and a single as the Athletics blitzed the expansion Pilots 13-5.

Baltimore's Robinson, 1-for-10 in a pair of losses to New York Friday night and Saturday, broke loose with two homers, four singles and eight RBI, leading the Orioles to a 6-0, 10-5 doubleheader weep over the Yankees.

Bando went on the biggest run-producing spree of his pro career in Seattle's Sicks' Stadium, which he had visited regularly as a Pacific Coast League standout before moving up the majors. "I played here in 1967 with Vancouver," said the husky Oakland third baseman, "but those fences are closer now."

Robinson, who had helped the Orioles win 41 of 54 games against New York from 1966 through '68 got them even with the Yankees this spring while taking the American League lead in homers, nine, and RBI, 22 and hiking his batting average to .373.

In other AL action, Washington extended Cleveland's losing streak to 10 games with a 6-5 victory over the Indians; Detroit slugged Boston 7-4; Minnesota edged Chicago 4-3 in a game shortened to 8½ innings by rain and California topped Kansas City 6-2.

Bando sent the Athletics ahead to stay in the first inning with a two-run homer, slammed a three-run homer in the sixth and singled two more runs across in the eighth, helping rookie right-hander Rollie Fingers nail his second victory without a loss.

Frank Robinson delivered four runs in each game as the Orioles surged to a 2½-game lead over runner-up Boston in the East division. He cracked a two-run homer and two run-scoring singles in the opener, backing the six-hit pitching of Mike Cuellar. Star Bahansen, last year's rookie of the year, took the loss, his fifth without a victory.

In the nightcap, the Yankees jumped to a 3-0 first inning lead, knocking out Tom Phoebus, and led 4-1 until the fifth, when Frank Robinson belted a three-run homer. Relief pitcher Dick Hall singled home the go-ahead run and Frank Robinson poked anothe RBI single in the sixth.

Slump-ridden Brooks Robinson accounted for the Orioles' last four runs with a pair of homes.

The Senators bunched all five of their hits against Cleveland in a six-run fourth inning burst, with pitcher Frank Bertaina's three-run homer the big blow, and held off the hapless Indians, who have dropped 15 of 16 games in all.

Duke Sims and Zoilo Versalles homered for the Indians, who got hitless pitching from loser Stan Williams and reliever Jack Hamilton in every inning but the sixth.

Dick McAuliffe knocked in three runs with a homer and single, Willie Horton homered before leaving the game with a hip injury and his replacement, Ron Woods, delivered two runs with a single—his first major league hit—as the Tigers' Denny McLain, 3-3, beat Boston's Sonny Siebert.

Horton, who crashed into the left field wall catching a fly ball in the third, gave way to Woods in the seventh when his left hip stiffened up.

Mike Andrews' eighth inning homer gave the Red Sox a record of 27 for 11 consecutive games.

Rod Carew's two-run seventh inning homer shot the Twins past the White sox before the rains came. Harmon Killebrew poled his 400th career homer fo Minnesota, which leads the West Division by one half game ove Oakland.

Bobby Knoop's two-run single in the fourth inning sent California ahead to stay at Kansas City and the Angels pulled away, with Jay Johnstone and Rick Reichardt also driving in two runs each.

Siegfried, Havlicek Pace Celtics' Win Over Lakers

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, lifted back into contention by Larry Siegfried's inspired performance, hope to become the first team in National Basketball Association history to come back from a 2-0 deficit to win the championship playoff series.

"Siegfried was the difference," Los Angeles Coach Bill van Breda Kolff said Sunday after the fiery backcourt performer came off the bench to lead the Celtics past the Lakers 111-105 in the third game Sunday.

"He gave us a big game offensively and defensively—and don't forget he was hurting too," Boston player-Coach Bill Russell said of the former Ohio State star who has been hampered by a hamstring pull and a hip injury.

Siegfried had averaged only 5.5 points in the two losses at Los Angeles. He exploded Sunday, however, before 14,033 cheering fans at Boston Garden plus a national television audience.

Coming into the game late in the first period he played most of the way after that, hitting 10 of 16 shots and 8 of 9 free throws for 28 points.

The scoring of Siegfried and John Havlicek, who scored 34 points, kept the Celtics alive in the third period when the Lakers erased a 17-point halftime deficit to go ahead by three points, 78-75.

The same pair led the Celtics back in a fourth period counterrally to wrap up the game.

Coming off the bench is a lot tougher than starting," Siegfried said afterwards as he took a whirlpool treatment. "When you come off the bench you have to make it happen now, or you won't be in there very long. Today I hit a couple of shots and had the hot hand so the guys started playing to get the ball to me."

Jerry West, who had averaged 47 points in the two victories at Los Angeles, led the Lakers with 24 points. He too thought Siegfried was the difference.

"He hasn't played very much, so when he comes up with a ball game like that it really hurts us," West said.

"After we caught up we just died," he said. "I really got tired. I really didn't have much left."

The defending champions have a chance to even the best-of-7 series in the fourth game at Boston Garden Tuesday night. The fifth game will be in Los Angeles Thursday night.

In the American Basketball Association Saturday night Indiana beat Miami, 127-105, to win the Eastern Division finals, 4-1. Indiana opens the ABA finals in Oakland Wednesday night.

Palmer Faces Qualifying

Devlin Wins Nelson Golf, Beard, Crampton Second

DALLAS (AP) — A weak left hand helped Bruce Devlin break the longest drought of his professional golf career. And a weak putting game has forced Arnold Palmer to make what may be his most agonizing decision.

"I guess I will try to qualify for the Open. I really don't know yet," said Palmer after he finished in a tie for eighth behind Devlin Sunday in the wind-up of the $100,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

Palmer must decide whether to go out and attempt to make it in sectional rounds next month.

Palmer missed his last chance of an exemption by falling out of the top 15 on the money-winning list, dated from the Houston Champions Tournament last year to the Nelson this year. He had a lead of $5,133.51 over Frank Beard going into this tournament.

But Beard, the soft-spoken man from Louisville, shot a final-round 71 for 278 and a tie for second with Australian Bruce Crampton. He won $9,250. Palmer, who had a final 69 for 282, won $2,825, giving Beard the spot in the Open.

Devlin, the slim, blond Australian who hadn't won since the Colonial Invitation in 1966, also had had his troubles—a left hand that was too strong, causing him to hook.

"I've been bugged by that hook a long time," he said after his final-round 70 pulled him out of a four-man fight down the stretch.

He finished with a 277, three under par for four rounds on the muddy, 7,086-yad, par 70 Peston Tail Golf Club course and one stoke ahead of Beard, who had a final 71, and fellow Aussie Bruce Crampton, 69.

"I've been working on weakening my left hand so I won't hook so much," he said. I've moved my left hand more on the tape. It helps eliminate the left-hand side of the golf course. Every time I've been in trouble in this tournament it's been on the left side."

Lefty Bob Charles finished with a 73 and fourth place at 279. Tied for fifth at 280 were Don January, 65; Bert Greene, 70, and Lee Trevino, 74.

Potters Sweep Pair From Burgettstown

East Liverpool swept a doubleheader from Burgettstown at the Colt League Field Saturday, raising its mark to 8-2.

Bill Montgomery and Kim Kemple combined for a three-hit shutout in the 4-0 opening win and Randy McVay fanned 13 in going the distance for a 9-3 triumph in the nightcap.

John Haney took over the team lead in batting by going 4 for 4 in the second game. He drove in three runs, as did Jim Massey who had three hits. In the first game Fred Henderson was the only player to have two hits.

Two errors and singles by Kemple, Dan Cunningham and McVay netted two runs in the first inning of the opener. Henderson singled in the second and came around on a fielder's choice and error. John Cunningham was safe on an error, Massey walked and Henderson singled for the final tally, in the sixth.

The Potters struck in the first inning of the second game, also. McVay singled, was forced by Dan Cunningham, Montgomery doubled for one run and Haney singled for another. In the third the Potters routed loser Elich on an error, two fielder's choices and three straight hits by Tom Chambers, Haney and Massey. Errors and hits by Cunningham, Haney and Massey led to three more runs in the fourth. A single by Montgomery, a walk to Chambers and another hit by Haney closed out the Potter scoring in the sixth.

McVay had a no-hitter going until the sixth, when Ramsey, Mahoney and Halulka singled with one out for a run. Burgettstown, 6-4, got two more in the final inning.

Hitters Have Field Day In IL Play

By The Associated Press

Never was life more miserable than on Sunday for pitchers in the International Baseball League.

Would you believe it — in five games — 95 runs were scored and 22 home run balls disappeared over IL fences.

Nobody worked more efficently at the wrecking business than Toledo, which tied a club record by hitting five home runs — two of them by Mike Derrick — to wallop Richmond 18-7.

The other scores went like this: Tidewater 12, Rochester 3; Louisville 14, Buffalo 10; and, in a doubleheader, Columbus 13, Syracuse 11, and Syracuse 6, Columbus 2.

Fergy Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs started 40 games last season, top figure in the National League.

Ken Dunlevy Gets Award At Banquet

Ken Dunlevy, a senior halfback, was honored as the Most Valuable Football Player at the South Side All-Sports Banquet at the school Saturday night.

Dunlevy was presented a trophy by Anthony Martell of Midland.

Larry Bruno, head football coach at Beaver Falls, was the main speaker. Al Franco, the athletic director at Rochester, served as m.c.

The banquet was sponsored by the South Side Athletic Boosters Club.

Small Field Expected For Derby Race

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Saturday's 95th running of the Kentucky Derby could have one of the smallest fields in modern history and be over in the shortest time in any kind of history.

With only five days of preparation left, the big four of Top Knight, Majestic Prince, Arts and Letters and Dike have scared away virtually all opposition.

Cain Hoy Stable's Ack Ack, favorite in Tuesday's Derby Trial Stakes, could earn a berth with a convincing victory in the one-mile test and perhaps one or two others may go in the $125,000-added Run for the Roses.

If only six start in the 1¼-mile Derby, it will match the smallest field in 62 years and net the smallest purse to the winner since Chateaugay's $108,900 in 1963.

With Ack Ack setting a brisk early pace, Majestic Prince or Arts and Letters—perhaps both—could turn in the first Derby of less than two minutes.

Majestic Prince cracked the six-furlong track record at Churchill Downs Saturday en route to a galloping victory in the Stepping Stone Purse, where he was just a fifth of a second off the standard set by an older horse.

Arts and Letters was just a fraction shy of the 12-year-old track mark at Keeneland last week in winning the Blue Grass Stakes.

These two, along with Top Knight of Florida Derby fame and Wood Memorial winner Dike are just too much for most trainers.

Joe Bollero, trainer of Stepping Stone runner-up Fast Hilarious, said the four were just too much for his colt to face. He was echoed by the keepers of Walking Stick, Mr. Coincidence, Dondougold, Hot Coals and Traffic Mark.

In other Saturday races:

—Promise, high-weighted at 117 pounds, won the $28,450 Cherry Hill Handicap at Garden State by a neck over Master Bold.

—Captain Action scored a resounding eight-length triumph over seven other Maryland breds in the $37,150 Survivor Stakes at Pimlico.

—Kentucky-bred Tell, whose famed father, Round Table, won the same race in 1957, came through as the odds-on favorite in the $32,750 Will Rogers Stakes at Hollywood Park.

—Gunite, a 2-year-old filly making her first start since February, captured the $22,175 Pinafore Stakes at Suffolk Downs.

—Terrible Tiger set a track record of 1:36 for the mile while posting an eight-length victory in the $30,000 Chicagoan Handicap at Sportsman's Park.

Villanova Wins 5 At Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (AP — Villanova had its annual April picnic at the Penn Relays. The Wildcat runners took five of the eight major relay events, leaving nothing but the leavings for the rest of the field.

For 74 years no team could win more than four relay titles in the oldest track and field meet in the nation. Only three teams ever accomplished that. Last year, Villanova won five and just to prove it was no mirage, Coach Jim Elliott's lads did it again this past weekend.

Villanova won the distance medley Friday and then added four more titles Saturday, two in meet record time. The Wildcats ran away from Harvard to win the four-mile relay, outran Tennessee in the sprint medley, left New York University in its wake in the two-mile and warpped up their package with a 20-yard victory over Tennessee in the mile relay. Their 3:17.0 in the sprint medley and 7:20.1 in the two-mile were meet records.

Pigeon Race To Allison Bird

Bill Allison's bird took first in a pigeon race from Zanesville yesterday.

The race was the first of the year for the East Liverpool Homing Pigeon Club. Allison's bird was followed by Pat Connor's, two of Don Coleman's and Vic Giovenco's.

Carrollton Nine Downs Southern 11-5

Carrollton downed Southern Local 11-5 in a Buckeye Border Conference baseball game Friday at Carrollton.

The winners scored six runs in the first inning. Southern narrowed the gap to 7-5, but the Warriors hung on for the win. Len Dailey was the losing pitcher.

Clifton McNeil of the San Francisco 49ers caught 71 passes last season, top figure in the National Football League.

Junior Editors Quiz on CROCODILES

QUESTION: How can you tell a crocodile from an alligator?

* * *

ANSWER: If you can imagine being called upon to judge a contest for the world's ugliest beast, you'd appreciate the point of view of the boy in our picture. The alligator is the big, surly-looking brute on the left. The crocodile is the nasty specimen to the right. The picture shows clearly how to tell these creatures apart. The alligator's snout is wider and rounded at the end. The crocodile's nose, with a more pointed tip, is very narrow for its length. We have both an American alligator and an American crocodile, although the latter is found only in the extreme southern part of Florida. The alligator is larger, growing up to 16 feet and is a sluggish animal. While dangerous to man, the alligator is not so much so as the crocodile, a faster moving, more vicious creature. Crocodiles like warmer, more salty water than alligators. In other parts of the world — India and Africa — crocodiles grow to enormous dimensions. They range to 30 feet in length and are extremely dangerous to human beings.

(Brenda Burris of Malvern, Ark., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I restore the lost gloss in glazed chintz draperies?

A. — This gloss can be revived somewhat with a light starch solution containing wax. Use a piece of wax paraffin or candlewax, stirring into a boiled starch solution until completely melted. When the solution has cooled enough, immerse the draperies, then hang them to dry. When nearly dry, iron them on the right side.

Q. — How can I renovate shoes that have mildewed because of damp storage?

A. — Scrub with a hand brush dipped in lukewarm suds, preferably a castile soap, then wipe them with a damp cloth, and give the shoes a day or two in the sun before polishing them.

Q. — How can I clean very old brass or copper that is very discolored?

A. — By using the finest grade of steel wool, followed by a rubbing with rottenstone and sweet oil.

Gen. Charles DeGaulle—Votes In Losing Cause

PARIS (AP) — Charles de Gaulle stepped out of the French presidency today and retired once more to his home in eastern France, ending more than 18 turbulent years of power that profoundly altered the nation's political outlook, economy and foreign policy.

De Gaulle's resignation became effective at noon. Senate President Alain Poher succeeded him as interim president, to serve until presidential elections are held. There was no ceremony of transfer, and De Gaulle was in seclusion at his home in Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises.

DeGalle Gambled

France's 78-year-old leader had turned a referendum Sunday on comparatively minor constitutional changes into a vote of confidence, gambling that his threat to resign would once more swing the electorate behind him. When the voters rejected his proposals, he announced his retirement in two brief sentences:

"I am ceasing the exercise of my functions as president of the republic. This decision takes effect at noon today."

Premier Maurice Couve de Murville called his Cabinet into session this morning, but the ranks were thinning. Justice Minister Rene Captitant resigned, saying he could not collaborate with Poher because the latter had fought De Gaulle's referendum proposals. Culture Minister Andre Malraux, one of those closest to De Gaulle, said he would also resign.

Poher must organize a presidential election within 20 to 35 days. He has been mentioned as a candidate, but former Premier George Pompidou is considered the favorite.

Nothing forced De Gaulle to quit the job he had held since Jan. 1, 1959, except one of the general's famous ultimatums. Although his term of office did not expire until 1972, he had said he would resign immediately if the French voters did not approve his government reform plan for administrative decentralization and removal of the Senate's few remaining powers.

The results of Sunday's referendum were 11,966,550 votes or 52.87 per cent opposed, 10,669,550 or 47.13 per cent in favor. The outcome was no great surprise. Several public opinion polls published last week showed the trend running against the general.

Fails To Turn Tide

De Gaulle's last television speech Friday night failed to turn the tide.

Premier Maurice Couve de Murville was the first to concede defeat. He declared: "Beginning tomorrow, a new page in our history will be turned." He warned of "a difficult period, perhaps a period of trouble."

Shortly after he spoke, anti-Gaullist demonstrators turned out in the streets of Paris, marching through the Latin Quarter and chanting, "Adieu, De Gaulle."

Police reinforcements were hustled to the area and in several short, sharp clashes, five policemen were hurt and 50 demonstrators were injured. About 70 persons were picked up by police for identity checks.

The uncertainty of what might happen next is certain to put new pressure on the already wobbly franc. France has never recovered from the economic blow of the six-week industrial shutdown last May and June and the 13 per cent wage hikes granted to get the workers back on the job.

De Gaulle defiantly refused to devalue the franc during a crisis last November. If labor unions call off their truce enforced during the referendum campaign and start agitating for new wage increases, the next president may be forced to reassess the franc's value.

While the financial community buzzed with speculation about the franc, the political reaction in Washington and London was officially noncommittal. But there was a general feeling that without De Gaulle, France will slowly improve relations with the United States and Britain.

Barrientos Dies In Copter Crash

Bolivia President Killed; Ex-Professor Takes Helm

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — A former professor took the helm in Bolivia Sunday night, after the death of President Rene Barrientos in a helicopter crash.

Vice President Luis Adolfo Siles-Salinas succeeded Barrientos after military leaders gave him the backing of the Bolivian armed forces.

However, the man with whom Barrientos shared the reins of government for a time after the military coup in 1964, Gen. Alfredo Ovando, was not consulted. Ovando, the chief of staff, was in Washington on a visit. What effect his return will have on Siles-Salinas' tenure was not certain.

Ovando is the only announced candidate so far for president in the 1970 elections. The constitution barred Barrientos from another term.

The 49-year-old president was visiting farming communities in this land-locked South American country when his helicopter got tangled in high tension wires and crashed Sunday. An aide and the helicopter pilot also were killed.

PRESIDENT BARRIENTOS
Crash Claims Leader.

Barrientos felt he had a special rapport with the peasants. Before he left on his tour, he told associates his political strength was in the hills, not in the cities. The rural population provided strong support when he won 62 per cent of the vote and was elected president in 1966.

A measure of that support was evident in 1967 when Ernesto "Che" Guevara came to Bolivia and tried to get support in the countryside for a Bolivian guerrilla movement. The peasants did not respond, and Guevara was trapped and killed.

Barrientos, who was chief of the air force until the 1964 coup, had survived several assassination attempts during his political career, including a bomb that went off under his bed when he was not home.

As his running mate in the 1966 elections, Barrientos chose Siles-Salinas, 45, one of the founders of the Social Democratic party but more of a university professor than a politician.

U.S. Guns Kill 34

5 Americans Victims Of Red Assault

Enemy Used Flame Throwers, Hurled Dynamite Bombs

SAIGON (AP) — Blazing away with flame throwers and hurling dynamite bombs, about 150 North Vietnamese troops attacked an American armored column in the northwest corner of South Vietnam early today.

The U.S. Command said at least 34 of the enemy were killed by American artillery firing point-blank, 90 mm tank guns and heavy machine guns mounted atop armored cars.

The American troops from the 1st Brigade, 5th Mechanized Infantry Division also captured 500 dynamite bombs, 200 antitank rockets and 15 rifles left on the battlefield.

U.S. headquarters said five Americans were killed and 34 wounded. A spokesman said there was "light damage to material," presumbably to the tanks and armored cars. He said security reasons prevented his being specific.

The North Vietnamese charged the night bivouac of the armored column behind an artillery barrage which pinned down the Ameican troops. Some of the attacking troops were reported to have crashed through the outer defenses of the camp before the attack was repulsed, a U. S. spokesman said. The remaining enemy troops pulled back about an hour before dawn.

The fighting raged five miles from the Laotian border and two miles south of the aban-

On 'Dipping Into Slush Funds'

Rhodes Hits Life's Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio denies charges by Life magazine that he "has been dipping into slush funds for years" to cover personal expenses with campaign contributions.

Life said Sunday it studied Rhodes' finances while investigating his recent decision to commute the life sentence of Thomas Licavoli, convicted of murder in 1934.

Rhodes made Licavoli eligible for parole, which has not been granted by the parole board.

Life's article by Denny Walsh said, "The fact that Rhodes has been dipping into slush funds for years without getting caught, suggests that he thought he could get away just as easily with granting clemency to Licavoli."

The Republican governor, in a statement Sunday night, said the article was "ridden with insinuations and irresponsible innuendoes and contains information which the author falsely represents as fact."

"I deny categorically," Rhodes said, "that I have, as governor of Ohio, received any money illegally or immorally, nor have I as a public official in Ohio before I was governor ever received money which could be construed as a bribe or which could be construed as a contribution to a 'slush fund.' I defy anyone to prove the contrary."

Life said an investigation by the Internal Revenue Service of Rhodes' campaign for state auditor "found that Rhodes dipped into the campaign fund for a total of $88,982 from 1954 through 1957. Of this amount, he reported $18,982 as 'gifts and gratuities' on his tax returns. He did not report the balance of $70,000."

4 Americans Among 33 New Cardinals Approved

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI created 33 new cardinals today, giving younger men and seven more nations a place in the highest council of the Roman Catholic Church.

The Pope had named the 33 prelates on March 28. Today, 53 members of the Sacred College of Cardinals met in secret consistory with the Pope and gave their approval to his choices.

The meeting in the consistorial hall of the Apostolic Palace, first of three consistories this week, lasted only 15 minutes. It expanded the Sacred College to 134 members, the largest number in history, and increased the number of nations represented from 39 to 46.

Immediately after Pope Paul announced the 33 names and received the vote of approval, three cardinals set out as papal messengers to notify the new cardinals waiting in three buildings near the Vatican.

The new cardinals included four Americans, giving the United States 10 members of the Sacred College for the first time. The new American cardinals

One Israeli Killed, 3 Hurt When Bus Hits An Explosive

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli laborer was killed and three persons were seriously wounded today when a bus hit an explosive charges east of the Sea of Galilee, the Israeli army announced.

The bus was travelling alongside the Yarmuk River, which forms part of the border between Isael and Jordan, in an aea just before the Yarmuk spills into the Jodan River.

On Sunday, Israeli troops traded fire with Egyptians across the Suez Canal and across the cease-fire line with Arabs in Jordan.

The artillery exchanges with the Egyptians ranged from near Port Said, at the northern end of the 103-mile-long canal, to the Geat Bitter Lake near the south end.

Israeli intelligence officers said the Egyptians have been conducting maneuvers and evacuating civilians from Port Said, possibly in preparation for a major assault against Israel.

The biggest exchange with Jodan took place three miles north of the Dead Sea and lasted 2½ hours. Jordanian spokesmen said they killed or wounded 20 Israelis and destroyed three Israeli tanks. They said there were no Jordanian losses.

The Israelis made no announcement of any casualties.

Pressure mounted on the Lebanese government to let the country be used as a base for guerrilla forays into Israel. Thousands of Syrians marched though Damascus, shaking their fists and demanding that Lebanon rescind its ban on Arab commando raids from its territory.

The Lebanese army relaxed its curfew on Beirut and five other cities by limiting it to the hours of darkness. Political leaders conferred about a new cabinet. A policy on the Arab guerillas satisfying all elements proving difficult to achieve. Premier Rashid Karami resigned last week and refuses to head a new coalition government unless he can get all factions to agree on the policy.

Bloodmobile Collects 105 Pints At Lisbon

LISBON — The Red Cross Bloodmobile collected 105 pints from 10 a. m. to 4 p.m. Friday at the First United Methodist Church.

Blood taken by the unit is credited to the Red Cross blood banks at Salem City Hospital and Salem Central Clinic.

The Lisbon Registered Nurses Association was in charge of the local program and blamed the Friday hours for failure to make the 125-pint-per-trip quota.

The unit's previous stops have been from noon to 6 p.m., enabling people to donate blood after work. Bloodmobile crewmen explained they always change the hours for Friday visits for an early return to Cleveland, where the cruiser is based.

Heavy Rain, Wind Bypass Flooded Area

By The Associated Press

People who live along the Mississippi River in Illinois and Iowa breathed a sigh of relief when predicted heavy rains and high winds bypassed the area.

The light rain that fell on a number of flood stricken communities Sunday produced little rise in the swollen Mississippi, but heavy downpours elsewhere did cause a sharp upward climb in the Missouri River.

The Missouri is expected to go above flood stage later this week.

Round-the-clock patrols continued on dikes in the Quad Cities industrial area in Illinois and Iowa.

Several dikes broke Sunday, endangering some areas, but they were quickly mended.

At Fulton, Ill., the water tunnelled under Illinois Highway 84 and broke out behind a two-mile dike protecting Fulton and nearby communities. Fifty volunteers were sent to the scene with a dozen truckloads of sandbags.

Dick Fleischman, spokesman for the Army engineers, said the quick action by volunteers kept the river from washing away the highway and flooding East Fulton and pat of Fulton.

The engineers said the Mississippi was cresting along an 80-mile stretch from Sabula, Iowa, and Savannah, Ill., southward to Muscatine, Iowa.

The river was flowing under the Centennial Bridge in Davenport, Iowa, at 231,700 cubic feet per second—nearly 10 times its normal rate—the Scott County civil defense department reported.

At St. Louis, the river, two feet below flood stage Sunday, was expected to fall during the next two days, then rise because of the cresting Missouri.

Probe Continues Into Barn Blaze

An investigation was continuing today into a fire which destroyed a barn in Pine Grove Ridge late Saturday night.

The barn was on the farm of Claude Barker. The property is owned by Michael Matays of St. Clair Shores, Mich.

Wellsville volunteer firemen were called at 11:40, but found the blaze out of control. There were no injuries, they said, including livestock.

Chief Robert Lewis said the cause of the fire has not been determined.

Mums The Word On Tax Relief

One of the most powerful figures in congressional financial circles has promised House approval of a comprehensive tax reform measure by early August.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, closed two months of hearings by promising passage of a bill that would exceed proposals by President Nixon.

REP. MILLS and his committee will begin writing the legislation this week. In following the unfolding program, citizens will be able to understand better what is going on if they do not get the word, "relief," mixed up with the word, "reform."

The two are not interchangeable.

Most of the talk so far has been about reform —closing loopholes, eliminating tax shelters, etc.

Relief talk has been skimpy—proposed reduction of the surtax to 5 per cent Jan. 1, 1970, special allowance for poverty-level families, etc.

Everyone is quiet about raising the general $600 exemption to a more realistic figure to give a deserved break to the taxpayers who carry a heavy share of the revenue burden.

And let's take a look at one of the most controversial tax-shelter issues — the 27.5 per cent oil depletion allowance. If it is cut or removed, doesn't it stand to reason that members of the petroleum industry, instead of reducing their profit margin, will pass along the added cost of operation to their customers — the taxpayers? Tax reform is involved in such a congressional move—but not relief.

WE SUPPORT reform as necessary in the search for an equitable taxation system, but we caution those determining policies not to lose sight of the need for relief.

Judicious fiscal judgments based on a sound priority system will enable the federal government to operate within a reasonable budget without continually saddling taxpayers with new revenue demands.

More will be heard about reform in the coming months—and it is welcome—but taxpayers are advised to keep politicians aware the real payoff is in relief.

Discord Within The Peace Corps

The generation gap and the student rebellion epidemic are affecting the Peace Corps program in Liberia.

As a result there is disagreement on many things between the members of the Peace Corps satff and the volunteers. So divergent are the views that the volenteers have formed their own association and prepared a manifesto severely criticizing the established administration of the Peace Corps in Liberia.

Liberia has the highest ratio of volenteer Peace Corps workers to citizens of any nation — one volunteer to every 3,000 Liberians.

INDICATING THE PROBLEMS associated with the generation gap, one of the young volunteer workers, in speaking of the staff headed by 39-year-old William Gaymon, Philadelphia psychologist asked: "They're all the age of our parents, so how can you expect them to treat us as anything but children?"

As for rebellion, the manifesto published by the young volunteers contained this declaration:

"When the institution (Peace Corps) becomes unresponsive, when it in fact becomes not what the volunteers desire it to be, when the volunteers find themselves to be at the end of the chain command, rather than the institutors of command, it is time to make our voices heard and to grasp the reinds of power."

The manifesto enumerated 11 "demands" which later were changed to "propositions."

In commenting on the charges made by the Volunteer Action Committee, Mr. Gaymon said: "Nowhere do you get any feeling that these people are worried about their work in Liberia . . . the kids are too soft; they've been promised too much."

He added that most of the 300 volunteers in Liberia were "too busy helping Liberia" to take part in protests.

One African nation has sent the Peace Corps workers home, declaring they were not wanted. If dissension flowers among Peace Corps workers in other nations, it can be assumed that more countries will decide they can get along without the American volunteers.

A BASICALLY GOOD IDEA, if mismanged or allowed to get out of control, can do the United States more harm than its volunteers can do good.

It is doubtful if many nations willingly would import the makings of the same kinds of trouble this country is experiencing with its youth on the nation's campuses.

Shopping Around For Welfare

The Supreme Court decision striking down state residency requirements for welfare recipients could cause a big headache for some states.

The Ohio Welfare Department has announced it isn't expecting an immediate jump in relief cases.

Nevertheless, a "shopping-around" trend could take place with welfare families migrating to northern industrial states from southern states that pay a lower welfare rates.

The mass migration from southern rural areas to metropolitan areas in the north is a recognized factor in the creation of slums.

Residency requirements have acted as a deterrent to migration that was not motivated by a desire to seek better opportunities.

With the requirements invalidated, it is anybody's guess to what extent individual states will be affected.

When states are finding their revenue won't stretch to cover general expenditures and welfare costs are rising each year, any additional welfare cost will certainly be felt.

We find ourselves in agreement with Chief Justice Warren, who cast a dissenting vote and said he believes Congress has the power to impose minimal nationwide residency requirements or to authorize the states to do so.

Chemical Breakthrough

The magazine, Chemical Week, has reported a chemical breakthrough which conceivably could have far-reaching effects.

The report indicates a hormone treatment developed by the Rubber Research Institute is capable of increasing the yield of rubber trees as much as 300 per cent and without damaging the trees.

If the technique proves effective over a period of time and if it can be adapted to other types of plant life, conceivably mankind could benefit from a greatly increased food supply.

Imagine fruit crops and vegetable crops such as potatoes and tomatoes being increased 300 per cent. And if the hormone treatment could be effectively used on rice plants, what an impact it would have on the nations where rice is the basic food for many millions.

Such a development would drastically affect the economies of nations and international politics as well. But it could result in the reduction of hunger and its accompanying misery in many parts of the earth.

While research goes on there is hope for the hungry of the world.

Smoking Best For Some

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Many people have given up smoking since all the bad publicity and, in the majority of cases, I admire them for it. But occasionally there is an exception.

I'm thinking now of my friend, De Vries, as an example. De Vries was a "two-pack-a-day" man and he was very upset about it. He finally decided to quit and, at lunch one day, he said he wanted me to be the first to know. "I can do without it," De Vries said. "All it takes is will power."

Art Buchwald

I wished him well.

A WEEK LATER I saw him and asked him how it was going. "I haven't had a cigarette in seven days," he said proudly.

"Bless you," I said. "Your wife must be very proud of you."

"I wouldn't know," De Vries said.

"Why not?"

"I moved out of the house three days ago. And I want to tell you something, I don't miss it at all. What a rat race. She was screaming all the time, the kids were driving me nuts, no one would listen to anything I had to say. Maybe I shouldn't have slugged her but . . . "

"You slugged her?" I said.

"WELL, IT WAS JUST A TAP. Believe you me, it's been building up for a long time. I mean—I'm amazed I didn't do it before."

I was very disturbed by the news but I went about my business. I didn't see De Vires again for 10 days. Then I ran into him on the street.

"Hey," he said. "You know, I haven't had a cigarette in 17 days. I don't even miss it."

"That's great," I replied. "How are things going at the office?"

"What office?" he asked.

"Where you work!"

"Heck, I quit four days ago. I was sick and tired of putting up with all the stuff they were handing out. They blamed me for losing the Waring account."

"But you had the Waring account."

"I did until Waring started giving me all the flack about not returning his calls. I told him I had other accounts besides his and I'd get to his calls when I was good and ready. Boy, did he scream to the old man about that. So I told the old man he had to choose between me or Waring."

"That's terrible."

"Who cares? Ever since I gave up smoking, my tennis game is great and I've been out on the court every day."

Then he turned up at the house one day. "Well," he said, "I haven't had a cigarette in 47 days. I'm adding years on to my life."

"Swell. What can I do for you?"

"THAT'S A PATRONIZING THING to say. You act as if I was going to hit you up for a loan. Well, I was, but forget it. You're like everyone else, mean and rotten and spiteful and a bore. I have a good mind to punch you in the nose."

"De Vries, I don't know how to say this to you, but as a friend, I think I should. Go back to smoking. There are some people who should give it up and some people who shouldn't. It's nothing to be ashamed of. Besides you've proved you can give it up and that's the main thing."

My little sermon worked. De Vries is now back with his family; he has a new job where he's doing quite well; we're friends again; and the last time I saw him he said to me, happly, "I don't know how to thank you. Did you know I'm back to two packs of cigarettes a day?"

Musings From Max

By MARTIN MILLER

There sure are some strange things going on over there around Korea, what with all our spying and their violent counteraction.

Ordinarily we laymen assume that espionage is like an iceberg—only a seventh of it ever appears on the surface. And here within a year or so we have lost a spy ship and a spy plane.

Now with our sending in ships and planes to protect our spying, our espionage activity may be expected to continue at the former rate and possibly increase. No telling how much fire is there but there is a lot of smoke.

Smooth continuity in the United States federal government is considered one of our great advantages which raises the curious circumstance that President Nixon, who was supported by most conservatives, is now drawing fire from many conservatives because he has not yet broken sharply from the Johnson policies. But he still has plenty of time, including the probable appointment of perhaps as many as four Supreme Court justices.

It is surprising how many high officials, senators and others, are speaking out in favor of recognizing Red China as a means of possibly easing relations with that country.

Somewhat in the same vein it has been suggested that the most hopeful way of ending the hijacking of planes to Havana is for the United States to establish diplomatic relations with Cuba so the hijackers could be extradited for trial in the U.S.

A proposal to reduce taxes on improved properties in ghettoes and other areas as an incentive to maintain better housing is being considered at the state level. On the face of it seems elementary and one wonders why it was so long in coming. At present owners who improve their property are penalized in a way by higher taxes because of the increased value of their holdings. It may be the way to eliminate slums.

We like President Nixon's remarks at a White House reception for several hundred Republican leaders. He told them, "We want to thank you for making it possible for us to invite you. Without your help we wouldn't be here. And with your help, we're going to stay here." Calls to mind Casey Stengel's memorable comment when his New York Yankees won one of their many pennants: "I never could have done it without the players."

With all the criticism of our courts these days it was noteworthy to see this comment by a law enforcement officer: "The 'bust 'em' days of policing are over. This isn't a police state. . . . The courts have made our job more difficult. But they're only reasserting constitutional rights that already are there. We just have to educate ourselves on the decisions and rely on the people to change the law if change is needed."

Thoughts

"Finally, brethren, farewell. Mend your ways, heed my appeal, agree with one another, live in peace, and the God of love and peace will be with you."—II Cor. 13:11.

"For its is God's will that by doing right you should put to silence the ignorance of foolish men."—I Peter 2:15.

"What the world has to eradicate is fear and ignorance."—Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovak statesman.

"So whatever you wish that men would do to you, do so to them; for this is the law and the prophets."—Matthew 7:12.

DAVID LAWRENCE

A Delicate Situation

WASHINGTON — Whether it be called a "cold war" or a "near hot war," the United States is currently engaged in the largest mobilization of its naval forces since 1950. This is taking place in three dangerous areas—the Mediterranean, the Far East and Southeast Asia.

America and its NATO allies today have more than 60 warships and 300 airplanes carrying on exercises off the coast of Sardinia in the Mediterranean, while the Soviet Union has about the same number of vessels—over half of them combat ships—in these waters.

In the Far East, the United States has sent a part of its fleet from Vietnam waters to the Sea of Japan so that 28 warships, including four aircraft carriers, now are near the coast of Korea.

APART FROM the obligation to mobilize naval vessels in connection with the shooting down of an American reconnaissance plane, the United States has a duty to protect the 56,000 troops it has in South Korea. For the last several months, North Korea has been threatening a military movement into South Korea.

With a delicate situtation such as faces the United States in Southeast Asia, the Middle East and in the vicinity of Korea, it is strange that inside this country many people, including members of Congress, are talking about "pulling out of Vietnam."

The Soviets outwardly are supposed to be helping to achieve some form of peace in Vietnam. But their real objective is to devise a formula to allow America to withdraw its troops and "save face." Back of this idea is the Communist hope of getting the kind of peace agreement which will enable North Vietnam to take over South Vietnam and thus give the Communists a victory.

The Moscow government is for the moment much concerned about Israel's skirmishes with the Arabs and wants to avoid a new outbreak of hostilities. "Negotiation," it is assumed, would be more productive of Communist gains or at least might keep the sitation from building up.

The Russians are glad that the United States is finding it necessary to withdraw some of its naval strength from Vietnam waters. This may have been one of the reasons the North Koreans, inspired by Moscow, stirred up trouble in seizing the "Pueblo" as well as in shooting down the reconnaissance plane last week.

The delicate problems in Europe have been complicated by the uprisings in Czechoslovakia, which prompted the Russians to send in their occupying armies. Moscow is anxious to tighten control over its satellites in Eastern Europe and doesn't look with favor on any reorganization or enlargement of the forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

So on four fronts—Eastern Europe and NATO, the Middle East and the Mediterranean, the war in Vietnam, and the confrontations in Korea on land and sea—the Soviets are deeply involved and doing their utmost to make it difficult for the United States to assure even a status quo, or stabilization of the existing situation.

Plenty of Communist effort has been exerted to stir up troubles inside this country and thereby to intensify the opposition to our government's military preparations. The anti-ballistic-missile debate heartens the Russians, as they believe it will force the administration to agree not to build up its defenses in the missile field and will enable the Soviet Union to acheive a superiority in nuclear weapons.

THE UNITED NATIONS naturally is looked upon as an instrumentality for peace not merely in the Middle East but in and around Korea. The American troops now stationed in South Korea are part of a U.N. army. The U.N. force was sent to Korea through a collective action under the U.N. charter. It was voluntarily joined by various countries, including America.

If, therefore, North Korea does anything drastic to bring about a resumption of the war against South Korea, the U.N. will have to take decisive steps, perhaps calling for more military aid from member countries.

Military and naval mobilizations do not necessarily mean that a war is inevitable but several times in this century it has been the tragic result.

If the meaning of American policy at this time could be explained clearly to the people, including the dissidents, a unified country would have even more impact on the Russians than a redistribution of our naval forces in far-off seas.

De Gaulle

cooperation with the other members of the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and enhanced chances of Britain gaining entry into the European Economic Community.

But government ministers in London felt it would be a long time before basic French policy changes. Some even felt De Gaulle might pull one of his Jack-in-the-box surprises and reappear as a candidate in the presidential elections.

Other De Gaulle policies over which question marks now hover include the French embargo on arms to Israel, French-German relations and the attitude of Paris toward Moscow.

De Gaulle is the last of the great leaders of World War II to step out. A World War I veteran, he was a colonel when the second war broke out and rose to general before the German occupation of France. He refused to recognize the collaborationist Vichy regime, fled to London, and from there rallied the Free French Forces. His wartime battles with President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill were legendary, but he kept his vanquished country one of the major allies.

Drops Out 12 Years

De Gaulle headed the provisional government in liberated France from 1944 to 1946, then quit for the first time and dropped out for 12 years. He re-emerged as premier, called back in 1958 by an uprising of the military and right-wing settlers in Algeria.

The soldiers and settlers who called De Gaulle back did it because they thought he would keep Algeria French. But after he was elected president in December 1958, he crushed another settlers' revolt and a year later granted the colony independence. France's other African colonies got the same freedom as De Gaulle entrenched his power at home.

De Gaulle survived two assassination attempts by right-wing terrorists. He pushed through a new constitution setting up the Fifth Republic with a strong president and downgrading the National Assembly that held authority in the Fourth Republic.

Firemen Called In Grass Blazes

WEST POINT — West Point volunteer firemen were called to three grass blazes Sunday afternoon.

At 12:50, they rushed to the Dale Potts residence on McCormick Rd., where fire burned about an acre of land. Chief Ed Bergman said four or five neighbors had the flames out when the truck arrived. Eleven firemen answered the call.

At 3:20, another grass fire burned off about two acres of wooded area along Route 45, a quarter-mile south of West Point. Twelve men responded.

Another fire, started from a campfire, was extinguished at the camp belonging to VFW Post 66 of East Liverpool on the Cream Ridge Rd. About an acre of wooded area was burned. Ten men and one truck were at the scene. The fire occurred at 5:20.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I drive nails more easily into hard wood?

A. — By first dipping your nails into a thick grease, such as the kind used to lubricate a washing machine. By taking a minute or two to do this, you'll eliminate a lot of wasted bent nails and extra hammering.

Q. — How can I remove grease spots from hardwood floors?

A. — First scrub the spots with very hot water. Then drop ordinary peroxide of hydrogen on the spots, and after this has dried, in most cases the stain will have vanished.

4-H'ers Plan For Work On School Lawn

LISBON — Good weather prevailing, Columbiana County 4-H'ers will begin their landscaping work at the Robert Bycroft School for Retarded Children at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Boys and girls, club advisers and many parents are volunteering time and machinery to seed the lawn.

The building on Route 172, three miles west of Lisbon, has been in use since January. Open house and dedication are scheduled Sundav afternoon.

Gordon L. McDonald, county 4-H agent, said the landscaping was undertaken as a service project, since the county has no money available in the school fund to do the work.

The 4-H'ers received $500 from the Sears - Roebuck Foundation to tackle the community beautification project.

Plans are to seed the three acres of lawn this spring and plant ornamental shrubbery around the foundation next fall.

In case of bad weather or wet soil, the work dav will be held the next suitable Saturday, McDonald said.

Charles Darwin's visit in 1835 to the Galapagos Islands, 600 miles west of Ecuador, and his studies of the unusual animal life there provided most of the facts for his famous theory of evolution.

Rites Unite Miss Tenzek, Donald O. Rizer At Church

A full - length gown of ivory peau de soie satin was worn by Miss Elaine Antoinette Tenzek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Tenzek, of Lisbon RD 2, when she became the bride of Airman 1C Donald O. Rizer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Rizer of Annesley Rd., East Liverpool, April 19 at 11 a. m. at St. Philip Neri Church in Dungannon.

The Rev. Fr. John J. Pertz officiated for the double - ring ceremony before an altar background of white lilies. Art Heassly, soloist, sang "On This Day Beautiful Mother" as the bride placed her bouquet before the statue of the Blessed Virgin. Miss Jodephine Furey was at the organ.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride was attired in an empire - style gown with an A-line skirt. The bodice and full sleeves were ivory georgette. The sleeves had elbow-length satin cuffs trimmed with small buttons. The mandarin collar was accented with beaded ivory lace, which also trimmed the bodice and the hem of the gown. A small cathedral train complemented the dress.

Her full - length double silk illusion veil was held in place by a flowered headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses with pink cymbidiums, violets and stephanotis.

Mrs. Robert Reynolds, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She appeared in a gown of lavender satin fashioned in A-line style with a mandarin collar and full - length Gibson girl sleeves. The gown was belted at the empire waistline with deep purple velvet ribbon held with a ballerina pin. The neckline also was accented with matching purple ribbon. Her headpiece was of artificial violets and purple tulle. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and lavender carnations.

Miss Margie Rizer, sister of the bridegroom, and Misses Jeanie and Kathy Tenzek, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore dresses and headpieces identical to that of the matron of honor. They carried colonial bouquets of violets, stephanotis and pink roses. The gowns for the wedding party were made by Mrs. Viola Deidrick of Lisbon and their headpieces were made by the bride.

Jack Marshalek of Libon served as best man. Ushers were George M. Rizer of East Palestine, Robert Reynolds of Wellsville and John Tenzek of Lisbon.

The mother of the bride chose a beige coat, and dress ensemble with pink accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a pink coat and dress ensemble with beige accessories. Each complemented their attire with pink cymbidium corsages.

A RECEPTION followed at the church hall, where purple and lavender decorations were used. A wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the bride's table and was surrounded with green and white carnations and greenery.

MRS. DONALD RIZER
Residing At Air Base.

Mrs. John Marshalek of Lisbon, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Jeanna Roethlisberger of Canton, Mrs. Paula Marshalek and Miss Karen Marshalek, cousins of the bride, served.

Following the reception, the young couple left for the Sheppard Air Force bast in Texas, where he is stationed. They will reside near the base. For going away, she wore a white dress with brown accessories enhanced with an orchid corsage.

South Africa Has Its First Woman Judge

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — For the first time in its history South Africa has a woman judge. Miss Leonora van den Heever was appointed acting judge in the Supreme Court and the question of how she should be addressed in court immediately arose.

Senior advocates (barristers) said that as South Africa follows English precedence and in England women judges are called "M'Lady," it will have to be "M'Lady" in South Africa too. Miss Van den Heever's father was Judge F. P. van den Heever, a Judge of Appeal and of the Supreme Court.

Dr. Barnard Upholds Heart Transplants

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prof. Christiaan Barnard, the surgeon who performed the world's first human heart transplant, criticized opponents of heart transplants during a lecture at Johannesburg's University of the Witwatersrand.

"I think it is more immoral to bury a heart for the worms to devour than to use it to save the life of a human being," he said.

Plane's Crash, Car Mishaps Keep Area Patrolmen On Go

A private plane crash and several auto accidents were investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol during the weekend.

The aircraft pilot was admitted to Salem City Hospital Saturday and released Sunday.

Two East Liverpool residents were admitted to City Hospital with injuries received in a one-car accident Saturday on Mick Rd. about a half-mile north of Route 45.

Charles Andric of the Ceramic Hotel, a passenger, suffered contusions of the chest. He was in "fair" condition this morning.

Another passenger, Delores Davis, daughter of Bobby Davis of 1701 Alpha St., suffered lacerations of the scalp and a fractured left ankle. She was "fair" today.

—:—

THE PATROL said John H Kindsvatter, 16, of 932 North St. was driving a 1963 compact south on the township road when he lost control on a curve. The auto went left of center, off the east side and struck a tree. It then spun around and went over a small bank.

Kindsvatter was treated for a wound of the right leg and released. A passenger, Alberta Weyand, was treated for a contusion of the right foot and released.

Kindsvatter's auto was demolished.

Roy Newton, 42, of Fountain Inn, S. C., operating an air craft belonging to Bob Jones University of Greenville, S. C., was taking off from a field on the Melvin Miller property at New Waterford RD 1, near Route 7, when a wheel struck utility wires and the aircraft nosed to the ground and burned.

Newton, a flight instructor, was pulled from the plane by two other South Carolina men who had flown north with him, but who were visiting in the area and not in the plane at the time of the accident.

The accident occurred at 5:55 p.m. according to the patrol.

—:—

IN ANOTHER traffic mishap Investigated Saturday, on Route 30 about a half-mile north of Route 45, Stanley D. Virtue Jr., 21, of Steubenville attempted to make a left turn into a service station and his auto was struck in the rear by a 1967 sedan operated by Iasaac McRae,62, of Cleveland. McRae was cited for improper passing.

The accident was timed at 6:50 p.m.

Two bicycle riders and an auto figured in an acident on Route 267 about a half - mile north of the Y. & O. Rd. Sunday at 5:05 p.m.

Paul E. Rizer, 15, of Ross St. lost control of his northbound bicycle and upset on the road. Charles A. Trautman, 15, of Ross St. swerved his bicycle to miss Rizer and also upset his bicycle, then slid on the roadway, striking a 1968 convertible driven by Lawrence R. Messenger, 55, of Wellsville RD 1.

Both boys complained of injuries, but apparently were not treated.

A woman driver was treated and she and another driver cited as the result of an accident on Route 267 about two miles north of East Liverpool at 6:05 p.m.

Margie A. Griffin, 16, of 1537 Lisbon St. was southbound and her auto struck a parked station wagon belonging to Richard Moffett, 41, of Center St.

The Griffin girl was treated at City Hospital for a laceration of the forehead and released.

She was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance. Moffett was cited for parking on the roadway.

Janet L. Rinehart, 16, of 261 W. 7th Ave. was driving a 1964 coach south on Route 170, just south of Route 154, when her auto was struck by a 1967 sedan operated by David Muntean, 17, of 22 Morris St., Lisbon.

No one was injured. The accident was timed Sunday at 2:45 p.m.

Another accident occurred on the Sprucevale - St. Clair Rd. just north of East Liverpool when Timothy Bennett, 18, of South Hollywood Dr. stopped for another northbound vehicle making a left turn and his auto was struck in the rear by a 1962 coach driven by James D. Reese, 18, of RD 2. Reese was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

No one was injured.

Convention Every 2 Years Gets Mansfield's Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has endorsed the idea of a Democratic National Convention every two years as a way to put political issues into better focus.

"The idea of a national convention every two years has a great deal of value," Mansfield said in an interview.

"It could flesh out the party policies so that the voters in Senate and House races would know where the Democrats stand nationally on the issues.

"The convention would have to be responsive to all segments of opinion in the party and it should represent all sections of the country. I believe it could play a worthwhile role in focusing the issues of the day."

Such a midterm convention was suggested by Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the 1968 Democratic vice presidential nominee, at last week's initial hearing of the Commission on Party Structure and Delegate Selection.

With last year's turbulent Chicago convention in mind, Muskie argued that the platform runs second best to the selection of a presidential nominee.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who bid unsuccessfully for the top nomination at Chicago, suggested a yearly convention.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has ruled unconstitutional the restrictions on picketing and demonstrations outside the White House.

However, the ruling of District Judge William B. Bryant Saturday was stayed by the Court of Appeals which will now hear arguments and decide to uphold or throw out the decision.

At issue was the limit of 100 pickets at one time on the White House curb, the requirement of a permit to picket there, and the limit of 500 people for any demonstrations across the street in Lafayette Square.

The restrictions were drawn in August, 1967, by the Department of Interior, which has jurisdiction of the park and presidential grounds.

The suit was brought by the American Civil Liberties Union in behalf of five organizations that frequently picket the President's home.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's Agricultural Research Service asked for a million dollars today to find ways of coping with two billion tons of animal excretions every year.

Animal wastes have the potential to contaminate water, produce offensive odors and dust and serve as a spawning ground for vermin, Dr. G. W. Irving Jr., chief of the service, said in a statement to a House appropriations subcommittee.

The problem has grown in recent years he said, with the concentration of beef cattle into feed lots, centralized poultry and hog raising, and larger dairies.

A 10,000-head cattle feeder lot is estimated to produce 260 tons of animal waste every day.

The requested grant of $1,074,800 would go for research to determint the properties of the waste, better ways to reduce, use or dispose of it, and to see if the pollution potential of waste can be cut.

—:—

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget, tax and fiscal policy can combat inflation better than wage and price controls or guidelines, says Labor Secretary George P. Schultz.

Wage and price guidelines "haven't worked" in the past, Schultz said Sunday. As for the Nixon administration approach, he said, "it will be the middle of the year before we begin to see the impact of these policies."

The secretary appeared on the NBC program "Meet the Press."

Schultz defended the administration decision to close 59 Job Corps centers by saying it was like a poker game, "there's no point in putting good money after bad."

Beaver Countian Found Innocent Of Manslaughter

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (AP) — A district court jury in Alamogordo took just 17 minutes Saturday to find two men innocent of involuntary manslaughter.

Leonard Pawlenko, 21, of Hempstead, N.Y., and Lawrence Schallot, 21, of New Brighton, Pa., were charged in connection with a Feb. 2 fire in Alamogordo which destroyed the Wilward Hotel, did $125,000 worth of damage, and took three lives.

The three attorneys for the defense, Jack Whorton for Pawlenko, and John Otto and Jack Spence for Schaflot, emphasized in their closing arguments that the evidence in the case was circumstantial and that there was no conclusive proof the fire was deliberately set.

The jury was instructed that it had choice of six verdicts—five varying degrees of guilt, and an innocent verdict.

Charge Clarified

SALINEVILLE — A hearing will be held Wednesday for James P. Pierson of Summitville RD 1 who was arrested Friday by Police Chief Gordon Sweeney for rapid acceleration and "peeling" tires. A Review story Saturday incorrectly listed the charge as stealing tires.

Automation . . .

Machines can be built to perform any function done by man — but no machine can operate independently of him.

The great wonder of AUTOMATION is really the human brain . . . an instrument completely automatic.

Duplicating the human brain would mean 10 billion transistor valves to activate its cells . . . 1 million kilowatts to provide power for the transistors . . . and a wiring system connecting 30 billion-million cells to the nerve-fibers carrying impulses back and forth . . .

After all this, we'd have an electronic brain, automatically storing data, perhaps capable of reason, because of its memory . . . but still incapable of imagination and without a sense for moral values. We'd have a brain without mind . . . without a soul!

ANN LANDERS

Anti-Embalming Parents

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a boy 13, got A's and B's on my report card and have never caused anybody any trouble. My problem is my parents.

For the school science fair, I'm doing a project on embalming. I've gone to the local funeral home to get books and information on the subject.

The apprentice embalmer is a young fellow who explained many things. He has offered to take me to embalming school to meet his instructors and watch an embalming.

My parents say they don't want me to go there. I say it would help me in my project. I already know so much about embalming I could probably do a job myself. But unless I actually see one, my science fair project will not be authentic. Please help me. — J.R.

Dear J.R.: If your parents say no, respect their wishes. Wait until you're 16 and then, if you still are interested, write again and I'll intervene in your behalf.

Pessimistic Miss

Dear Ann: I'm a 15-year-old washout (female). People pretend to like me but I don't have any real friends. I was elected to a student government office in February because I had just broken my leg and everyone felt sorry for me.

I'm a clumsy ox and can't do anything gracefully, I'm a lousy tennis player, fell off a bicycle when I had the greatest bike date of all time, and I'm a rotten skier. (That's how I broke my leg.)

I say dumb things because silence embarasses me. I always laugh at the wrong time. This is a very honest description of myself, Ann. Can you help me? — Miss Undesirable of 1969.

Dear Miss: The "inadequacies" of which you seem painfully aware are, I'm sure, magnified in your mind's eye. Nobody pays THAT much attention to what you say and do.

People who think too well of themselves are a bore. Your problem is the reverse, and equally unattractive. It's a drag to hear a person run himself into the ground constantly. Knock it off.

Time To Stop

Dear Ann: I'm not even married and already I have mother-in-law problems.

My finance is the apple of his mother's eye. No girl would have been good enough. But Brad's mother has let the whole world know she's very disappointed in her son's choice.

I'm the wrong religion, I'm not pretty enough, I don't qualify intellectually, socially or financially. She has even said these things to my face, always being careful to add, "Nobody's perfect."

I dread having dinner at Brad's house. His mother has yet to call me by name. The atmosphere is so heavy you could cut it with a knife. Brad knows all this and says he's sorry.

I've done everything under the sun to win her favor and I've failed. What should I do? — Utpight.

Dear Up: Stop trying to butter up the old battleax. Don't strain to be friendly. Behave in a natural manner and you'll feel less like a hypocrite.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

De Gaulle Knew Something Was Wrong Within 6 Hours

COLOMBEY-LES-DEUX-EGLISES (AP) — There was a little cheer, a weak "Vive De Gaulle," and the old man headed up the flight of stairs to the ballot box, lurching forward because he is 78 years old, blinking because his eyes are weak.

He waved at the top of the stairs for a second. There was no color in his face, only deep brown circles under his eyes.

Charles de Gaulle voted quickly Sunday, left the room and went home just before noon. Within a little more than six hours he knew things were going wrong. Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises was the first place to tell him so.

It was not a betrayal in the village, where people remember when the general drove an old car and played in the garden with his children. It was a change of mood that reflected the change occurring all over the country.

Paul Fontanil, De Gaulle's chauffeur, wrote down on a pad at 6:15 p.m. that the general's referendum had passed in Colombey with 158 "qui" votes, but that 21 of the neighbors said 'non." He rushed home with the news.

Those 21 nos startled some of the old people in the village hall, with its portraits of De Gaulle behind and in front of the ballot box. There had been only nine nos at the last referendum, and only two and one the times before that.

The word went out quickly—something was wrong. Who was responsible? An old woman who wore her slippers to the vote counting said it was the people at the cheese factory on the far side of the village.

"They're young and you can't tell about them," she said.

Across the country the tide flowed stronger against De Gaulle. A direct line from the Elysee Palace in Paris brought the bad news to the president.

In Janine's Cafe, the only one in town, there was quiet but not stupefaction. Andre Bidault, a farm laborer in rubber boots and coveralls, said:

"The damned French, they don't know how to vote. They've pushed him out the door because he was old. I know him, you know, I can tell you all about him."

By 11 p.m., the lights were out in tht village of 350 persons. In their house just off the church square, De Gaulle's bodyguards stopped eating and watched television. They waited for special instructions that did not come.

All was quiet at La Boisserie, the house behind the trees at the end of De Gaulle Street, where the old general lives.

Democrats Plan May 14 Meeting

COLUMBIANA — "Victory in 1969 and 1970" will be the theme when the Columbiana County Democratic Central and Executive Committees meet May 14 at Pavilion 4 of Firestone Park here.

Don R. Gosney, county chairman, said plans will be made to assist cities and villages with November election campaigns and preparations launched for next year's gubernatorial and other state and county elections.

Gosney said an effort will be made to get more committeemen and committeewomen active in the party.

"Too many people are becoming passive to their party and country," he declared.

Zoo Animals Named For People In Zoo

NEW YORK (AP) — Where do zoo animals get their individual names?

Mostly from zoo people, according to the Central Park Zoo.

Bill, a newborn aoudad, was named for a Parks Department executive, who prefers not to be identified.

John and Marilyn, parents of the baby goat, were named after head keeper John Kinzig and his wife.

Visitors sometimes are honored. Charlie, the tiger, is named for a man who visited the zoo every weekend for 15 years.

A new baby rhesus monkey is named Ashley because it was born on Ash Wednesday. Ashley's mother is so protective that zoo keepers have been unable to examine the baby to determine its sex.

Kinzig says, "If Ashley is a girl, we'll call the monkey Lady Ashley."

Band Award Presented To Hargreaves

Stanley Hargreaves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hargreaves of Lisbon St. Ext., received the "Joe Thornberry Award" during the annual spring concert or the East Liverpool High School band Friday night.

Hargreaves plans to attend Youngstown University and major in music.

The award was begun in 1956 in honor of Thornberry, who had been an outstanding student and musician at the high school. Thornberry was killed in a plane crash near Chicago in 1955 while en route from Texas where he had taken flight training. He would have graduated from Ohio Weslyan University in 1956.

The award, sometimes a plaque and sometimes a trophy, will be continued until 1973.

About 350 attended the concert.

Pennybaker Advanced To Bank Aide Position

David C. Pennybaker of Winthrop, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pennybaker of 1512 Jennings Ave., and a 1961 graduate of East Liverpool High School, has been promoted to special assistant to the manager in the stock transfers department of the National Shawnmut Banks of Boston.

He has been with the firm for five years, and has lived in Winthrop for eight years.

Pennybaker, who is married to the former Joyce Martine of Charlestown, Mass., attended Ohio State University at Columbus and the Northeastern University at Boston.

In Duncan, Okla., according to "Time Capsule 1959," bank teller Laverne Parks developed a rash on her left hand, learned from her doctor that she was allergic to money.

Students Help Save Records As Fire Hits Florida School

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Sweating students lugged tons of equipment and priceless records from Florida State University's Westcott Hall Sunday as fire ravaged the top floor of the aging administration building.

"We can't keep them out," said an exasperated fireman.

Men in shorts and football jerseys highballed down the steps with file cabinets, folders and books as flames crackled over head.

Coeds in bell-bottom pants and Bermudas formed a fire brigade and, huffing and puffing, passed the salvage to a distant spot on Westcott lawn.

"We got magnificent help from the students," said acting President J. Stanley Marshall, who has seen angry student protests in recent months in front of the same building.

Clad in T-shirt, shorts and sneakers, Marshall directed the relay teams.

"A couple of people started going in," said Brewster Banks, 19, of Tampa, "and then everybody said we'd go in and help."

A fireman punched through a third-story window with an ax and dropped typewriters and other office equipment to a taut tarpaulin held by students below.

"This was the true student body, the kind of students you can always count on," said Gov. Claude Kirk, who watched the fire with his step-daughter Adriana.

FOR THE YOUNG MAN

One of the more important decisions facing the young man who has just become engaged is that of selecting the engagement diamond. This is one purchase that is really "forever", and if done wisely, will be a joy and not a disappointment. Perhaps I can help in this matter by giving a few tips about diamond values and qualities.

Whether you buy your first diamond from me or elsewhere (and we do have a fine selection), there are certain basics to consider. First of all, determine how much you have to spend on a diamond. An amount of approximately one to two months salary is usually suggested.

Second, learn something of the "four C's" which is the basis for diamond pricing. The American Gem Society Diamond Grading Standards lists them as Cutting, Color, Clarity and Carat Weight. Unless the diamond is scientifically cut and properly polished, the stone lacks brilliance and is greatly reduced in beauty. The finest color in a diamond is pure, crystal white. "Blue White" is a term that is not usually used by ethical jewelers since it is rather misleading.

Clarity is the absence of any internal inclusions which may mar the appearance or the durability of the diamond. A flawless diamond according to FTC regulations, is one that does not show obvious inclusions under ten-power magnification. Minor inclusions may reduce the value of the stone, without harming beauty or durability. All of this is fully explained in some of our free brochures. Stop by soon for further facts.

The other finalists in Saturday's event were John Michaels of Pittsburgh and Nicholas Mourat of Weirton.

Francis J. House, governor of Area 12, served as chief judge and Joseph Kriss, assistant governor of Area 12, as chief timer. They are members of the local club. James Cunningham and Vincent Maola of the East Liverpool group also assisted in the judging.

Walter Rudin, governor of Area 2, gave the call to order; invocation was by John Castelli, assistant governor of Area 1, and the pledge of allegiance was led by Edmund L. Flint, assistant governor of Area 3.

Introductions were made by Gerald Warren, lieutenant governor of the Southern Division.

Dinner was followed by tabletopics presented by Harry Aurouze, assistant governor of Area 2, with the subject "Mother Goose Rhymes" as interpreted in today's world.

—:—

PARTICIPATING in this phase of the program were Charles G. Kramer, senior lieutenant governor; W. R. Castonguay, lieutenant governor of the Eastern Division; Kenneth Ramsey, treasurer; Floyd L. Rice, public relations director, and Ted Castrodale, club extension director.

Ramsey received a book, "Fairy Tales," for the best tabletopic.

Trophies were presented Hagedorn and Pope by Eugene E. Friedline, district governor, for their advancing to the Butler competition. Mourat and Michaels received certificates.

Gerald Warren, lieutenant governor of the Southern Division and his committee, arranged the program. James Veraldi gave the benediction.

doned Marine combat base at Khe Sanh.

The 5th Mechanized Infantry has been sweeping through the area for several days, trying to impede enemy supply and infiltration routes from Laos. Last Friday, North Vietnamese troops slashed their way into another night bivouac of American and South Vietnamese armored cars two miles east of the Laotian border, killed three Americans, eight South Vietnamese and an Australian, and wounded 12 Americans and 43 South Vietnamese. Thirty enemy soldiers were reported killed.

At the opposite end of the demilitarized zone, South Vietnamese infantrymen fought with North Vietnamese troops Sunday and reported 41 of the enemy killed. South Vietnamese losses were two killed and six wounded, a spokesman said.

Military spokesmen also reported that two persons were killed, 66 wounded and 20,000 left homeless by a huge fire and explosions at a U.S. Marine ammunition dump in Da Nang.

The spokesmen said one American Marine and one Vietnamese child were killed, and 50 Vietnamese civilians, 14 U.S. servicemen and two Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

South Vietnamese military headquarters said more than 2,000 tin and wooden-roofed shanties were destroyed or damaged almost beyond repair by fire or concussion from the exploding ammunition. Some of the huts were in camps for families of Vietnamese soldiers stationed in the Da Nang area.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the 20,000 persons evacuated from the area were being temporarily resettled in two villages on the outskits of Da Nang.

Earlier, the government said initial reports indicated 100 persons were believed killed or wounded. A spokesman said this had been based on estimates made during the height of the explosions and fire.

Associated Press correspondent Richard Pyle reported that hundeds of tons of bombs, artillery shells, TNT, rockets and small arms ammunition exploded, showering large chunks of burning shrapnel on homes, barracks and paddy fields in a one-mile radius from the dump.

Much of the ammunition had arrived recently for distribution to troops in the northernmost provinces. Millions of dollars worth of ammunition had been lost in two other fires in the past two months, both triggered by enemy rockets. But the conflagration Sunday was touched off by sparks from a smoldering garbage dump across the road from the ammunition depot about three miles southwest of Da Nang. Marine spokesmen said wind blew burning papers from the garbage area, touching off a gasoline fire that spread to the ammunition dump.

Despite the heavy loss, Marine spokesmen said there are enough munitions at other depots to meet all operational requirements.

Marine spokesmen said the big air base at Da Nang was under emergency limitations for 12 hours but reopened today to normal traffic shortly after the fire was declared under control.

U.S. headquarters reported a dozen rocket and mortar attacks ovenight against allied bases and towns as the Viet Cong's spring offensive entered its 10th week. Casualties and damage were reported light.

In one action 45 miles northfrom the 1st Air Cavalry Division were killed and 29 wounded by North Vietnamese troops entrenched in bunkers. The fight lasted only 15 minutes, and only two enemy dead were found.

U.S. officers say that while the offensive is at a low point now, it could heat up again. American officers concede the Communist command still has the capability to fight hard despite nearly 40,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops reported killed since they launched their offensive Feb. 23.

Military analysts say the Communist command now is laying plans for a summer-autumn offensive to continue inflicting American casualties while working to undermine the influence of the Saigon regime in South Vietnam.

North Vietnamese troops attacked a U.S. infantry patrol base near the Cambodian border Sunday for the second time in 24 hours and were again thrown back by American divebombers, helicopter gunships and artillery. Thirteen enemy were killed without any U. S. casualties.

The U.S. Command announced three American helicopters were shot down by enemy ground fire Saturday and two more on Sunday. This raised to 18 the number of American helicopters lost in six days and to 2,569 the total lost in the war. Six crewmen were killed.

Eight Collisions

Three Are Hurt In Mishap Here

Three were injured in a trafifc mishap on St. Clair Ave. near Armstrong Ln. Sunday, one of eight collisions investigated by East Liverpool police over the weekend.

The crash, timed at 11:41 a.m., involved a 1961 sedan driven by Robert J. Graham, 24, of 687 Lincoln Ave. and a 1967 four-door sedan operated by Laura A. Neal, 37, of 1801 Anderson Blvd.

POLICE SAID the crash hurt Sister Alice Hull, 55, of St. Catherine Convent in Pittsburgh, a passenger in the Neal auto, Graham and a passenger in his auto, Lester Chapman, 22, of 724 Green Ln.

The woman said she was traveling north on St. Clair Ave. and signaling for a left turn when her auto was hit from the rear, turning it around completely. Graham reported the other auto stopped "all at once" and he did not have sufficient clearance to pass it on the right.

There was extensive damage to the front of Graham's car and the rear of the Neal auto. Graham was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distane.

A similar collision on Jefferson St. at W. 4th St. Sunday at 11 a.m. involved a 1956 car driven by Robert Buckley, 21, of the Y. & O. Rd. and a 1965 auto operated by Robert Neilson, 46, of Kenton, officers said.

Neilson told officers he halted his auto at a trafifc light and it was hit from the rear by Buckley's auto. Buckely said the impact was slight. The collision bent the hood of his auto.

Ronnie Lee Bryarley, 19, of 1003 Linoln Ave. told police he ditched his auto on Ogden St. Saturday at 9:54 p.m. to avoid striking a child who ran into his path. Bryarley said he was driving east about 20 when the unidentified child ran into the street. The auto was undamaged.

Involved in a mishap Saturday at 3 p.m. on W. 5th St. at West Alley were a 1962 sedan driven by Paul E. Edgell of 3184 Andrews Ave. and a 1968 sedan operated by Goldie I. Seckman, 65, of 876 Grandview Ave.

Edgell was backing to pull away from a parking spot when he hit the Seckman car, which was turning from W. 5th St. into West Alley, officers said. Damage was confined to the left rear fender and fender skirt of the Seckman car.

A PARKED car was bumped in a mishap Saturday at 5:05 p.m. on 1st Ave. 50 feet north of Fox Alley.

The mishap involved a 1960 sedan driven by Robert L. Latimore, 70, of 511 1st Ave. and a parked 1962 sedan owned by Mary Zanders of 1064 Mapletree St.

Latimore told officers he was traveling west in Fox Alley and turning north onto 1st Ave. when his vehicle bumped the Zanders car. There was damage to the right front fender and bumper of the Latimore car and the rear bumper and left rear fender of the Zanders car.

A backing auto struk a parked car Saturday at 8:50 p.m. on the parking lot at Winky's Drive-In Restaurant on Elizabeth St. near Harvey Ave.

The mishap involved a 1962 sedan driven by Mary L. Seevers, 55, of 1627 Ohio Ave. and a parked 1967 sedan owned by Marion L. Perkins of 942 Myler Park. There was damage to the right rear fender and bumper of the Perkins car.

Meanwhile, Patricia L. Baker, 23, of 938 Lisbon St. told police her 1964 sedan damaged a bicycle as she backed from the parking lot at Sevey's Pharmacy on St. Clair Ave. Sunday at 3 p.m. She said the bicyle, owned by James Hull of Wood Alley, was on the ground out of her line of vision as she began to back.

A mishap on E. 5th St. at Market St. Saturday at 4:06 p.m. involved a 1969 coupe driven by Paul A. Preston, 25, of Westfield Rd. and a 1967 coupe driven by Paul N. Stearns, 54, of 1042 Huston Ave.

Banned Films Pack Cinema In Botswana

LOBATSI, Botswana (AP) — Syd Milner is packing his cinema here by showing films banned in adjoining South Africa. He advertises in a government newssheet — Botswana doesn't have a newspaper — with the catchline "Another banned film from south of the border."

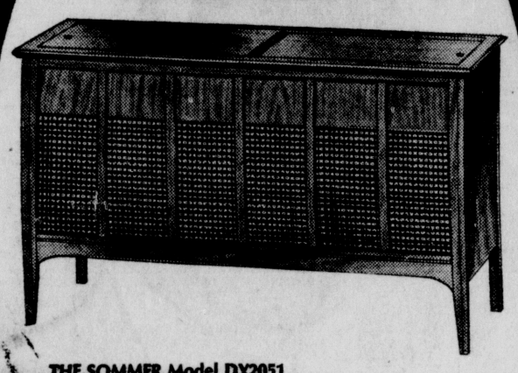

Many of the films weren't banned in South Africa because of sex scenes but because of their multi-racial backgrounds or what was considered to be excessive violence. They included "In the Heart of the Night," "Bonnie and Clyde" and "Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush."

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tip For Barefoot Crowd

DEAR HELOISE: I put small pieces of leftover soap in a small plastic container, cover with water and put a wad of nylon net on top.

Heloise

I keep one in each bathroom and also in my laundry room.

They are wonderful for scrubbing dirty feet (if you have that habit of going around the house without shoes), and also for getting that greasy line out of pappy's shirt collars.

MARJORIE DUNN.

DEAR HELOISE: I'm sure you have occasionally treated yourself to a hot, hot bath and been annoyed by steamy mirrors and by damp streaked walls. I know, I have, but now I love every drippy steak."

If you want to clean a very dirty pan — you soak it don't you? So why not your bathroom walls?

Fill the bath tub with hot water only. Close the window and door. Then go clean another room while that steam works in behind all those little specks, fingermarks, smears and splashes.

After about an hour, use a damp towel dipped in mild cleanser that requires no rinsing and literally wipe down your walls." And wipe away hard work too."

It was so simple that I stood on a high chair and did the ceiling.

First time I ever washed walls and didn't hate the chore! Try it, you'll see.

MRS. G. MARKOFER.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Last week a neighbor saw me putting in a zipper and insisted I send you the idea.

When cutting your garment, save a piece of the selvage side of the material. Cut it about one inch wide and one and a half inches longer than the zipper.

With the right sides together, sew this to the zipper seam. Sew one-fourth of the seam to the end of the selvage starting at time. Turn and press.

This gives a wide under-seam with a selvaged edge and no ravels to catch in the zipper.

I do this with all materials, even velvet and corduroy.

FRANCES CURRY.

DEAR HELOISE: Why doesn't someone package a cake mix and name it "SCRATCH"?

So that we would be telling the truth when we say, "I made THIS CAKE FROM 'sratch."

IDA STRONG.

DEAR HELOISE: When we first got our puppy we began training her on paper. But instead of putting it on the kitchen floor, we started her on paper laid in a plastic boot rack — the kind that wet or muddy shoes are set in to drain.

Now that she is trained, we still keep this in the utility room with several thicknesses or newspaper in it. Whenever our dog needs it and we're asleep or out at the time, she knows she has a place to use that won't result in punishment.

A change of paper is all that's needed and there's no lingering odor or rug damage whatsoever.

DOT'S BEST FRIEND.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently I wanted to make tuna salad but didn't have the time to wait for the eggs to boil. So I simply cooked the eggs in my no-stick skillet using no shortening. Then chopped them on my cutting board and dumped them in the tuna.

My salad tasted the same as always.

This could be done any time you want to save time boiling eggs for salad.

PATSY TANSKY.

This colume is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

4 Rhodesians Claim Share Of Fortune

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Four Rhodesians are claiming a share of the 60-million Rhodesian pound ($168 million) fortune of a South African adventurer who struck oil in Venezuela and died more than 40 years ago.

They are descendants of Bernard Webber, whose daughter was disinherited because she married against his wishes and whose only son was drowned at sea. To prevent his daughter and her children from benefitting from his money, he specified in his will that his wealth be divided equally among members of the third and fourth generations of his family.

A recent search found 24 descendants, but so far only four have lodged claims.

'Break' Hinted In Pittsburgh's Transit Dispute

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Leonard C. Staisey, chairman of the Allegheny County Commissioners, has hinted of a possible break in a threatened transit strike set for midnight tonight.

Staisey commented hopefully following a meeting Sunday between the Port Authority Transit and the Amalgamated Transit Union.

"The talks appeared to be moving along all right," he said.

There were other reports that the two parties had reached agreement in the dispute but that the formal language had to be worked out.

The union is protesting PAT's appeal of an arbitrator's decision that brought 120 supervisors under union jurisdiction.

The union represents 2,250 bus and trolley operators in Pittsburgh.

Club To Sponsor 2-Day Trail Ride

SALINEVILLE — A two-day trail ride will be sponsored Saturday and Sunday by the Rambling Ridge Riders Saddle Club of Salineville from Monroeville.

Monroeville is south of Salineville on State Route 164.

The rides are to start at 10 a.m., with 25 miles to be covered each day.

A donation will be taken to cover the two days of riding and for providing a ride badge and a noon meal on Sunday served on the trail.

Those planning on participating are asked to contact either Arthur Wilson of Salineville or Mrs. Clayton Baker of Hanoverton so final details may be arranged.

There will be parking for trailers, with the grounds open Friday night.

Club officials said those taking part are to bring their own horse feed and food for themselves, with the exception of the noon meal on Sunday.

$321.67 Netted In Fund Appeal

A total of $321.67 was collected during the Red Cross solicitation in Salineville and Highlandtown.

The report was made by Freeman Strabley, co - chairman with Mrs. William Holmes.

Shafer Slates Pension Plan Investigation

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, "shocked and surprised" at the state pension plan's payment to the estate of the late Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, has ordered an investigation of the system.

The governor directed that pension plans for several state officials be investigated—including his own.

Musmanno, who died at age 72 last October, had nearly 40 years service in various state jobs. The pension payment to his estate totalled $423,740—largest benefit ever granted by the program.

The state said that in his nearly 40 years state service, Musmanno contributed $59,062 to the plan, interest on that amounted to $46,132, and state contributions amounted to $318,546.

A spokesman for the governor said, "The governor has prepared a list of 20 to 25 names of employes whose retirement records will be reviewed to determine the scope and magnitude of the pension plan as it exists today." He added, "The governor, specifically included his own name."

A spokesman familiar with the workings of state pension plans said Musmanno's benefit was large because of changes in the system during Musmanno's tenure, and because the justice contributed double amounts whenever he was eligible to do so.

Price Boosts Seen In Steel

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Other steel companies are expected to follow a price hike on semifinished products by Republic Steel Corp., Steel Magazine said today.

"These latest increases have set purchasing managers to wondering whether another round of advances is underway," the metalworking weekly added. "They're anticipating hikes to be announced on plates and cold rolled sheets."

Republic Steel, in Cleveland, has announced hikes on rods, hot rolled bars and cold finished carbon and alloy bars, effective today.

The magazine said there is a strong demand for steel and it "seems sufficient to support an upward movement of prices." Steel added:

"However, President Nixon's 11-point fiscal program, which includes a proposal for revoking the 7 per cent tax credit for capital investments, could obstruct capital expansion. This and other governmental restraints over inflation cloud business prospects, particularly capital goods expansions which have been a main prop to steel this year."

The magazine estimated steel output for the week ended April 26 at 2,800,000 net tons, unchanged from the preceding week. Output is running about five per cent behind that of last year, Steel added.

Several factors were cited for strength of steel demand and support for price increases. The magazine said domestic orders exceed producers' early year estimates and overseas requirements are heavier than expected.

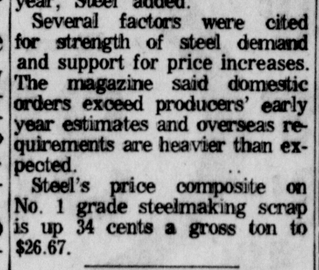

Steel's price composite on No. 1 grade steelmaking scrap is up 34 cents a gross ton to $26.67.

Penn-Ohio Section Set Up By Engineers

Formation of a new Penn-Ohio section of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers (AIME), with some 200 members in seven counties in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania, has been announced.

AIME is an international technical society with 110 local sections throughout the world, dedicated to those engaged in extraction and utilization of minerals and metals.

Dr. H. N. Lander, director of research at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., is the first chairman of the Penn-Ohio section. Membership is made up of men who previously belonged to the Cleveland or Pittsburgh sections, but found it difficult to attend meetings. They reside in Columbiana, Mahoning, Stark and Trumbull counties in Ohio and Lawrence and Mercer counties in Pennsylvania.

Three technical sessions have been scheduled for this year, on May 13, Oct. 15 and Dec. 2. The May 13 meeting will be at the Voyager Inn in Youngstown.

Dr. Sowle Named As New President Of Ohio U.

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Claude R. Sowle, dean of the University of Cincinnati law school, was named president of Ohio University today.

Joseph B. Hall, chairman of the Ohio University Board of Trustees selection committee, said the appointment was effective Aug. 1.

Hall expressed gratification that Sowle "has the unanimous approval of the selection committee, the Board of Trustees and the Advisory Committee."

Formal action by the trustees is expected at their May 12 meeting which Sowle is scheduled to attend.

Sowle will succeed Dr. Vernon R. Alden, who leaves OU to become president and chairman of the executive committee of The Boston Co., Inc., and the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Co.

Sowle, 40, will be Ohio University's 16th president.

"In these times of trouble one accepts the presidency of a major university with mixed emotions," Sowle said. "And yet, my basic feeling today is one of optimism. Solutions, I believe, can be found for the new and urgent problems we face in higher education if there is mutual understanding and trust among all of the vital components of a university community.

"The trustee, faculty, students, administration and staff of Ohio University will, I am convinced, work together in the years ahead . . . toward new heights of strength and effectiveness."

Sowle has been dean of the College of Law and professor of law at the University of Cincinnati since 1965.

He joined the Northwestern University School of Law faculty in 1958 as an assistant professor of law. He became assistant dean of the school in 1962 and an associate dean in 1963.

Sowle received his Juris Doctor degree from the Northwestern University School of Law in 1956 where he was second in his class of 125.

While in law school he served as editor in chief of the Northwestern University Law Review, and was elected to the Order of The Coif.

Dr. Sowle was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1956 and for the next two years was associated with the law firm of Sidley and Austin in Chicago.

Sowle was graduated from Northwestern in 1950 with a degree in political science.

His wife, Katherine, has a degree from Wellesley College She also was graduated from the Northwestern University School of Law.

They have two children, Leslie Ann, 10, and Stephen Dix, 8.

Nixon Looks To Long Term To Record Accomplishments

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says it is not what he has done in his first 100 days in office that really matters, but what he will accomplish over the long run.

"I don't count either the days or the hours, really," he told newsmen Sunday. I never thought in those terms. I plan for a long term.

"The major principle I've always followed since I've been in government is never to be too concerned about tomorrow morning's story of today's story —headlines of the moment."

The President, who marks his first 100 days in office Tuesday, told reporters after White House church services that he decides policy with the idea that it will stand the long term test of time.

"I'm not interested in ancient hisory or in instant history but only what will make good history in the future."

Since President Franklin D. Roosevelt set up the legislation that was the basis of his New Deal program in his first 100 days in office, that time period has become a traditional measure of the progress of a new administration.

Nixon made brief but good use of the capital's excellent weather Sunday, spending a short time on the Truman balcony above the south portico of the White House. He noted the view that extends over the White House grounds, past the Washington Monument to the Jefferson Memorial across the tidal basin. The President said he approved of former President Tuman's decision to build the balcony, which was opposed by several architects.

Nixon and his daughter Julie Eisenhower then took a 40-minute drive around Washington. They made a brief stop at the Navy Yard in the city's southeast section to inspect one of the presidential yachts, the Tricia, named after his other daughter.

Mrs. Nixon, however, was in bed with the flu and missed the day's activities, including the church service, fourth held in the White House since the President took office, and a reception in the state dining room.

In another development, the White House announced that Nixon is negotiating to buy a 10-room house overlooking the Pacific Ocean near San Clemente, Calif. The President would use it as a summer White House, press secretary Ronal L. Ziegler said, and would probably make it his voting residence.

Potential Little White House Site Quiet California Town

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — The potential site of the little White House is a quiet seacoast town of 17,500.

"I hope the feeling of friendliness—which is what we like about being here—will remain as it is," said a motel owner who has lived in San Clemente for 22 years.

"We hope that the neighborliness we old-timers have will rub off on those who may come to see the Nixons."

The 10-room Spanish style house that a Nixon spokesman says the President is negotiating for is halfway between Los Angeles and San Diego and 38 miles from Yorba Linda, Nixon's birthplace in Orange County.

When Nixon was a boy, most of the country was ranchland. Now it's one of the fastest developing areas in the nation.

The stately adobe house Nixon has his eye on is owned by Victoria C. Ogden, daughter of Henry Hamilton Cotton, one of the developers of San Clemente. Cotton bought the 20-acre estate and built the secluded, tile-roofed house in 1924.

The Ogden house, on a bluff overlooking the ocean and with the vast Camp Pendleton Marine base to the south, is surrounded by cypress, palm, eucalyptus, orange and lemon trees. It has thick wooden doors, floors laid with Mexican tile and a courtyard fountain.

"It will probably have some effect on business, especially in the area of real estate values" said Police Chief Clifford Murray. "But we certainly hope it will not alter the very character of our town, the quiet and relaxed atmosphere which we believe may be one of the reasons why the President likes it here."

Big One Got Away

—Somewhere in the sea off Cape Town is a large tuna towing several hundred feet of fishing line and an expensive rod.

Retired railway artisan Louis Boshoff, 64, had hooked the big fish from the shore and was playing it when it jerked him off his ledge among some rocks. He landed on a reef exposed by the low tide and lost the rod. Boshoff injured his leg and as he could not climb 1,000 feet to the top of the cliff a boat took him off.

Home Builders Need Check List

AP Newsfeatures Writer

"I'm going to be straw boss while our house is being built and I'd like a good check list to guide me," says a woman.

It's a good idea. No matter how well armed you are with knowledge and plans, you must be on the qui vive. Architect, builder, electrician, masons and other workmen delegate responsibility to others, who may fall down on the job. Everybody means well, but it is your house.

HERE ARE some reminders: Be at the site when the trees are being removed and when the foundation is being dug to make sure the house will be put where you want it.

If you plan to have a basement, be there so that you don't end with crawl space. This may happen if the builder, considers it too expensive to blast rock that is near the surface of the ground. Find out if everything is all right while there is still time to move the house site to avoid the rocky spot.

If there are any footings to be installed such as for a fireplace in the future, make sure the mason has noted it.

Talk to the electrician. Maybe he has been playing it by ear and has never seen a blueprint. Does he know the little square with a dot in the center means a push button and that a circle with two lines means base recepacle? Make sure he digs it.

SOME builders may be unaccustomed to architectural blueprints, if you have them. Reiterate that you want casement windows, sliding doors, fireplace, until it sticks in his mind. Some builders stick to basic ideas.

Many builders are anti-circular staircase. They consider these a nuisance to install as they have been accustomed to installing ordinary stairs and dread the idea of getting involved with something new.

They will tell you they are dangerous or that they think the town building code is against winders or that the stairs will take up too much room. Whatever the holdout, stick to your plan. He may be right about the building code in the town, but check on it. If you have had an architect draw up the plans, he would have known. Circular stairs installed properly should be no more dangerous than others.

If your architect has specified certain materials in the house, these should be checked before the builder goes ahead. A builder may not be dishonest in choosing cheaper materials. He may be taking what is readily available to him. Hold up building the house, but don't accept inferior materials because you want to speed up a job.

Be sure the fireplace is adequate. Builders cut corners in various ways. If the fireplace isn't deep enoughto have a good draft, who needs it. You'll be fiddling with it all the time to get the fire started.

KITCHEN planning is perhaps the most important checkpoint of all. The builder may be absent or busy when the plumber is on the scene, and the plumber will proceed in a fashion he is familiar with, unless you are there to check that he is following the location of appliances and fixtures to the letter.

Another important time to be on the scene is when the tile men come to do the bathrooms, partiularly if you've specified colors. It is flabbergasting how often tile colors are switched, and it is usually because someone didn't refer to the blueprint in telling the tile men where colors go.

One home owner found the baby blue tile had been put in the bath off the master bedroom where they planned to use avocado, and the little boy's bathroom got the green which hardly matched his perfectly decorated blue and white nursery.

It's a good idea to put signs in bathrooms instruting tile men and in addition to mark walls with colors. It'll help if you can't get there when they begin their work.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I make cheese puffs for guests in my home?

A. — Blend an eight - ounce package of pimento cheese with one well - beaten egg. Season to taste. Cut bread into triangles (four to each piece), and toast. Spread with butter and the pimeno - cheese mixture, and broil until brown and puffed.

Q. — How can I remove grass stains from clothing?

A. In the case of washable fabrics, first rub the stained area with a cloth that has been dipped in kerosene, then wash in sudsy water. For unwashables, use alcohol or carbon tetrachloride.

Q. — How can I remove paper labels from bottles more easily?

A. — By wetting the face of the label thoroughly, then heating near a flame.

You Can Make Own Shutters Without Too Much Trouble

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

About 20 years ago, every owner of a house was busy removing shutters, because new homes of the era were omitting them as an old - fashioned idea.

Hardly an old house anywhere in the county was without an attic or basement filled with them. At the present time shutters are in vogue again, but unlike the old ones, most of the new adornments are faked. They are simply placed to flank the windows and nailed up.

Probably this is fair enough since not one householder out of 10,000 closes and fastens his shutters at night or at any other time. Actually in this day and age the shutter is for decorative or architectural effect only.

The price of one set of shutters for one window is high enough today to make the average owner think twice before deciding to equip his house with them, but he can make them himself if he is capable of measuring his window frames and doing a bit of the most elementary carpentry work.

All of the shutter designs can be made of half-inch plywood. The first paneled shutter is made by cutting the plywood sheet to the required size and then laying a border of three-inch strip around the edges and a bar across the center.

Another design can be made by scoring the face of the shutter deeply with a dull rounded-edge tool, so that vertical lines show, and then setting two bars across the face. Another design is a very modern and extremely popular one. It is made by scoring the face at a 45 degree angle, or in the better grade by laying light strips across the plywood with a very slight spacing between them.

These shutters can be made for about one-third of the cost of bought items, and if neatly cut and assembled, sanded off nicely and painted, they will be found entirely satisfactory. Standard shutter hardware is available so that they may be made operative if the home owner wishes.

Indian Kites Now Big Dollar Earners

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian kites have become dollar earners. Several Indian firms have begun exporting kites, as well as the thread and rollers.

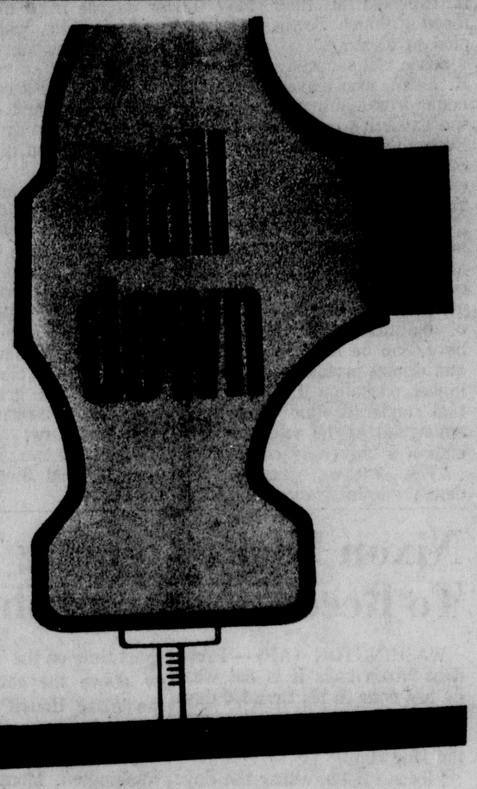

However, the kites for export are made of polythene and not the traditional paper. A small kite for export costs rupees 22.50 ($3) and a large one rupees 3 ($5).

In India, an average - size paper kite costs about 35 paise (about five cents).

Import orders have come mainly from the United States and West Germany.

Scorpions spend the bright hot desert days in hiding. They come out at night to prey on anything small that crawls.

Product — Clear plastic cover designed to keep trash, leaves, snow and rain from window wells around basement windows.

The manufacturer's claim — That the cover is made from clear Tenite butyrate which allows full light to enter a basement window yet is tough enough to warrant a four - year minimum guarantee if not abused . . . that the cover creates a graceful circle from the wall of the house to the ground, where it is attached by brackets . . that it can be adjusted higher or lower depending on whether or not you want to allow air to enter . . . that it is available in several standard window sizes, the largest of which is 40" in length and 19" in perpendicular distance from the house.

PRODUCT — A double-hung window that combines the advantages of both wood and rigid vinyl.

The manufacturer's claim — That the wood sash is prefinished by a new process and does not require painting for at least 10 years . . . that the wood frame and sill are clad with rigid vinyl which requires no painting at all . . . that welded insulating glass and removable vinyl grilles further reduce maintenance. . .and that the unfinished interior surfaces can be stained or painted to match room decor.

Plywood Proves Satisfactory For Child's Sandbox

AP Newsfeatures

Q.—I'd like to make a sandbox for my youngster. Can I use plywood?

A.—Yes, but be sure to use the exterior grade. Here's an idea you might want to utilize. Place a large hinged cover on the box to keep the sand dry when no in use. And put some kind of legs on the top side of the cover. Then, when the cover is opened, the legs will rest on the ground and make a kind of table top for the child to put toys on while he is playing in the sand.

Q.—There is only a single floor in our attic, which I plan on tiling soon. Must something be put over the floor before putting down the tile?

A.—Yes, the floor should first be covered with underlayment plywood or hardboard. In some cases, felt is placed over the underlayment. If you decide not to use it, be sure that tile joints don't fall along the seams, a procedure that can be followed by planning the layout carefully.

Q.—A neighbor of mine uses automobile skid chains for cleaning his chimney. He ties them to a rope and drops them into the flue from the top of the chimney. I'd like to try it. Will it damage the chimney?

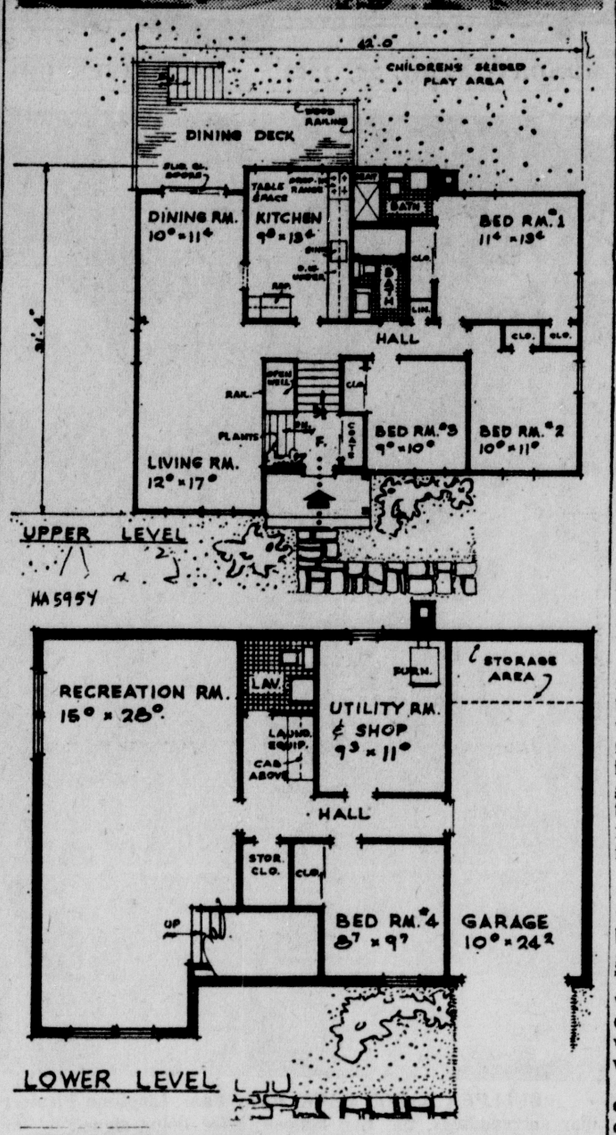

A.—This is an old - fashioned chimney-cleaning method that old-timers swear by. Know of no cases where it has damaged a chimney. The important thing is that you are able to get to the top of the chimney without risking a fall.

Q.—I'm doing a new room soon in plywood panels — the regulation size, 4 feet by 8 feet. Should I finish them before or after I put them up?

A.—If you are staining the panels, you will find this task a lot easier if you do it before the panels are installed and preferably a couple or more days ahead of time. Varnishing, waxing or any other finishing procedures can be done after the panels are up, although some persons prefer to finish them Ccompletely before installation

THIS RAISED RANCH has a dramatic foyer with a split L-shape stair. The open well gives apparent spaciousness. The lower level illustrates the soundness of the raised ranch type of house. What would have been a dark, dingy basement becomes a natural-lighted and well-ventilated habitable area. The shorter foundation walls required are an added bonus economically. In this "bonus" area, there is a recreation room, spare bedroom, lavatory and separate laundry area. The three-bedroom Plan HA595Y was designed by Architect Herman York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica, N. Y. 11432, with 1,161 square feet on the upper level and 771 habitable square feet on the lower level.

Tips Offered On Plumbing

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Many questions have been received concerning the installation of a proper plumbing system for a small house.

No doubt this is caused by the fact that thousands of young people are building their own house or adding to it.

A plumbing system is made up of three major installations of pipe. The drainage system carries off all used water from the fixtures. The vent system provides for a constant flow of fresh air through the drainage system and also prevents the formation of facuums which might retard flow - offs. The water supply system is entirely separate from either the drainage or the vent system and is never in any way directly connected to them.

The basic rules for any plumbing system are very plain, but anyone intending to install his own plumbing should note that there is quite a difference in the rules and regulations of cities, counties and states.

There is no short cut to a sanitary plumbing system, be it one water closet and one wash basin or four tiled bathrooms. There must be a tight drainage, venting and water supply system.

It should be noted that all fixtures are equipped with traps to prevent odor and gases from coming up into the fixtures. Without the vent system the seal of water in the trap may siphon out and cause a very unhealthy condition.

Breakthrough Made To Mystery Leader

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Officials struggling to promote a government community development program have made a breakthrough to a mystery chieftainess who rules 20,000 tribesmen from a remote hill-top kraal (small village).

Chieftainess Charewa, an elderly woman who is Rhodesia's only chieftainess and never leaves her kraal in the Mtoko-Mrewa district, has agreed to the formation of a community board among the Charewa people. A dispensary and a school are the first projects planned, with dams, halls and clinics likely to follow.

Strict tabooos are observed when the chieftainess has one of her rare meetings with government officials. Nothing metal or colored red is allowed in her presence and she may not be photographed.

You Get Mower Power With A Spring Tuneup

Tall, uncut grass and warm weather will combine to make you think you can just roll your old power mower out of the garage and go to work.

You can if you serviced it thoroughly last fall. But if you are like most of us, you probably parked it in a corner, maybe threw a cover of sorts over it and let it go at that.

Before you do anything, check your owner's manual completely. This will give you the proper maintenance procedure for your particular mower.

—:—

NEXT, no matter what you are about to do, disconnect the spark plug wire on the engine. Just slip it off the end of the plug and there can be no danger of accidental starting.

Clean your mower before you do anything else. A wire brush will free most dried up clippings and dirt. Apply kerosene with an old paint brush to get the mower really clean. Work in a well-ventilated area.

You should have drained the gas and oil from your mower last year. If you didn't, do it now. Don't try to start cutting until you do.

Don't fill your tank immediately. After you have drained the tank of last year's fuel, wash out the rust and sediment with a small amount of fresh gasoline. If you've had gas stored in a can all winter this, too, may have some rust in it. It's best to buy fresh fuel.

INSTEAD of just draining out the old oil, flush the crankcase by first adding enough oil to get it up to the normal level. Then run the engine until it warms up. While the oil is hot, drain and most of the sludge will come out with it. Then fill with fresh oil.

Air filters need cleaning several times a season. Start clean. Check the manual for the recommended method. Most are rinsed in kerosene. Sometimes you can wash them in water and detergent. After the filter is dry add a light touch of oil before replacing.

Check the blades for wear, dullness, nicks and rough spots. Make double certain the spark plug is disconnected before touching that blade. Small nicks can be filed off. You can sharpen the blade the same way. Damaged blades should be replaced.

While a spark plug can be be cleaned and reset, it's hardly worth the effort since there is only one. Get a fresh plug to start the season.

Make certain wheel bearings, all moving parts are properly lubricated. Use a light machine oil unless something ese is recommended. Set the height you want. Tighten al nuts and bolts before starting.

Now you're ready to cut the grass.

Beach Boys Sue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Beach Boys, rock group, has filed a $2 million law suit in Superior Court here against Capitol Records. The group says there is a deficiency in royalty payments and producer's fees for Brian Wilson, group leader. The Beach Boys have formed their own record label, Brother Records, after seven years with Capitol.

Book Exports Up

LONDON (AP) — British publishers exported books worth more than $108 million in 1968, an increase of 16 per cent over the previous year. The rise was attributed partly to visits by publishers to the Philippines, Japan, Canada and Australia.

Five states — California, Colorado, South Dakota, Alaska and Nevada — have yielded more than 75 per cent of the gold produced in the United States.

McCovey's Hitting Gives Giants Sweep, Tie For Lead

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Those who weren't lured outside by yesterday's splendid weather could have enjoyed a sports smorgasboard on television.

The two most successful dynasties in present-day sports, the Montreal Canadiens and the Boston Celtics, came through with wins in hockey and basketball, the Indians came through with another loss in baseball and Bruce Devlin took a victory in golf.

Montreal, which wins Stanley Cups with almost monotonous regularity, started off the final NHL playoffs on the right foot with a 3-1 win over the St. Louis Blues.

Boston, down 2-0 in the NBA finals to the Los Angeles Lakers, came back with a narrow win to close the gap to 2-1. The Celtics squandered a 17-point halftime advantage, but broke the deadlock that prevailed after three periods and were up by 14 late in the game. The Lakers made another comeback, and drew within four points with 20 seconds left, Keith Erickson stole the ball but missed a layup that would have halved the gap and the Celts hung on.

Laker coach Bill Van Breda Kolff's strategy of benching Elgin Baylor for the last six minutes of play has to be questioned. Baylor even at a relatively advanced age, makes moves no one else can make. Despite the presence of Baylor, Jerry West, Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell, superstars all, a sound argument can be made that Ohio State's John Havlicek is the best player in the world. "Hondo" was everywhere on offense and defense and scored at least 34 points for the third straight game against the Lakers. Another OSU product, Larry Siegfried, contributed quite a bit to the Boston win.

THE INDIANS, while holding the Senators hitless in eight of nine innings, gave up five hits and six runs in the fourth, and Washington hung on for a 6-5 victory.

Saturday was another enjoyable day at Forbes Field as the Pirates once again came from behind, this time on a towering homer by Reberto Clemente, to down the Montreal Expos 4-3. Willie Stragell also unloaded a titanic blast, well up into the upper deck in right field. Clemente's shot was high over the left field foul pole, barely fair. Chuck Hartenstein, who saved the game for Bob Veale, had another impressive relief stint.

Familiar faces in the unfamiliar powder blue uniforms of the Expos were Donn Clendenon, Maury Wills and Manny Mota. Mota was cheered by the fans when he was introduced, the other two booed. Clendenon made an excellent fielding play at first base to start a doubleplay, something he rarely did when he wore the Pirate uniform.

The most striking thing about the Montreal attire is the headware. The caps are tri-colors, like the French flag. Charles DeGaulle would be proud of the Expos.

Pirates Beaten, Trail Cubs By 1

Clyde King and Jim Davenport speak lavishly about the hitting exploits of Wille McCovey, but the towering slugger is content to speak softly while carrying his big bat.

"I don't want to talk about it too much because I'll probably go into a slump," he said after clobbering Houston over the head with two game-winning three-run homers Sunday as San Francisco swept the Astros 4-2 and 8-5.

But King, manager of the Giants, and infielder Davenport have done plenty of talking, praising the 6-foot-5 first baseman as the top slugger in the National League.

"I had an awesome fear of McCovey as a rival," King added, "and now I have tremendous respect for him as a slugger and hitter."

McCovey certainly has been living up to that calling this season, leading the league with eight homers and 21 runs batted in.

McCovey's big bat carried the Giants into a tie for first place with Los Angeles in the NL West Division after the Dodgers dropped Atlanta out of a share of the lead by routing the Braves 10-0 behind Don Sutton's four-hitter.

Cleon Jones raised his league leading average to .443 with five hits for six RBI, including a three-run homer in the ninth inning that salvaged a 3-0 victory for the New York Mets over Chicago after the Cubs had won the opener 8-6.

In other games, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 1-0 on Jerry Johnson's four-hitter, Montreal dropped Pittsburgh 4-2 and San Diego swept Cincinnati 5-2 and 10-9 in 13 innings.

McCovey, 31-year-old slugger in his 10th big league season who has driven in 384 runs and hit 142 homers in the last four years after leading the league with 102 and 44 in 1963, capped a four-run seventh inning in the opener with his first shot, breaking a 5-5 deadlok.

Houston had taken a 4-0 lead in that one on Hecor Torres' grand slam, but the Giants tied 4-4 on Jack Hiatt's three-run homer before Joe Morgan's solo blast out the Astros in front again.

In the nightcap, McCovey erased a 2-1 deficit in the sixth inning, giving the Giants their sixth consecutive victory and sending Houston to its fifth loss in a row and 12th in 13 games.

"My success depends on the guy behind me," McCovey said modestly, trying to avoid a slump, "so Hiatt's hitting (10 RBI and three homers in the Houston series) has really helped. If the guy behind me isn't hitting I start swinging at bad balls because I figure that's all I'll be getting."

Sutton, 2-2, had it easy as Andy Kosco extended his hitting streak to 11 games with a single and double for three runs and Bill Grabarikewitz added three more with a double and triple and stole home for another marker.

Jones' double and two singles in the opener helped the Mets build a 6-3 lead, but two errors in the ninth inning set up four unearned Chicago runs, the last two on Randy Hundley's homer.

But after Billy Williams' error and an intentional walk, Jones unloaded in the nightcap for only the fourth hit off starter Rich Nye. Jim McAndrews, who left with a blister and runners on second and third with none out in the sixth, and Tug McGraw blanked the Cubs.

Deron Johnson gave Jerry Johnson, 1-2, his victory with a run-scoring, two out single in the eighth inning off St. Louis starter Ray Washburn.

Montreal's Rusty Staub and Coco Laboy, who hiked his average to .420 with 3-for-3, rapped tie-breaking homers in the sixth inning—Staub's with a man on—to beat Dock Ellis and Pittsburgh. Larry Jaster, who singled in the Expos' first run scattered six hits in going the distance for the first time this season for his first victory.

Ollie Brown got San Diego started with two doubles and and infield out that drove in three runs and set up another in the opener as rookies Clay Kirby, Gary Ross and Frank Reberger held off the Reds.

Ross won the nightap with five innings of shutout relief before Ed Spiszio singled in an unearned run in the 13th with two out off Wayne Granger.

The Padres tied the game in the eighth on rookie Jerry DaVanon's two-run double after Pete Rose's three-run homer and Alex Johnson's two-run shot put Cincinnati ahead 9-7 in the top of the inning.

Canadiens Defeat Blues

MONTREAL (AP) — The St. Louis Blues are struck in a rut and Coach Scotty Bowman has to find a way out of it in a hurry.

The Blues, easy champions in the National Hockey League's West Division and winners of eight straight early-round Stanley Cup playoff games, dropped a 3-1 decision to Montreal Sunday in the nationally televised opener of the best-of-7 Cup finals.

It wasn't exactly a new feeling.

St. Louis lost four straight to the Canadiens in the Cup finals a year ago and in the two seasons since they were born out of expansion the Blues have a cumulative record of 0-13-2 against the Canadiens.

The numbers don't exactly inspire confidence in St. Louis' chances for taking the Cup away from the Canadiens.

Montreal jumped to a 2-0 lead on goals 38 seconds apart by Dick Duff and Bobby Rousseau. Then, the Canadiens sat on the bulge.

Duff scored on a power play, beating goalie Jacques Plante, an ex-Canadien, on a close-up shot at 3:39. Then, Rousseau, out killing a penalty, drilled a high, hard one past Plante at 4:17.

"It's tough to give them a jump like that," said Bowman. "We had to play catch-up hockey."

The Blues caught up a little when Frank St. Marseille beat Rogatien Vachon, Montreal's goalie, with a screen shot in the final two minutes of the opening period.

Oak Glen Places 5th In Relays

Oak Glen placed fifth of 12 teams in the Clarksburg Invitational Relays Saturday.

The 880 relay team of Greg Hobbs, Rich Sims, Tom McGeehan and Jim Carnes won in 1:37. The same quarter was second in the 440 relay. Carnes was the second high scorer of the day, getting 10½ points. Kevin Merchant of Clarksburg Washington Irving had 19½ points.

Carnes was second in the 180-low hurdles in :22.3, and second in the high jump at 5-6. Bob Coleman took third in the high jump at 5-4. McGeehan was second in the 440 in :54.3. Hobbs was second to Merchant in the 100, doing :10.5 to :10.4 for the winner.

Joe Nemith, with 10-3, and John Williams, with 10-0, were fourth and fifth in the pole vault. The two-mile relay team of Dan Greathouse, Dave Shilling, Paul Webster and Don Zelinsky was fourth.

Washington Irving nipped Elkins for the team title with 50½ to 50 1-5. Doddridge had 47½. St. Mary's 35, Oak Glen 34½, Clarksburg Victory 19 1-5 and Weirton Madonna 13.

Potters Score Four At Dover

East Liverpool got four points at the Dover Relays Saturday.

Ralph Carter placed fourth in the 440, doing a :52.8. The mile relay team of Bob Bosco, Chris Resing, Mike Giambroni and Carter was fourth in 3:38.

Orioles Keep Rolling; A's Smother Seattle

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

After a couple of false starts, Sal Bando has rediscovered Seattle and Frank Robinson has repossessed New York.

Oakland's Bando, 0-for-10 at Seattle in two previous games, drove in seven runs Sunday with two homers and a single as the Athletics blitzed the expansion Pilots 13-5.

Baltimore's Robinson, 1-for-10 in a pair of losses to New York Friday night and Saturday, broke loose with two homers, four singles and eight RBI, leading the Orioles to a 6-0, 10-5 doubleheader weep over the Yankees.

Bando went on the biggest run-producing spree of his pro career in Seattle's Sicks' Stadium, which he had visited regularly as a Pacific Coast League standout before moving up the majors. "I played here in 1967 with Vancouver," said the husky Oakland third baseman, "but those fences are closer now."

Robinson, who had helped the Orioles win 41 of 54 games against New York from 1966 through '68 got them even with the Yankees this spring while taking the American League lead in homers, nine, and RBI, 22 and hiking his batting average to .373.

In other AL action, Washington extended Cleveland's losing streak to 10 games with a 6-5 victory over the Indians; Detroit slugged Boston 7-4; Minnesota edged Chicago 4-3 in a game shortened to 8½ innings by rain and California topped Kansas City 6-2.

Bando sent the Athletics ahead to stay in the first inning with a two-run homer, slammed a three-run homer in the sixth and singled two more runs across in the eighth, helping rookie right-hander Rollie Fingers nail his second victory without a loss.

Frank Robinson delivered four runs in each game as the Orioles surged to a 2½-game lead over runner-up Boston in the East division. He cracked a two-run homer and two run-scoring singles in the opener, backing the six-hit pitching of Mike Cuellar. Star Bahansen, last year's rookie of the year, took the loss, his fifth without a victory.

In the nightcap, the Yankees jumped to a 3-0 first inning lead, knocking out Tom Phoebus, and led 4-1 until the fifth, when Frank Robinson belted a three-run homer. Relief pitcher Dick Hall singled home the go-ahead run and Frank Robinson poked anothe RBI single in the sixth.

Slump-ridden Brooks Robinson accounted for the Orioles' last four runs with a pair of homes.

The Senators bunched all five of their hits against Cleveland in a six-run fourth inning burst, with pitcher Frank Bertaina's three-run homer the big blow, and held off the hapless Indians, who have dropped 15 of 16 games in all.

Duke Sims and Zoilo Versalles homered for the Indians, who got hitless pitching from loser Stan Williams and reliever Jack Hamilton in every inning but the sixth.

Dick McAuliffe knocked in three runs with a homer and single, Willie Horton homered before leaving the game with a hip injury and his replacement, Ron Woods, delivered two runs with a single—his first major league hit—as the Tigers' Denny McLain, 3-3, beat Boston's Sonny Siebert.

Horton, who crashed into the left field wall catching a fly ball in the third, gave way to Woods in the seventh when his left hip stiffened up.

Mike Andrews' eighth inning homer gave the Red Sox a record of 27 for 11 consecutive games.

Rod Carew's two-run seventh inning homer shot the Twins past the White sox before the rains came. Harmon Killebrew poled his 400th career homer fo Minnesota, which leads the West Division by one half game ove Oakland.

Bobby Knoop's two-run single in the fourth inning sent California ahead to stay at Kansas City and the Angels pulled away, with Jay Johnstone and Rick Reichardt also driving in two runs each.

Siegfried, Havlicek Pace Celtics' Win Over Lakers

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, lifted back into contention by Larry Siegfried's inspired performance, hope to become the first team in National Basketball Association history to come back from a 2-0 deficit to win the championship playoff series.

"Siegfried was the difference," Los Angeles Coach Bill van Breda Kolff said Sunday after the fiery backcourt performer came off the bench to lead the Celtics past the Lakers 111-105 in the third game Sunday.

"He gave us a big game offensively and defensively—and don't forget he was hurting too," Boston player-Coach Bill Russell said of the former Ohio State star who has been hampered by a hamstring pull and a hip injury.

Siegfried had averaged only 5.5 points in the two losses at Los Angeles. He exploded Sunday, however, before 14,033 cheering fans at Boston Garden plus a national television audience.

Coming into the game late in the first period he played most of the way after that, hitting 10 of 16 shots and 8 of 9 free throws for 28 points.

The scoring of Siegfried and John Havlicek, who scored 34 points, kept the Celtics alive in the third period when the Lakers erased a 17-point halftime deficit to go ahead by three points, 78-75.

The same pair led the Celtics back in a fourth period counterrally to wrap up the game.

Coming off the bench is a lot tougher than starting," Siegfried said afterwards as he took a whirlpool treatment. "When you come off the bench you have to make it happen now, or you won't be in there very long. Today I hit a couple of shots and had the hot hand so the guys started playing to get the ball to me."

Jerry West, who had averaged 47 points in the two victories at Los Angeles, led the Lakers with 24 points. He too thought Siegfried was the difference.

"He hasn't played very much, so when he comes up with a ball game like that it really hurts us," West said.

"After we caught up we just died," he said. "I really got tired. I really didn't have much left."

The defending champions have a chance to even the best-of-7 series in the fourth game at Boston Garden Tuesday night. The fifth game will be in Los Angeles Thursday night.

In the American Basketball Association Saturday night Indiana beat Miami, 127-105, to win the Eastern Division finals, 4-1. Indiana opens the ABA finals in Oakland Wednesday night.

Palmer Faces Qualifying

Devlin Wins Nelson Golf, Beard, Crampton Second

DALLAS (AP) — A weak left hand helped Bruce Devlin break the longest drought of his professional golf career. And a weak putting game has forced Arnold Palmer to make what may be his most agonizing decision.

"I guess I will try to qualify for the Open. I really don't know yet," said Palmer after he finished in a tie for eighth behind Devlin Sunday in the windup of the $100,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

Palmer must decide whether to go out and attempt to make it in sectional rounds next month.

Palmer missed his last chance of an exemption by falling out of the top 15 on the money-winning list, dated from the Houston Champions Tournament last year to the Nelson this year. He had a lead of $5,133.51 over Frank Beard going into this tournament.

But Beard, the soft-spoken man from Louisville, shot a final-round 71 for 278 and a tie for second with Australian Bruce Crampton. He won $9,250. Palmer, who had a final 69 for 282, won $2,825, giving Beard the spot in the Open.

Devlin, the slim, blond Australian who hadn't won since the Colonial Invitation in 1966, also had had his troubles—a left hand that was too strong, causing him to hook.

"I've been bugged by that hook a long time," he said after his final-round 70 pulled him out of a four-man fight down the stretch.

He finished with a 277, three under par for four rounds on the muddy, 7,086-yad, par 70 Peston Tail Golf Club course and one stoke ahead of Beard, who had a final 71, and fellow Aussie Bruce Crampton, 69.

"I've been working on weakening my left hand so I won't hook so much," he said. I've moved my left hand more on the tape. It helps eliminate the left-hand side of the golf course. Every time I've been in trouble in this tournament it's been on the left side."

Lefty Bob Charles finished with a 73 and fourth place at 279. Tied for fifth at 280 were Don January, 65; Bert Greene, 70, and Lee Trevino, 74.

Potters Sweep Pair From Burgettstown

East Liverpool swept a doubleheader from Burgettstown at the Colt League Field Saturday, raising its mark to 8-2.

Bill Montgomery and Kim Kemple combined for a three-hit shutout in the 4-0 opening win and Randy McVay fanned 13 in going the distance for a 9-3 triumph in the nightcap.

John Haney took over the team lead in batting by going 4 for 4 in the second game. He drove in three runs, as did Jim Massey who had three hits. In the first game Fred Henderson was the only player to have two hits.

Two errors and singles by Kemple, Dan Cunningham and McVay netted two runs in the first inning of the opener. Henderson singled in the second and came around on a fielder's choice and error. John Cunningham was safe on an error, Massey walked and Henderson singled for the final tally, in the sixth.

The Potters struck in the first inning of the second game, also. McVay singled, was forced by Dan Cunningham, Montgomery doubled for one run and Haney singled for another. In the third the Potters routed loser Elich on an error, two fielder's choices and three straight hits by Tom Chambers, Haney and Massey. Errors and hits by Cunningham, Haney and Massey led to three more runs in the fourth. A single by Montgomery, a walk to Chambers and another hit by Haney closed out the Potter scoring in the sixth.

McVay had a no-hitter going until the sixth, when Ramsey, Mahoney and Halulka singled with one out for a run. Burgettstown, 6-4, got two more in the final inning.

Hitters Have Field Day In IL Play

By The Associated Press

Never was life more miserable than on Sunday for pitchers in the International Baseball League.

Would you believe it — in five games — 95 runs were scored and 22 home run balls disappeared over IL fences.

Nobody worked more efficiently at the wrecking business than Toledo, which tied a club record by hitting five home runs — two of them by Mike Derrick — to wallop Richmond 10-7.

The other scores went like this: Tidewater 12, Rochester 3; Louisville 14, Buffalo 10; and, in a doubleheader, Columbus 13, Syracuse 11, and Syracuse 6, Columbus 2.

Fergy Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs started 40 games last season, top figure in the National League.

Ken Dunlevy Gets Award At Banquet

Ken Dunlevy, a senior halfback, was honored as the Most Valuable Football Player at the South Side All-Sports Banquet at the school Saturday night.

Dunlevy was presented a trophy by Anthony Martell of Midland.

Larry Bruno, head football coach at Beaver Falls, was the main speaker. Al Franco, the athletic director at Rochester, served as m.c.

The banquet was sponsored by the South Side Athletic Boosters Club.

Beavers Top Oak Glen 9-3

Lew Brown belted a double and single and Sheppard helped himself with a pair of hits.

Jerry Enochs had two hits for Oak Glen.

Beaver Local now owns a 5-2-1 record. Oak Glen is 1-4.

Small Field Expected For Derby Race

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Saturday's 95th running of the Kentucky Derby could have one of the smallest fields in modern history and be over in the shortest time in any kind of history.

With only five days of preparation left, the big four of Top Knight, Majestic Prince, Arts and Letters and Dike have scared away virtually all opposition.

Cain Hoy Stable's Ack Ack, favorite in Tuesday's Derby Trial Stakes, could earn a berth with a convincing victory in the one-mile test and perhaps one or two others may go in the $125,000-added Run for the Roses.

If only six start in the 1¼-mile Derby, it will match the smallest field in 62 years and net the smallest purse to the winner since Chateaugay's $108,900 in 1963.

With Ack Ack setting a brisk early pace, Majestic Prince or Arts and Letters—perhaps both—could turn in the first Derby of less than two minutes.

Majestic Prince cracked the six-furlong track record at Churchill Downs Saturday en route to a galloping victory in the Stepping Stone Purse, where he was just a fifth of a second off the standard set by an older horse.

Arts and Letters was just a fraction shy of the 12-year-old track mark at Keeneland last week in winning the Blue Grass Stakes.

These two, along with Top Knight of Florida Derby fame and Wood Memorial winner Dike are just too much for most trainers.

Joe Bollero, trainer of Stepping Stone runner-up Fast Hilarious, said the four were just too much for his colt to face. He was echoed by the keepers of Walking Stick, Mr. Coincidence, Dondougold, Hot Coals and Traffic Mark.

In other Saturday races:

—Promise, high-weighted at 117 pounds, won the $28,450 Cherry Hill Handicap at Garden State by a neck over Master Bold.

—Captain Action scored a resounding eight-length triumph over seven other Maryland breds in the $37,150 Survivor Stakes at Pimlico.

—Kentucky-bred Tell, whose famed father, Round Table, won the same race in 1957, came through as the odds-on favorite in the $32,750 Will Rogers Stakes at Hollywood Park.

—Gunite, a 2-year-old filly making her first start since February, captured the $22,175 Pinafore Stakes at Suffolk Downs.

—Terrible Tiger set a track record of 1:36 for the mile while posting an eight-length victory in the $30,000 Chicagoan Handicap at Sportsman's Park.

Villanova Wins 5 At Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (AP — Villanova had its annual April picnic at the Penn Relays. The Wildcat runners took five of the eight major relay events, leaving nothing but the leavings for the rest of the field.

For 74 years no team could win more than four relay titles in the oldest track and field meet in the nation. Only three teams ever accomplished that. Last year, Villanova won five and just to prove it was no mirage, Coach Jim Elliott's lads did it again this past weekend.

Villanova won the distance medley Friday and then added four more titles Saturday, two in meet record time. The Wildcats ran away from Harvard to win the four-mile relay, outran Tennessee in the sprint medley, left New York University in its wake in the two-mile and warpped up their package with a 20-yard victory over Tennessee in the mile relay. Their 3:17.0 in the sprint medley and 7:20.1 in the two-mile were meet records.

Pigeon Race To Allison Bird

Bill Allison's bird took first in a pigeon race from Zanesville yesterday.

The race was the first of the year for the East Liverpool Homing Pigeon Club. Allison's bird was followed by Pat Connor's, two of Don Coleman's and Vic Giovenco's.

John Gatrell's entry won the junior club race, with Harry Watkins' and Charles Nelson's following.

Carrollton Nine Downs Southern 11-5

Carrollton downed Southern Local 11-5 in a Buckeye Border Conference baseball game Friday at Carrollton.

The winners scored six runs in the first inning. Southern narrowed the gap to 7-5, but the Warriors hung on for the win. Len Dailey was the losing pitcher.

Clifton McNeil of the San Francisco 49ers caught 71 passes last season, top figure in the National Football League.

Junior Editors Quiz on CROCODILES

QUESTION: How can you tell a crocodile from an alligator?

* * *

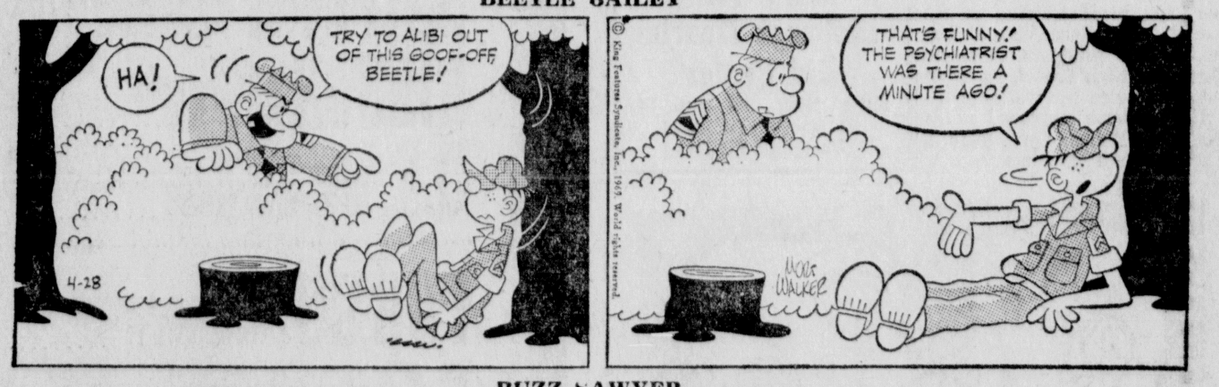

ANSWER: If you can imagine being called upon to judge a contest for the world's ugliest beast, you'd appreciate the point of view of the boy in our picture. The alligator is the big, surly-looking brute on the left. The crocodile is the nasty specimen to the right. The picture shows clearly how to tell these creatures apart. The alligator's snout is wider and rounded at the end. The crocodile's nose, with a more pointed tip, is very narrow for its length. We have both an American alligator and an American crocodile, although the latter is found only in the extreme southern part of Florida. The alligator is larger, growing up to 16 feet and is a sluggish animal. While dangerous to man, the alligator is not so much so as the crocodile, a faster moving, more vicious creature. Crocodiles like warmer, more salty water than alligators. In other parts of the world — India and Africa — crocodiles grow to enormous dimensions. They range to 30 feet in length and are extremely dangerous to human beings.

(Brenda Burris of Malvern, Ark., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

THE BORN LOSER

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I restore the lost gloss in glazed chintz draperies?

A. — This gloss can be revived somewhat with a light starch solution containing wax. Use a piece of wax paraffin or candlewax, stirring into a boiled starch solution until completely melted. When the solution has cooled enough, immerse the draperies, then hang them to dry. When nearly dry, iron them on the right side.

Q. — How can I renovate shoes that have mildewed because of damp storage?

A. — Scrub with a hand brush dipped in lukewarm suds, preferably a castile soap, then wipe them with a damp cloth, and give the shoes a day or two in the sun before polishing them.

Q. — How can I clean very old brass or copper that is very discolored?

A. — By using the finest grade of steel wool, followed by a rubbing with rottenstone and sweet oil.

Strange glows and sparklings have been spotted on the moon. Some astronomers think the curious phenomena, known as "lunar transients," may result from gas pouring out of volcanic centers. If so, both water and warmth may exist beneath the moon's dry, cold surface.

Hair Over Half Inch In Encroachment

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — City officials almost needed a microscope to find the encroachment of Kimbell properties warehouse during a recent City Commission meeting.

Kimbell's request for an easement for property which juts into the public right-of-way in a city block covered six pages of closely typed paper — plus a diagram.

The encroachment? A hair over half an inch.
